BINGHAM BILL WINS FAVOR IN AIRPORT FIGHT

Senate Group Will Urge Highway Bridge Site in Report, Claim.

MOST WITNESSES AGAINST LOCATION

$2,500,000 OUTLAY IS BARGAIN, HE SAYS

Project Held as Necessary as Railway Terminal or Seaport.

The Bingham bill to establish a municipal airport for Washington near the south end of Highway Bridge will be favorably reported to the full Senate District committee by its airport subcommittee, it was indicated yesterday following a public hearing at the Capitol.

While the majority of witnesses opposed the bill, it was evident that the subcommittee was most impressed by one of the two men who appeared to indorse the bill—Lawrence E. Williams, chairman of the aviation committee of the Washington Board of Trade.

The Bingham bill provides for a loan of $2,500,000 to the District government by the Federal Government, to be paid back without interest as the money is spent. It would be used to establish an airport on a site now occupied by the Washington Airport, Hoover Field, and part of the experimental farm of the Department of Agriculture. Also a part of Columbia Island would be used, together with a watery area between it and Hoover Field that would be filled in.

Regarded as Good Investment.

Mr. Williams said that his organization, made up of important taxpayers, regarded the $2,500,000 outlay as a good investment and a sound bargain. The airport, he said, would attract air traffic to Washington, and, in a way, is as important as a railroad terminal or a seaport. He also pointed out that it was likely that the income of the airport would help meet the payments on it.

Lieut. Walter Hinton, chairman of the aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce, opposed the bill. He said it would be too small; that there were too many obstructions in the way; that it could not adequately take care of seaplanes, and that the District could not easily sell it later because the title would be in the name of the Federal Government.

Senator Hiram Bingham (Republican), of Connecticut, chairman of the joint commission that drew up the bill, challenged his statements that the airport would not be large enough and could not take care of seaplanes, and so did Mr. Williams.

Proponents State Views.

The both insisted that 280 acres would be enough for a first-class airport, and they pointed out that seaplanes could discharge passengers at floats in the river.

As for the title, Senator Bingham and Mr. Williams pointed out that this would be placed in the name of the United States so as to guard the District against assessment of taxes. Senator Wesley Jones (Republican), of Washington, reminded those present that Congress could always authorize the District to sell the property.

Senator Arthur Vandenburg (Republican), Michigan, chairman of the airport subcommittee, asked Lieut. Hinton whether he would prefer passage of the Bingham bill if it were a case of the Bingham bill or no legislation at all, and Hinton replied that under such circumstances he thought he would be for the Bingham bill.

Different Sites Favored.

At the outset of the airport drive both Lieut. Hinton and Mr. Williams were in favor of the Gravelly Point site for the municipal airport. When Senator Bingham made known his latest plan, Mr. Williams came out for it, but Lieut. Hinton stuck by the Gravelly Point site.

The first witness at the hearing yesterday was Charles I. Stengle, representing the Citizens Advisory Council. He told the subcommittee that, while scattered citizens organizations had come out for the Bingham bill, the Federation of Citizens Associations and the Advisory Council were against it because it called for an unnecessary and unjust expenditure of the taxpayers' money.

So far as the municipality is concerned, he said, there is no need for the airport. Even civic pride, he said, did not demand it, and for these and oher reasons, he said, the bill should not be passed.

Grant Approves Site.

Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant, 3d, of the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, said the commission ap-

Bishop Perry Is Head Of Episcopal Church

Chicago, March 26 (A.P.).—The Right Rev. James DeWolf Perry, D.D., of Rhode Island, was elected presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in America today by the House of Bishops.

Bishop Perry was chosen on the seventh ballot by the convention, which is meeting in St. James' Cathedral. He received 69 votes, one more than needed for a majority. There are 134 bishops eligible to vote, but only 84 were present at the balloting, the storm having barred the others from attending.

The Episcopal prelates were called by their dean, Bishop William Leonard, of Ohio, to choose a presiding bishop to succeed the Most Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, of Chicago, who died last month. Bishop Frederick Reese, of Georgia, sat as temporary chairman of the session. Balloting began at noon and the result was announced just after 5 p. m. The names of seventeen candidates were proposed.

Bishop Perry was born at Germantown, Pa., October 3, 1871, where his

G. O. P. TO DRESS UP OLD CAMPAIGN CRY

"Coolidge-or-Chaos" Issue to Be Relied Upon in Coming Elections.

HOUSE COALITION FEARED

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

Te Republicans, groping in the darkness of tariff uncertainty for the past several months, are now believed to have definitely hit upon the "Coolidge or Chaos" issue of 1924 as their main hope of riding through the forthcoming Congressional elections.

There will have to be a paraphrase of the slogan, of course, but the thought therein, dressed up to meet the new emergency, is to be the keynote of the forthcoming drive.

Representative Will Wood, chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, sounded it, as a matter of fact, the other day when he challenged the claim of Representative Byrns, of Tennessee, that the Democrats will capture the House.

They will not capture the House, Mr. Wood replied, intimating that that would not be so bad or chaotic; but that what they may do or hope to do is to capture enough Republican seats to be able to form such a coalition in the House as has existed in the Senate, and, the Republicans intend to say, look what that one turned out to be.

The collapse of the coalition in the latter days of the tariff consideration has admittedly provided the Republicans with this issue. Had the Senate coalition carried on through and written a bill that met with the approval of the country, coalitions would have been right popular things. The Republicans would have, indeed, been in a bad light.

But it is now a matter of history that the Senate coalition did nothing like this. While it will insist, and with considerable justice, that the bill "would have been much worse" if it had not done what it did, the theory of the Republican strategists is that the general appraisal of it will be that it did nothing but start a rumpus and needlessly delay the passage of the bill, and that there is not a constructive thought in a carload of coalitionists. And it is also with considerable justice that the Republican strategists think this.

Had the coalition carried through its plan it would have constituted it-

POLICE CAPTAIN HITS LYNN'S RUM CHARGE

FORMAL QUIZ IS BEGUN

As Prohibition Bureau operatives began an inquiry yesterday into the sale of liquor to Eastern High School students, as charged by Henry W. Lynn, Capt. William E. Sanford, of the Fifth Precinct, offered to Mr. Lynn the services of plain-clothes men to ferret out the offenders.

After a personal investigation, in which he was assisted by a youthful policeman, Capt. Sanford yesterday asserted that there was "nothing to the Lynn allegation."

Meanwhile Lynn and Harold W. Orcutt, assistant district attorney in charge of prohibition prosecutions, engaged in a lengthy conference in the latter's office. No announcement of the nature of their discussion was given.

While the Federal operatives were starting their inquiry, Capt. Sanford and his aids interviewed numerous students at the school in an effort to localize the charges. Capt. Sanford asked Lynn to accompany two plain-clothes men to the place where he said he saw the alleged drinking party and attempt to make a purchase.

Lynn was further asked by Capt. Sanford to take his men to the places mentioned in the list given by Lynn to United States Attorney Leo A. Rover. According to the precinct commander, Lynn refused to accompany them, saying that he did not want to violate the confidence of the proprietors of the speakeasies.

Lynn also refused to furnish addresses of the places when requested by Capt. Sanford, and declined the latter's invitation to make an affidavit that he had made purchases at any of the places named.

A policeman mingled with the students at the high school yesterday in an attempt to obtain leads on alleged violators. No success attended their efforts. Capt. Sanford interviewed several students, but they could throw no light on his quest. All efforts of the police to obtain information have met with failure.

Lunch rooms in the vicinity of the institution were visited by plain-clothes men, who found nothing that could be construed as suspicious. It was in a lunch room that Lynn, in his statement at a traction merger hearing at the Capitol, said that he had witnessed high school students drinking liquor.

Capt. Sanford declared that he found discipline rigorously enforced at Eastern High School and expressed extreme doubt as to the authenticity of the charge.

Volunteer Vice Crusader Is Object of Police Hunt

Lone Worker Sought While Those He Rounded Up Await Hearing.

After a pyrotechnic take-off in a solo flight against vice, David O. Sizemore went into seclusion yesterday, much to the regret of the police, who are most anxious to interview him at either the Second or Sixth Precincts or both. The district attorney wants him, too.

Sizemore started his crusade Tuesday, calling at the Sixth Precinct to announce that he was going to "clean out all these speak-easies in the Capital patronized by women."

Thereupon he went out in quest of the wide-open places, and within a short time had called for the "wagon" to arrest a colored woman for bootlegging and two men for begging.

He then called upon his former employer, Fred Myers, of H street near Second street northwest, and, accord-

Fruit Growers Express Fear Many Budding Trees May Suffer Damage.

Chicago, March 26 (A.P.).—Approaching the fiftieth hour tonight, a post-winter storm, which already has smashed all records for Central States snowfall continued unabated.

Snow fell through the day to defeat all attempts to clear highways or maintain transportation schedules. At 3 o'clock the weather bureau in Chicago registered a fall of 18.5 inches, eclipsing a record set January 6 and 7, 1918, by 3.6 inches.

Indication of the extent of traffic paralysis came in telegraphic reports to the Chicago Motor Club late today showing roads generally impassable in the territory bounded by Milwaukee, Galesburg, Ill., St. Louis, Evansville, Ind., Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo and Detroit.

Railroads Run Slowly.

The weather bureau predicted cessation of the snow after dark tonight. Surface transit lines established service on five principal thoroughfares. Elevated trains, although maintaining faster service than yesterday, were running slow for caution and suburban railroads were following the same policy.

The city's most serious problem was milk. Only half the usual supply was carried into the metropolitan center today and officials of the Pure Milk Association said continuance of the storm will spell milk famine tomorrow.

Chicago schools were closed at noon when it became apparent no more than 16 per cent attendance could be maintained.

One Hurt in Crash.

The day, in Chicago at least, was free of known fatalities, but there were several minor traffic accidents and one woman was severely injured. The roof of a garage, burdened by the extraordinary snowfall, caved in and covered five autos with snow and debris. Two men, warned by creaking timbers, fled just in time to save their lives.

In Evanston police were searching snowdrifts for Sheldon Brumbaugh, 26-year-old art student, who started home alone after a slight heart attack in a tea room. It is feared he

Police Under Scrutiny For Underworld Ties

Several Members Subjected to Surveillance on Suspicion of Having Contact With Lawbreakers, High Official Admits.

Investigations dating back several weeks have disclosed that instances of cooperation between policemen and leaders of the underworld in Washington are not as rare as the public has supposed, a high police official revealed last night.

Within the past month at least three policemen have become so closely involved that they have been subjected to severe official censure, although thus far evidence against them has not been sufficient to warrant convictions, it was disclosed.

In addition, several other members of the Police Department, some declared to be high in rank, are under close surveillance on suspicion of receiving pay from proprietors of disorderly houses and speakeasies, or otherwise affiliating themselves with such characters.

Two instances of alleged improper contact between policemen and underworld characters have come to light within the past week as the result of the shooting last Wednesday morning of James Crotts, carnival showman, by Policeman S. F. Gravely, of the Third Precinct.

Crotts, together with Policeman A. C. Cwortzel, of the Fourth Precinct, and another man, is alleged to have attempted to "shake down" two girls in a house on First street northwest for "protection money." As a result, Swortzel is to fact the Police Trial Board withi nthe next few days.

Detective W. F. Burke, of the Third Precinct, who was with Gravely at the time of the shooting, has also been charged with a Trial Board offense on the grounds that he "showed undue interest" in Rose Marie Foster, one of the girls in the First street house.

Burke is declared to have pleaded with Assistant District Attorney Charles Murray to nolle prosse a previous disorderly house charge against the girl, declaring that she had left town, when actually she is quoted as stating that she was standing across the street from the court house at the time.

More than a dozen suspected places in the District are believed to be operating under "supervision" or permission of members of the Police Department, around whom the net of evidence is tightening rapidly, said the official, who added that investigation has been deliberately slow in the interests of thoroughness, to the end that when charges are brought, the guilty men may have no loopholes to escape punishment.

Policeman S. F. Gravely, suspended from the Third Precinct for his part in the police "shakedown" scandal, yesterday drew attention again when his automobile collided at Tenth and O streets northwest with a car operated by Miss Iris Del Vechio, 25 years old, of 4000 Eighteenth street northwest.

No one was injured, but police reported that Miss Del Vechio's automobile had been damaged to the extent of about $130.

BRITAIN READY TO PROCEED WITH CONSULTATIVE PACT; HOOVER, STIMSON DISAGREE

President's Opposition to Political Treaty Out of Harmony.

WHITE HOUSE TRIES TO CLARIFY MUDDLE

JOB IS ADMITTEDLY HIGHLY DIFFICULT

Answer May Be Discovered by Reading Between Statement Lines.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Hoover and Secretary Stimson appeared to be in radical disagreement yesterday over committing the United States to a European political pact until Mr. Hoover took steps to have the situation clarified. The clarification process, undertaken by Acting Secretary of State Cotton, did not harmonize the President's opposition to political pacts with Mr. Stimson's official announcement at London that such a pact would be received with an open mind, but it did indicate that Mr. Stimson's statement should not be taken too seriously, in view of the President's known attitude.

The President took the initiative in dealing with the muddle situation as soon as the newspaper interpretations of Mr. Stimson's London statement came to his notice. He summoned Mr. Cotton to his office and directed him to call an early conference with the press representatives and seek to harmonize the Stimson statement with the views which the President is known to have entertained since his rejection of all appeals for a consultative or political pact, harmless or otherwise.

Mr. Cotton's conference with the press was scheduled for 12:30, but after leaving the President he decided to call a conference at once. It was suggested that the hour be delayed so that the correspondents could be notified but the President's directions were to clarify the matter at once.

Task Held Difficult.

The task confronting Mr. Cotton was admittedly a difficult one. There was the most reliable information Tuesday that the President deplored the continued references to political pacts, that he regarded references to mere consultative pacts as impractical and valueless and that the only kind of pact which could affect the situation was a security pact committing America to the use of military force. This information respecting the President's attitude has been available since Mr. Hoover flatly refused to be influenced by the recent appeal of

Society Girl Escapes Death as Horse Bucks

Miss Adelaide Bride Hurt During Rehearsal for Society Circus.

Miss Adelaide Bride, daughter of Corporation Counsel and Mrs. William W. Bride, narrowly escaped death, it was learned yesterday, while rehearsing for the "Society Circus," which is to be given Saturday afternoon at Fort Myer, Va., by young Washington society women for the benefit of the recreation fund of the enlisted men.

Miss Bride's mount bolted from the line of mounted debutantes and young society matrons and became fractious when she tried to force it back into line. An unexpected buck dislodged Miss Bride and the horse, an Army mount, kicked her as she fell to the ground.

The accident occurred at Fort Myer Monday afternoon and it was not until yesterday that additional examinations by the physicians summoned by her parents indicated that Miss Bride had not suffered several broken bones. She is confined to

CANADA'S RUM PLAN IS TERMED FAILURE

DRY INQUIRY RECESSES

(Associated Press.)

Government control of liquor sales in Canada was described as an "absolute failure" by E. C. Drury, a former premier of Ontario Province, who predicted at prohibition hearings before the House judiciary committee yesterday that the Dominion eventually will return to complete prohibition.

"Whatever the solution of the drink problem may be," the Canadian asserted, "it is not Government control."

Mr. Drury and Mr. John J. Lentz, of Columbus, president of the American Insurance Union, and a former member of the House of Representatives, were the only two witnesses who testified for the dry forces yesterday.

Mr. F. Scott McBride, general superintendent of the Antisaloon League, was scheduled to climax the day with an attack on the proponents of measures to repeal the eighteenth amendment. He had distributed copies of his remarks earlier in the day, but when Mrs. Lenna Lowe Yost, general of the dry forces, presented him, Chairman Graham adjourned the committee meeting. He said the drys will be given next Wednesday in which to complete presentation of their witnesses.

Mr. Graham also made known that a recess of about two weeks might be taken before the wets are permitted to offer rebuttal testimony.

Drawing his conclusions from insurance statistics, Mr. Lentz said mortality has decreased under prohibition and that the dry laws have proved of widespread benefit to the American people. Insurance companies have found, he said, that total abstainers live an average of about four years longer than liquor drinkers.

Explaining that he had been requested by prohibitionists in the

NEW CHARGES SEEN IN SMITH FIRM QUIZ

Prosecution Withholds Nature of Evidence for Second Jury Investigation.

WILL BE "ADDITIONAL"

The second grand jury investigation of the F. H. Smith Co. and a number of its officials and former officials, scheduled for April 7, will cover charges in addition to those already contained in an indictment, Nugent Dodds, Special Assistant Attorney General, in charge of the investigation, announced yesterday in connection with the issuance of subpenas for nineteen individuals, an auditing firm and a brokerage house.

Mr. Dodds declined to state the nature of the charges. He declared, however, that they did not deal with the allegations of using the mails to defraud covered in an indictment returned last December.

He admitted that the charges to be aired would be "additional." He declined to explain what he meant by that phrase other than to say "additional to those contained in the indictment already on record."

The subpenas issued merely direct those designated to appear and testify in the case of the United States vs. G. Bryan Pitts, S. J. Henry, C. Elbert Anadale, John H. Edwards, jr., et al.

The firm of F. B. Keech & Co., investment brokers, is directed to produce all ledger accounts and other records of transactions with the F. H. Smith Co. from 1926 to 1929. The auditing firm of Murphy, Lanier & Quinn is directed to deliver to the grand jury its audit reports and work sheets dealing with accounts of the Smith company since January 1, 1926.

The investigation will be the second of a local nature, although several others are said to be pending in other States. The Smith company moved its offices to New York City several months ago, immediately after it and several of its officials had been indicted on charges of using the mails to defraud. Several of those indicted

Pledge for Placation of France Not to Include Security Guarantee.

TALK WITH M'DONALD AFFIRMS THIS POINT

Americans, English Firm Against Entangling Arms Alliances.

STIMSON ASSERTS POSITION IS SAME

U. S. Will Only Consult With Other Powers in Case of War Threat.

London, March 26 (A.P.).—From the breathless efforts being made to arrive at a five-power naval agreement at the London naval conference by means of a consultative political pact, which, it is hoped, will meet French demands for national security, there emerged tonight the following positions of the five nations represented here:

The United States—Appears willing to enter a purely consultative five-power agreement, which would involve no American obligation, either expressed or implied, to give military support on the occasion of any threat of war in Europe. Such a pledge under no circumstances is to be made in return for reduction of French navy figures as presented here.

Great Britain—Is prepared to proceed with a general five-power consultative pact wherein Great Britain will hold a special position regarding France and Italy. No guarantees of any kind are involved in this British proposal.

France—Sufficiently interested to speed Foreign Minister Briand back to London, where he arrived tonight to determine whether the Anglo-American position will satisfy the French plea of security. At 4 p. m. tomorrow the heads of the delegation will meet at St. James' to fix the time of next week's plenary session, but M. Briand is likely to see Prime Minister MacDonald and Secretary Stimson privately to discuss the exact nature of the contemplated proposals.

Italy in Background.

Italy has again moved into the conference background, clinging to her demand for parity with France under any and all circumstances—pact or no pact, guarantees or no guarantees.

Japan occupies an even more remote spot in the conference picture but is willing to join a consultative pact if the other four powers do. Her fundamental interest remains fixed on her naval strength in relation to the United States and Great Britain, and her chief immediate concern is the eagerly-awaited answer from Tokyo to the tentative three power agreement among the United States, Great Britain and herself.

The sudden reemergence of the political aspects of disarmament has created a new sensation in the five-power conference, and when, where or how the proposals for reconsideration of a consultative agreement were initiated remains a mystery.

The American delegation says the move came from the British and the British intimate that it came from the Americans but whatever its source, a new effort of far-reaching significance is being made to overcome the Franco-Italian deadlock, whether it is likely to be successful rests with M. Briand, Premier Tardieu, and behind both of them France.

No Security Guarantee.

The United States, Great Britain, and Japan are making a supreme effort to produce a five-power treaty which will mean definite armament reductions as well as limitation of programs. The three powers, with a three-power treaty within their grasp are making a last desperate attempt to extend the agreement to France and Italy.

NEWS of SUBURBAN Washington and the Surrounding States

It was clear, however, that the pledge with which the United States and Great Britain proposed to placate France would not be one guaranteeing security. Secretary Stimson and Prime Minister MacDonald made this definite to each other in a conference held at the House of Commons this afternoon.

It was understood that Mr. MacDonald informed the head of the American delegation there had been no change whatever in British opposition to "entangling military alliances" on the continent, as he outlined in his recent radio address to America.

Likewise Secretary Stimson declared the American position on this subject also remained unchanged, but said that throughout the present negotiations the United States has consistently held that she could not enter into any agreement whereby, as a result of reduction in the French fleet, she might be placed under a moral obligation to do more than consult with other powers, should a threat of war occur.

France Holds Key.

The whole success of the new m will depend on whether France interprets the offer of a consultative pact as a mere gesture of good will, carrying no value as a guarantee of national security, or whether she is prepared to abandon her demands for security and join in a five-power agreement on the basis of the limited Anglo-American proposals.

Confused reports circulating in London regarding the exact nature of the British position brought quick criticism from political observers, who said that Parliament was not likely to accept another European commitment for the empire. Furthermore, it was pointed out, the Dominions have not even ratified the Locarno pact and probably would not approve British participation in a Mediterranean treaty if military sanctions were involved.

Mr. MacDonald has held all along that the covenant of the League of Nations, the Locarno pact and the Briand-Kellogg treaty constitute a trilogy which provides ample security for France in the Mediterranean or anywhere else.

Briand Is Hope.

The real hope of the conference tonight rests upon the fact that Aristide Briand, with his rare political resourcefulness, is back in London and that France has had opened to her a new opportunity to cooperate in the disarmament negotiations to the fullest extent.

But just how far either Mr. MacDonald or Secretary Stimson has gone with the idea of a consultative pact remains doubtful. The British spokesman tonight denied the question had come up before the cabinet this morning. Earlier in the day he had referred all questions regarding the new political developments to the American delegation.

British journalists complained tonight that this was not very satisfactory for them because they are barred from the American press conferences. Secretary Stimson having received only American newspapermen since the night of his arrival in London. Furthermore the press conferences with the American spokesman presiding at St. James' have been suspended since the time that the conference halted because of the French cabinet crisis.

No News Channels.

Thus, the British correspondents complain, they have no direct channels for obtaining the American viewpoint. Sir Arthur Willert, head of the press section of the British foreign office, promised the English reporters to use his good offices in trying to fix up this situation for them.

The London dailies printed considerable comment on the consultative pact idea today and the early edition of tomorrow's Daily Herald, organ of the Labor party, attributes the development to the Americans. It says that it "understands that the American proposal, of which Dwight Morrow is the real father, is virtually as follows:

"America would join in a general consultative pact provided that Great Britain first joined with France and Italy in an agreement applying only to the Mediterranean and to which Spain and other Mediterranean powers would be invited to adhere. That France will, in return for increased security so provided, make such cuts in her naval figures as to allow reduction in the Anglo-American figures agreed upon last summer on the banks of the Rapidan. Furthermore France and Italy can then compose their quarrel over the latter's claim of parity with the former."

French Renew Hope.

Paris, March 26 (A.P.).—French official quarters are hopeful anew over the London naval parley without, however, getting overexcited about it.

Foreign Minister Briand, after again taking his place in London, will inform Premier Tardieu on just what form, if any, the United States will participate in a possible security pact and whether the pact, as now received, will justify France in reducing her naval tonnage figures notably.

France's naval reductions, it was understood, will undoubtedly be in proportion to the amount of real security against war which France acquires in any London pact.

French officials were not unduly excited about the new hopes of the conference because they realized that the delicate problem of Franco-Italian parity still remains unsettled.

It was reiterated in Paris tonight that France was ready to restrict her Mediterranean naval forces to the size of the Italian forces there thus creating parity in the Mediterranean but could not grant general parity to Italy.

Le Temps in an editorial says: "There must be something besides illusory promises. There must be something to make security a reality."

COTTON GIVEN TASK OF EXPLAINING PACT

WHITE HOUSE EXPLAINS

1,200 pacifists that he authorize Mr Stimson to consider a harmless "consultative pact."

Thus, amid the confusion in reports from London there appeared to be one unalterable fact in the situation and that was that Mr. Hoover had snuffed out all further references to consultative or harmless pacts and pacts with military sanctions and that he did not propose to have the American people misled by further reports concerning such matters. Mr. Stimson's official statement, announcing in effect that the American delegation had at last yielded on the subject of a consultative pact, came within a few hours after official Washington had reason to believe that the President's attitude was definitely known.

Speculation Is Aroused.

The result of the Stimson statement was to arouse widespread speculation as to the conflict of viewpoint between the White House here and the head of the American delegation in London. As the London Times correspondent here has cabled to his paper the confusion is "worse than it has ever been before."

It does not appear conceivable that Mr. Stimson issued his statement without the President's knowledge nor that Mr. Stimson had deliberately gone counter to the President's wishes. Likewise, it does not appear probable that Mr. Stimson is seeking to commit the United States to a consultative pact when he has reason to know that President Hoover, the Senate leaders on both sides of the chamber and members of his own delegation are unalterably opposed to such a proposition. There is no such thing as a "harmless pact" in the view of Senate leaders and there is admittedly no chance that such a pact would be ratified by the Senate. The question of the hour therefore was "What could have been Mr Stimson's object in issuing his statement?"

A possible answer was found by reading between the lines of the statement which Mr. Cotton made to the press at the President's direction This indicated that Mr. Stimson has no intention of permitting the United States to become bound by a consultative pact but that he is prepared to consider the matter in order to avoid the charge that the American delegation has obstructed the success of the conference.

Cotton Busy Explaining.

Mr. Cotton explained that a consultative pact would be valueless in persuading the French to reduce tonnage but might be very valuable for some other thing and might conceivably be helpful in avoiding trouble. When one of the outstanding Senate leaders heard of this explanation he suggested that it was "playing with dynamite."

Mr. Cotton withstood a barrage of questions in his endeavor to harmonize the Stimson statement with President Hoover's position. He sought to differentiate between a harmless consultative pact and a security pact with sanctions and he sought to show that Mr. Stimson had not committed himself to favor a harmless pact, but had merely said he would consider it "with an open mind." He stressed the fact that no proposition involving a consultative pact had "as yet" been submitted to Mr. Stimson.

Wires Were Crossed.

Detailed discussion of Mr. Cotton's explanation is barred by a seal of secrecy which has been imposed upon the most important feature of the developments here. The information, given under this seal of secrecy, leads to the unmistakable impression that something caused the wires to be crossed between Washington and London on Monday and that the Stimson statement came at a most inopportune time so far as the Hoover administration is concerned.

At the same time the reports from Washington Tuesday afternoon are understood to have been most embarrassing to Mr. Stimson in the sense that they clearly indicated that the American delegation did not have the support of the American Government in indorsing the idea of a consultative pact. The avidity with which British and French statesmen have seized upon the prospect of involving America in the political entanglements of Europe is already reflected in the cables, but the intimation from official quarters here is that disappointment awaits those who believe the American delegation will be permitted to surrender the position which the President and the majority of the Senate have already taken regarding harmless consultative pacts.

ECKENER IN CAPITAL TO RECEIVE AWARD

DISTRICT TERMINUS OUT

Dr. Hugo Eckener, the Graf Zeppelin's commander on its around the world flight, arrived in Washington last night and went directly to his suite in the Willard Hotel to rest up for social and official engagements, which will keep him here until Friday or Saturday.

Tonight officials, Cabinet members and diplomats will gather at the Washington Auditorium to see Dr. Gilbert Grosvenar, president of the National Georgrophic Society, award Dr. Eckener the society's gold medal, which has been won by only ten persons. Tomorrow he will confer with officials relative to future dirigible projects, and on Saturday he expects to visit Baltimore for conferences on the contemplated establishment of a transatlantic dirigible service.

Included in Dr. Erkener's party were Mrs. Eckener, their son, Knut, and Commander Jerome Hunsacker, former Navy dirigible expert. Commander Hunsacker last night spiked rumors that Dr. Eckener would discuss the possibility of establishing a transatlantic dirigible terminus at Washington. "As far as I know" the commander said, "Dr. Eckener has planned no conference on this subject with local officials."

The medal that Dr. Grosvenor will award Dr. Eckener tonight is a replica of those given Lindbergh, Peary, Stefansson, Shackleton, Byrd, Bennett, Goethals, Gilbert, Bartlett and Amundsen. Broadcasting of the presentation over the networks of both the Columbia and National systems will begin at 8:30 o'clock.

Friday noon Dr. Eckener will be the guest of the German Ambassador at a luncheon in the embassy. While in Washington he expects to visit the Bureau of Standards and other governmental departments.

Commission Chief Discusses Tariff

(Associated Press.)

The opinion, whatever is the final outcome of the congressional dispute over the flexible provisions of the tariff, it will have little or no effect upon the duties of the Tariff Commission, was expressed last night by Dr. Edgar B. Brossard, chairman of the commission.

Outlining activities of the commission in a speech before the Inquirendo Club, an organization of young business men, Dr. Brossard said that, under any of the proposals that had been made, the Tariff Commission is the agency named for finding facts upon which to base changes in duties.

He added, however, that "since the commission is a scientific, fact-finding body, its reports will be about the same whether made to the President or to the Congress. The Congress should lay down the tariff policy," he said. "The Tariff Commission should accomplish the purposes of the law so far as they are delegated to the commission."

Dry Agent Guarded Following Slaying

Doran Refuses to Suspend Mississippian, Who Shot Planter in Duel.

Clarksdale, Miss., March 26 (A.P.) Sheriff Lee C. Mathews, of Coahoma County, maintained a guard around E. S. Chapman, deputy prohibition administrator for north Mississippi, while the National Prohibition Department investigated his killing last night of J. L. Doggett, wealthy Delta planter, in a pistol duel on a busy street and decided not to suspend him.

Public feeling here against the officer eased sufficiently today to permit Sheriff Mathews to retain Chapman in the county jail until his preliminary hearing is held, but both the jail and prohibition headquarters were under guard.

On the report of Assistant United States Attorney Sack that Chapman fought in self defense, Commissioner Doran announced in Washington that he would not suspend the officer.

Doggett was well known throughout the Delta for his charitable acts, his friends said. Surviving are his widow and two children. Friends of both sides agreed that the trouble came up over bond disagreement in liquor cases. Doggett had made bonds professionally in a number of prohibition cases.

RUBLEE IS FAVORED FOR MORROW POST

NOW IS AID AT PARLEY

George Rublee, New York lawyer and present advisor in London to Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, one of the American delegates at the naval reduction conference, is expected to be chosen by President Hoover as successor to Mr. Morrow as American Ambassador to Mexico, it was learned yesterday.

The White House refused to confirm the report, largely, it is believed, because of Ambassador Morrow's declared intention of returning to Mexico City, after the London conference, to wind up his work there.

Mr. Rublee, who is a well-known international lawyer and a man of means, was associated with Ambassador Morrow in his work in Mexico. It is known that last fall the ambassadorship was offered to J. Reuben Clark, former Undersecretary of State, who left the State Department to join Mr. Morrow's personal staff in Mexico City. Because of financial reasons Mr. Clark is said to have declined.

Mr. Rublee was appointed by President Wilson in 1915 a member of the Eight-Hour Commission to report on the Adamson eight-hour law. He was a member of the commercial economy Board appointed by the council of National Defense in 1917, and special counsel of the United States Shipping Board on the priorities committee of the War Industries Board. He is holder of the decoration of chevalier of the Legion of Honor of France and commander of the Order of the Crown of Italy.

Ambassador Morrow has state that when his work is completed in London, he will return to Mexxixco City in order to draw together loose ends of negotiations which remain to be concluded. President Ortiz Rubio, of Mexico has stated that he wished to conclude a new agreement with the American Bankers Association which will permit Mexico to resume payments on her national debt. There are also questions as to amounts to be allocated by the Mexican government toward payment of claims awarded by the American-Mexican mixed claims commission.

Man Wounds Bride, Then Kills Self

Shooting Occurs After Pair Return From Night Club Where They Quarreled.

Miami, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—Daniel William Faust, 24, died today from a bullet wound which his bride of two months said he inflicted upon himself after shooting her. The bride, Mrs. Ella Faust, 23, is in a hospital for treatment for a bullet wound over the right eye, which doctors said may prove fatal.

The double shooting occurred at their apartment early today after the couple returned from a night club, where they had quarreled, she told George Bing, State criminal investigator.

She asked that her mother, Mrs. Catherine Salley, of Camden, N. J., be notified. She said Mr. Faust formerly lived in Champaign, Ill.

Warren L. Newcomb, justice of the peace, who investigated, said the shooting was clearly a case of suicide and attempted murder. No inquest will be held, he said.

VANDENBERG OFFERS TARIFF COMPROMISE

CONFEREES KEEP SILENT

(Associated Press.)

A drive for solution of troubles over the flexible provision of the tariff bill was begun yesterday with Senator Vandenberg, of Michigan, an Administration Republican, proposing a compromise on this dispute between the Senate and the House and the President.

This controversy is regarded at the Capitol as the big problem in the way of an early agreement between the Senate and House in the forthcoming conferences on the tariff. Senator Vandenberg's proposal was advanced in a letter to Chairman Smoot, of the Senate conferees.

The Michigan senator advocated retention of the present law, as demanded by President Hoover, allowing the President power to modify tariff rates, but he would give over this power to Congress, as provided in the Senate bill, when Congress is in session.

Hoover Favor Is Seen.

The proposal was looked upon by some senators as one possibly acceptable to the Hoover administration, in view of the friendly relations existing between Senator Vandenberg and the President. The Michigan senator gave no such intimation, however.

The prospective conferees on the tariff measure are keeping silent. The House will vote next week on the Senate bill. What instructions, if any, will be given its conferees have not been decided.

Meanwhile, the Senate has not formally appointed its conferees.

Despite the many differences between the House and Senate on tariff rates, congressional leaders believe the whole tariff problem lies in the settlement of the disputes over the flexible provisions and the export debenture.

Coalition Changed Bill.

Over the expressed opposition of the President, the Senate coalition of Democrats and Republican independents modified the present flexible provision and added the export debenture to the bill. At the Capitol the opinion seems to prevail that the President will sign the bill if the export debenture is eliminated and the Senate flexible provision modified.

In this connection, John E. Edgerton, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, urged Mr. Hoover yesterday to veto the tariff bill if the Senate provision on flexibility is not considerably modified. He favored the House provision, which calls virtually for retention of the present law. The Simmons-Norris flexible amendment to the Senate bill would transfer from the President to Congress the right to raise or lower tariff rates upon a report by the Tariff Commission.

In his letter to Chairman Smoot, Senator Vandenburg said: "The greatest insurance against the need of another general revision is the creation of the greatest possible latitude in provisions for serial flexibility.

Greatest Service Seen.

"Regardless of contemporary rates I believe this bill's greatest justification and its greatest service lies in its maximum expansion of the principle of flexibility."

He proposed, therefore, an inclusion of both the House and Senate provisions with "administrative flexibility for presidential use when Congress is not in session—and subordinate to subsequent congressional veto if Congress chooses to act, and legislative flexibility for congressional use when Congress is in session."

"Thus we shall have flexing machinery all the way around the calendar," he said, "whether Congress is or is not in session. Normally Congress is in session only 10 months out of 24. Therefore, legislative flexibility alone is not enough.

"On the other hand, the House text does not permit administrative flexibility to touch commodities upon the free list. Therefore, administrative flexibility alone is also not enough."

G. O. P. Meetings Continue.

Conferences of Republican House leaders on the bill continued but Speaker Longworth said no decision had been reached on a rule for its consideration when it is brought to the floor next Monday or Tuesday.

Chairman Snell, of the rules committee, said he expects to get more views of various members on procedure to be followed after the measure reaches the floor. Some have favored opening up the bill to enable consideration of a few of the schedules, he added, while others have expressed opposition to any consideration before the bill goes to conference for adjustment of differences between the House and Senate.

Representative Strong, of Kansas, of the Republican farm group, said he had gone over the question with several members in an effort to agree on a proposal for separate consideration of four or five rates, but he declined to name the schedules discussed.

PARKER NOMINATION ACTION TO BE SLOW

PAPER RAPS SELECTION

(Associated Press.)

With a delay in prospect on consideration of the nomination of Judge John J. Parker, of North Carolina, to the Supreme Court, senators and other interested parties are scrutinizing his records.

While officials of the American Federation of Labor withheld a decision on whether to protest his confirmation, the newspaper Labor, published by the railroad labor organizations, in its weekly issue yesterday, characterized the appointment as "a bitter disappointment to progressives."

Labor officials are studying the decision of Judge Parker as a member of the Federal circuit court of appeals on an injunction case involving the United Mine Workers.

Borah Still Studies Decision.

Senator Borah (Republican), Idaho, a member of the judiciary subcommittee considering the Parker nomination, has been asked by labor officials to examine this decision. He was not prepared last night to render his opinion on it.

Senator Overman (Democrat), North Carolina, the chairman of the subcommittee, said he will call a meeting of the committee whenever the protestants to Judge Parker want to be heard. He said that labor officials have not yet asked for the hearing, but that he is ready to grant one.

There was no comment yesterday regarding a telegram sent Tuesday night by T. A. Wilson, president of the North Carolina Federation of Labor, to William Green, president of the National Federation. In his telegram Mr. Wilson said labor, as a whole, in North Carolina is satisfied with the appointment of Judge Parker.

Senate Urged to Go Slow.

The Labor editorial said: "President Hoover picks a judge whose best-known decisions uphold the yellow dog contract in its most offensive form.

"The least the Senate can do is to take its time in considering Judge Parker's fitness, and subject his acts and views to the scrutiny of open, searching debate."

There will be delay in consideration of the nomination, because the Senate will be in recess next Monday, and Chairman Norris, of the Judiciary committee, has decided not to hold a meeting of the committee until the following Monday. The nomination, therefore, can not get before the Senate for almost two weeks.

Smoke Law Violation Blame at Schools Fixed

Dr. Frank W. Ballou, superintendent of schools, yesterday directed a letter to all school officers, placing the responsibility for smoke law violations on the engineer in charge of the school. Dr. Ballou's letter was a consequence of the decision by the Board of Education to place responsibility for smoke law offenses on the engineer or janitor rather than on the principals and superintendents.

The Board of Education made this decision after J. J. Crane, first assistant superintendent in charge of school buildings, had been fined $10 for violation of the smoke law at Wilson Normal School.

Movie Audience Calm As Firemen Fight Blaze

Patrons of the Fairlawn Theater, 1342 Good Hope road southeast, sat unmoved in their seats last night while firemen quietly extinguished a blaze in a tool chest close to the side of the theater building. The blaze was put out with $20 damage, and without alarming the movie customers.

Lime stored in the chest is believed to have become heated with the result that inflammable articles in the box became ignited.

Farenholt Is Approved As New Rear Admiral

(Associated Press.)

President Hoover yesterday approved the selection of Capt. Ammen Farenholt, of the Navy Medical Corps, for promotion to the rank of rear admiral, to succeed Rear Admiral Albert M. D. McCormick, who reaches the statutory retiring age today.

Capt. Farenholt at present is in command of the U. S. Navy Hospital, Mare Island, Calif. He was born December 9, 1871, in Norfolk, Va., and was graduated from the Harvard Medical School in 1893.

The Hoch bill, simplifying the method by which tolls are determined at the Panama Canal, was passed and sent to the Senate.

Gov. Roy A. Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, predicted before the banking committee that universal branch banking would grow out of the plan of John W. Pole, Comptroller of the Currency, for extending branch banking within economic and trade areas.

FATE OF AMERICANS IN MISSION VEILED

French Believed Unharmed, but Situation of 16 Is Unknown in China.

BANDITRY IS GENERAL

Shanghai, March 26 (A.P.).—French missionaries were reported safe tonight in Kanchow, Kiangsi Province, which has been besieged for three weeks by Communist and bandit armies. The fate of ten men and six women of the American Catholic mission in Kanchow remained unknown.

The besieging banditry, said a nationalist government news agency dispatch, was scattered by a sortie of the provincial garrison. Efforts to communicate with the Americans were futile, the bandits halting telegraphic communication. Government officials, however, expressed the belief that the missionaries were safe unless they attmptd to escape from Kanchow through the Communists' lines.

Checked for the time at Kanchow, the lawless forces which have despoiled Kiangsi Province for many months, attacked and captured the towns of Sinfeng and Taiyi in southern Kiangsi, said dispatches. Namyung, in northern Kwantung Province, also was reported fallen into Red hands.

Whether missionaries were safe at their stations at Sinfeng and Namyung was not known, but the Chinese populace of the towns was reported fleeing in panic.

Chu Teh, leader of the Communist-bandit armies, educated in Canton in military tactics and formerly a student in several European countries whos elanguages he speaks, long has defield government troops as his men looted and killed Chinese of Kiangsi, Fukien and Kwangtung Provinces. Fresh outrages recently have occurred almost daily.

Although the nationalist government announced its intention of sending strong reinforcements of troops to disperse the banditry of Kiangsi, passports were refused to many foreigners desiring to enter the province. Lawlessness was said to be too general.

B'Nai B'Rith Hears Rabbi Aaronsohn

Farewell Meeting Honors Rosenblum Who, Will Take New York Post.

Cutural contributions of Jewry to civilization were told last night to Argo Lodge, B'nai B'rith, by Rabbi Michael Aaronsohn, the blind rabbi. The speaker, who lost his eyesight during the World War, told his listeners that neighbors are reluctant to acknowledge the genius of the Jews, but are eve reager to speak of their vices.

Regardless of the outcome of the Russian crisis, he believes that the Jews will be blamed for the economic chaos occasioned by Communism. Leon Trotzsky, he said, was a Jew and because of this all Jewry will be given the blame for the erection of the Communist social philosophy into the Russian government.

The meeting of the lodge was in the nature of a farewell to Rabbi William F. oResnblum, assistant rabbi at the Washington Hebrew Congregation, who will soon leave for New York to assume charge of the Temple Beth Israel congregation.

BANK PAIR IS CITED IN $39,000 SHORTAGE

NO LOSS TO DEPOSITORS

Charles A. McCarthy, 55 years old, and Willard S. Robbins, 35 years old, secretary-treasurer and clerk, respectively, of the East Washington Savings Bank, who were indicted yesterday by the District grand jury on charges of embezzlement, are expected to surrender within a few days, according to United States Attorney Leo A. Rover. Mr. McCarthy, who has been an official of the bank since 1905, is now in Atlantic City, while Mr. Robbins, who had been in the bank's employ for eleven years, is in Washington.

The two bank workers, who are alleged to have defaulted in the sum of $39,227.55, have retained counsel, who told Mr. Rover yesterday that their clients would surrender when he demands them. Attorney R. H. Yeatman appears for McCarthy, while Robbins is represented by Attorney H. L. Scalf.

Officials of the bank are reported as stating that the bank depositors will not suffer as a result, a large sum of the money having been repaid.

McCarthy was indicted on five counts, which enumerate alleged peculations totaling $5,073.

Robbins is charged in seven counts with embezzling $2,457.12.

Although only approximately $7,500 is cited in the indictment, it is understood that Department of Justice auditors told the grand jury that a check of the bank's books had revealed shortages of $39,227.55, all of which is said to have been traceable to McCarthy and Robbins.

Of the total, however, the United States Attorney's office states only $14,433.55 will have to be charged off by the bank. Mrs. McCarthy, wife of the official, is said to have turned over to the bank $19,694, while Robbins is said to have made restitution in the sum of $5,000.

Marconi With Short Waves Lights Bulbs in Australia

Inventor of Wireless Presses Telegraph Key in Genoa, Which Turns on Current Opening Electrical Exposition in Sydney, 11,000 Miles Away.

Genoa, Italy, March 26 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Man's growing mastery over matter was dramatically illustrated today when Marquis Guglielmo Marconi, by pressing a telegraph key in the cabin of his yacht Electra here, sent enough electric energy by short radio wave to Sydney, Australia, 11,000 miles away, to close a circuit there and light thousands of incandescent bulbs.

A moment later the voice of the director of the Amelgamated Wireless of Australia, Ltd., borne across the Pacific cean, the United States and the Atlantic by radio telephone, was heard in the cabin of the Electra, telling the inventor of wireless: "Our lights are on, thanks to you. Hurrah!"

As the speaker told the Italian inventor of the success of the effort to transmit energy across two oceans and a continent, Sydney crowds, seeing a thoupsand lights flash on before their eyes, and knowing that the impulse that lighted them had come from a yacht in te harbor of Genoa, broke into enthusiastic cheering.

Signor Marconi said to those who had witnessed the experiment:

"It is not more than 30 years since I transmitted the first faint wireless signals across the Atlantic. Today we demonstrate that it is possible by wireless to bring powerful currents into operation at the other ends of the earth."

The original plan had been for the energy to light the lights of the Sydney electrical exposition, but at the last minute it was decided, instead, to light those in the city hall of Sydney as the exposition buildings will soon be demolished.

Signor Marconi is now looking forward to repeating today's demonstration by transmitting energy to points in North and South America. He says that before long it will be possible to restart railways, trolleys and factories by radioing energy across great distances, provided they are within a certain determined network.

BALL PLAYER AGAIN CONVICTED IN DEATH

JURY OUT FOUR HOURS

Harrisburg, Pa., March 26 (A.P.).—For the second time within seven months, Samuel (Red) Crane, a former major league baseball player, tonight heard a jury return a verdict of second degree murder against him. Crane was on trial for the killing of John . Oren, a brick salesman.

Last September a jury returned a similar verdict against Crane for killing Miss Della Lyter, State highway department employe. Oren and Miss Lyter, a former friend of Crane, were shot and fatally wounded last August 3 while seated in a hotel here.

The jury deliberated four hours. The verdict carries a penalty of ten to twenty years' imprisonment.

At both trials the State demanded the death penalty, seeking to show the dual slaying was the result of Miss Lyter's ending her friendship with the ball player. The defense maintained Crane was so intoxicated he did not realize what he was doing. No appeal from today's verdict is planned, defense counsel said.

Crane had played ball with the Philadelphia and Washington teams of the American League and with the Cincinnati and Brooklyn clubs of the National League. He also played in the American Association, the International and the Pacific Coast Leagues.

SYNOPSIS.

Rudy Vallee, free-lance saxophonist, has a rocky road in getting recognition, but finally organizes the Connecticut Yankees and they make a successful opening in New York.

CHAPTER V.—DIRECTING THE ORCHESTRA.

The problem that confronted me was this: I must direct the band, that is, tell the boys what we were going to play and how we were going to play it, and yet play my sax.

I have told you that the style which we had adopted was to play only the choruses of each particular piece. To play more than three choruses of the same tune is to risk monotonous repetition and to bore our listeners. Therefore, after two or three choruses, we go right into another tune, being careful to choose one of contrasting type and key; that is, if the tune we were first playing was one of smooth sustained notation, such as all halfnotes and whole notes, and of a dreamy nature, I would consider while we were playing it what would be a good tune to go into—obviously something of the staccato type, with many rhythmic accents.

A tune that would sound broken up, and what we term "peppy," would be an ideal contrast with the tune we were playing. The name of such a tune occurring to me, I must convey it and its key to the boys.

How Changes Are Signaled.

I had watched so many society orchestra leaders, who upon receiving a request for a certain tune, had attempted to go into it without telling the men the key of the piece! Now it so happens that sometimes a tune is orchestrated and published in various keys for various reasons. Bands on club jobs are composed of men who play under three or four different leaders a week and each leader plays these certain pieces in keys that seem most suitable to him. Therefore, for one leader to assume that the men playing under him for the evening all are aware of the key in which he wishes the piece to be played, is to make a grave error. And too many times I have heard the horrible bedlam when the change was made, due to the fact that several of the men had their own ideas as to what key the piece would be played in.

And so when we approached the time for a change I would turn to my boys, give them first the key in which the new piece was to be played, then the name of the piece itself. Thus our changes, after several nights of playing together, became perfectly smooth.

There was obviously one disadvantage which caused me to evolve what I term the "finger system."

Since I alone stopped playing to name this new tune and the key to the boys, the voice of my instrument was missed and only the other sax and the two violins could be heard. We tried naming all the tunes that I thought we could possibly play in a ten or fifteen minute period before we began playing the set, but we found that bad memories and day dreaming made this impossible because we sometimes played six tunes in the course of a fifteen-minute period. Obviously, although I might name the tunes over before we began playing that fifteen-minute set, the men whose memories were none too good were inclined to forget not only the order of the tunes but the names of the tunes themselves, which resulted in trouble.

Other Signs Are Outlined.

Again, too, I might notice some one on the floor whose preference for a certain tune I knew. I might want to go into this tune immediately, and the naming of it would upset the entire order as I had given it out before we began playing.

I finally concluded there was no alternative but to name the new piece while we were playing the old one. Therefore I realized that something would have to be done so that the voice of my saxophone would not be missing when it was so badly needed. After all, the most important thing was that the boys should know the key.

We usually played our tunes in a certain order and in certain groups, especially the three or four hits from a musical comedy were always played in a set order. Therefore, since the boys were able to guess what tune would follow the one we were playing, all they really needed was an indication of the key to confirm their suspicion.

How Confusion Is Avoided.

The time taken in naming the key by word and turning my head right and left so that every one on both ends knew what I wanted, took me away from my saxophone for nearly half a chorus. Then again it was always difficult to tell just what I had said because the keys sound very much alike in name.

You can readily see that it would be easy to confuse the words E flat with B flat when a band is playing. So I conceived the idea of indicating the keys by the fingers of my right hand, because, under the circumstances, the eye would be more accurate than the ear.

It is possible sometimes to play for several measures on the saxophone without using the right hand while the left hand does the work alone. Taking advantage of that fact, I indicated the flats by starting with the first finger for one flat, adding the next finger for two, the middle one for three and the little finger for four, by adding the thumb, or, in other words, extending all the fingers, I indicated a key of five flats, which is the maximum number of flats we have ever played in; in fact we very rarely go beyond four.

Indication of Sharps Is Simple.

Now to indicate sharps with the same hand is very simple. I was greatly helped by the fact that hardly a piece of dance music is written in more than two sharps, so I began with the little finger alone for one sharp; joining the finger next to it for two sharps, and adding the middle finger for three, which key we have yet to play in. Since the first finger indicated that the key was going to be in flats * * * when that was not extended the men knew that the other fingers were indicating sharps.

Musicians will probably wonder how I indicate the key of C and minor keys. In the case of the key of C, I make a deaf and dumb alphabet C by slightly curving the thumb and first finger. I signal a minor key by first indicating the major key with the fingers as explained above and then stick up the thumb alone, which shows that it is to be the relative minor of the major key just indicated. All this is done in the twinkling of an eye, and the boys have to watch me very closely.

Ofttimes I want to tell them to play another chorus of the same tune before they change to the new tune. Obviously it takes several seconds to say "Another chorus of the same tune." The simple syllable "ex" is one that is heard easily, and to us means "One more chorus of the same tune we are now playing." By crossing the first and second fingers I make the finger signal "ex" which the boys get very easily, and my drummer quickly speaks for me (I do not take my saxophone from my mouth). When I am singing or even playing the saxophone, the raising of my elbow till it is parallel with my shoulder indicates that we are to finish the chorus and stop entirely. When this signal is given, invariably the bass player, drummer and pianist all three simultaneously speak the word "out" and watch to see that the boys sitting in front of them have heard, because nothing is worse than half the band stopping while the other half continues to play.

Finger System Works Perfectly.

The finger system worked out perfectly, but it took some time before the boys watched me closely enough. At times I despaired of success.

The logical man to act as spokesman for me was my drummer, directly behind me in the middle of the band, high up on the platform, with a good strong voice, no part to read and, except for the beautiful women on the floor, nothing to divert his attention.

But my drummer is a great lover of the modern "hot" music. In fact, when he joined us at our first meeting he was laughing up his sleeve at my ideas for our style. Although he did not dislike sweet music, played as we played it, he firmly believed that for us to attempt to play as we did was sheer foolishness, and that we would certainly be a "flop." He delighted in getting absorbed in the "hot" rhythms which he played on the drums, and with his head over on one side, slightly nodding to the tempo of his rhythms, he was usually miles away from my little group, dreaming of "hot" dance music.

Drummer Sometimes Misses Cue.

I had asked him to relay my signals to the entire band, as he was completely free to watch me and carry this out. But the tragedy came when, after flinging my right hand out with the key clearly indicated and waiting for him to relay the signal, I would find him wrapped up in "hot" rhythms and completely oblivious of the signal.

It took some stormy sessions before he and every one else finally became alert and on their toes.

We have accomplished even more than I had hoped for at first. We have become so much like clockwork that the boys even get the keys without a signal, guessing just what tune I intend to play and thus reaching certainly the height of perfection. I imagine it must be quite amazing to any one who does not understand how we work to see us jump from one tune to another, with nothing said and with no confusion whatsoever. But this perfection of cooperation has come only after many headaches and heartaches and much practice.

Pet of Inspector's Daughter Returned to Her by Navy Officer.

Woofus is home again.

The 8-month-old poodle belonging to Elizabeth Shelby, 11-year-old daughter of Inspector William S Shelby, chief of the Detective Bureau disappeared from the Shelby home last Saturday while the inspector and his family were spending the week-end at Annapolis, Md.

A peculiar scratching at the front door of the home of Commander Norman Hall, U. S. N., at 210 East Thornapple street, Chevy Chase, attracted the attention of the officer's son, Norman Hall, jr., 10 years old, yesterday. The boy opened the door, and there sat Woofus.

Recalling the story of Woofus' disappearance in The Post, Commander Hall telephoned to Inspector Shelby, and Elizabeth and her wandering pet were reunited.

Daughters Killed By Father's Gun

Iowan Shoots Self in Hand and Gives Up After Double Slaying.

Newton, Iowa, March 2 (A.P.).—George McKinney, 52, today shot and killed his daughters, Artie Dora, 25, and Gladys, 12, and then shot himself in the hand. He drove his automobile from his home at Mitchellville, where the shooting took place, to Newton, and gave himself up to the sheriff.

McKinney told officials that "something had been telling him for two years" to kill his daughters. After slaying Artie Dora, McKinney drove to the school which Gladys attended and brought her back to the farm. He drove his automobile into the barn, where he shot Gladys and then wounded himself.

Nine years ago McKinney accidentally shot the elder daughter in the leg while cleaning a gun. Her leg was later amputated and a wooden limb replaced it.

Elimination of the grade at the Michigan avenue crossing of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad will be sought by the Michigan Park Citizens Association. At a meeting last night at the headquarters, Twelfth street and Michigan avenue, a resolution was passed designed to have Congress eliminate the hazardous crossing by the construction of a viaduct.

Ralph J. Endicott was elected president to succeed W. M. Devanney, who was named delegate to the Federation of Citizens Associations. Other officers chosen are R. A. Ralph, vice president; W. A. Kilerlane, secretary, Franklin A. Adams, treasurer; F. W. Bush, assistant secretary, and Edward J. Brennan, L. S. Trundle and M. Devanney, members of the executive committee.

Boy Seriously Injured When Felled by Auto

A 5-year-old boy, Mickel Goldberg, 1142 Sixth street northwest, was seriously injured last night when an automobile driven by Ezekiel Koopersmith, living in the same block, ran over him. The boy suffered a fractured skull and physicians at Emergency Hospital say his condition is serious.

Young Goldberg was running across the street, police said, and was knocked down by the motorist before he could scurry out of the way.

Third of Lenten Talks Given.

Dr. William C. Sturgis gave the third of a series of Lenten talks on the "Sermon on the Mount" last night in St. John's Parish Hall, Potomac and O streets northwest. Choir members led a song service that preceded the address. The Rev. F. B. Tucker, pastor, had charge of the meeting.

Kitten Stolen on Street.

A sure enough "cat thief" made an appearance yesterday when a tiny Persian kitten, belonging to Clifford J. Haynes, 2900 South Dakota avenue northeast, was stolen by an automobilist. The kitten had strayed to the sidewalk and the automobilist stopped his car, picked it up, and departed. The tag on the machine was noted.

Buddy Poppy Sold To Hoover by Girl

5-Year-Old Daughter of War Veteran Opens Relief Fund Campaign.

Lois June Allen, 5-year-old daughter of a deceased World War veteran, yesterday sold President Hoover the first "buddy poppy" in the annual campaign conducted by the Veterans of Foreign Wars for the relief of disabled soldiers and their dependents.

Lois' father was a Detroit policeman who served with American expeditionary forces in northern Russia. She made the trip to the White House from the V. F. W. home for widows and orphans of deceased veterans at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

A definite percentage of funds received from the sale of the poppies goes to maintain such homes, and part of the return goes directly to the disabled veterans who make the poppies.

Members of the veterans' association last night paraded from the Union Station to the White House, where ceremonies had been held earlier in the day incident to the opening of the campaign.

Cornwell, has been appointed general manager of the mining plants of the Davis and Elkins interests in the Davis Coal Land Co. in the Elkins section, according to announcement just made by John T. Virginia Parlaysis Traced to Ginger

Grant Reports 14 of 17 New Cases Had Partaken of Product.

Richmond, Va., March 26 (A.P.).—Fourteen of the seventeen new cases of leg paralysis reported in Virginia in the last few days have been definitely traced to the drinking of Jamaica ginger, Dr. H. G. Grant, State Department of Health epidemiologist, said today on his return from an investigation of the strange malady in southwest Virginia. In the other three cases bootleg liquor had been consumed, Dr. Grant stated.

Three cases of the paralysis are at Damascus, Washington County; five at Wytheville and seven at Rural Retreat in Wythe County, and two at Dante, Russell County.

Samples of the unbranded ginger believed to be causing the paralysis will be analyzed by the State department for metallic poisons which cause myelitis or "leg paralysis" it was stated at Health Department offices today.

Jackson, Miss., March 26 (A.P.).—There are between 1,000 and 1,500 cases of muscular paralysis in Mississippi, estimated Dr. H. C. Ricks, State epidemologist, today, after two days spent in the field.

Bus Reciprocity Denied By Pennsylvania Board

Special to The Washington Post.

Hagerstown, Md., March 26.—John B. Ferguson, president of the Hagerstown Chamber of Commerce, was informed today by Commissioner of Motor Vehicles E. Austin Baughman, of Maryland, that Pennsylvania's commission had refused to rescind orders that all Maryland Motor buses, motor omnibuses operated for transportation of persons for compensation, and commercial motor vehicles operated for transportation for compensation must carry Pennsylvania licenses with 30 days.

The Maryland commissioner interceded in behalf of local business concerns, who do much business by truck across the Mason and Dixon line near here, upon the request of the Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Baughman said he recently had a conference in Harrisburg, but that Pennsylvania had refused to extend any reciprocal courtesy to Maryland other than to pleasure cars.

GRAND JURY IGNORES HOOK RUM CHARGES

THIRD MAN IS LIBERATED

Charges of violating the Jones act placed by Fourth Precinct police against Thomas Henry Hook, suspended Thirteenth Precinct policeman, were ignored yesterday by the District grand jury.

Hook, who was suspended at the time of his arrest and booked for appearance before the Trial Board, recently attempted to resign from the force, but his move met with failure. Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, holding that a policeman can not resign when charges were pending against him.

Richard Johnson, a companion of Hook at the time of his arrest, was indicted under the Jones act, but the other companion, Paul Kyle, escaped without charge. The suspended policeman is 24 years old and lives at Mount Rainier, Md. Johnson, who is 25 years old, and Kyle, who is 24 years old, both reside on Allison street near Georgia avenue.

The indictment of Johnson is said to have followed testimony that he was seated at the wheel of the rum-laden automobile when police of the Fourth Precinct closed in. Hook and Pyle were said to have been on the sidewalk. The seizure of the three men, a small quantity of liquor and the automobile is said to have followed an anonymous tip.

California Citizenship Law Upheld by Court

San Francisco, March 26 (A.P.).—The State Supreme Court today upheld the constitutionality of the 1927 legislative enactment placing the burden of proving citizenship, or eligibility to citizenship, upon alleged ineligible aliens seeking to acquire title to lands in California.

Acting in the case of two Sutter County Japanese convicted on five counts of an indictment charging conspiracy to violate the alien land acts, the court held that the shifting of the burden of proof from the State to the alien was required by "convenience" and does not conflict with the due process provisions of the State and Federal constitutions.

Several Minor Quakes Noted in Observatories

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—The seismograph at Fordham University registered several minor quakes over a three-hour span this morning, beginning at 2:30 a. m. It was estimated the quakes were centered about 1,200 miles away in a northeasterly direction, which would place them somewhere in the vicinity of Newfoundland, scene of last November's severe submarine upheavals.

London, March 26 (A.P.).—A considerable earthquake was reported at Kew Observatory today. The first impulse was received at 7:32 a. m. The record indicated that the epicenter was in southwest China.

Aid of Woman Is Asked In Finding Missing Cash

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—Police today telegraphed police of Hot Springs, Ark., requesting them to ask Mrs. Molly Gallagher, wife of the express messenger who allegedly stole $63,000 here last October, if she would waive extradition and return to New York to explain what became of the money.

Dispatches from Hot Springs said that some $15,000 to $20,000 was found in Mrs. Gallagher's room in an apartment where she was taken into custody. Gallagher was arrested near Paterson, N. J., yesterday. Police said he confessed the theft.

Highlights of the War

As Related by Veterans Themselves

"They Also Served"

We were engaged in building a small bridge over a canal and so, when on the night shift, we usually enjoyed a swim before dinner. One evening as we were returning from the water we heard a terrific crash that shook the town and, not seeing any Boche airplanes and being some miles back of the lines, we ran up the street to see what caused the commotion.

We encountered some peasant women running and crying and two of us rushed to the doorway at which they pointed, through the house and into the back yard where we encountered one of the most shocking tragedies of the war. The yard was littered with pieces of rotten wood and the wall was spattered with blood. In opposite corners of the inclosure lay two young boys.

We rushed them out to a passing provision truck and to the small hospital, where we found one doctor and a lone nurse who needed all the help we could give them as both lads were covered with wounds.

Later we learned the complete story. The father of the boys, twins of 14 years, was a French soldier home on leave, and the lads had been treasuring as a souvenir a shell that had gone through the roof of their home without exploding. The local gendarme had tried to fire it in several ways but finally came to the conclusion that it could not be xeploded, and so the boys placed it upon a chopping block while they tried to take off the nose with a hammer.

One of the boys lived only twenty minutes, while the other is blind and crippled for life—the father became raving insane.

Before this our outfit had been satisfied to be plain engineers, but this occurrence enlisted every man as a real "hater" and sworn avenger.

With Spain

I was a first-class rookie when it came to saluting and our commanding officer, Capt. P. C. Marsh, was strong on the "high dip." He had me red, white and blue in the face trying to give him the correct highball, but it seemed of no use even though our top kick, Sergt. Holmes, tipped me off that the captain said I was all right if I could only master the art of saluting.

Our battery finally arrived in San Francisco on June 13, '98 and the Red Cross was waiting for us with a big feed. And when I say the boys were hungry, I don't mean maybe. However, the chairman of the Red Cross committee informed the captain about the refreshments and he replied that his men were regulars and had no time to bother with eating when there was duty to perform—as though there was any duty more important to the soldier than eating.

The newspapers made much of the affair afterwards and said that our outfit was high-hatting the Red Cross (which was about the color of Marsh's whiskers). Nevertheless, I was fortunate enough to be put on duty with a couple of other free lunch hounds, guarding equipment. Naturally, we looked after the eats first and one pretty little Red Cross girl gave me a whole cooked chicken with which I finally started for Camp Merritt. As I had been in charge of the detail it was my duty to immediately inform the captain of our arrival. We encountered him, with two other officers, all mounted, and I stood at attention with my right hand at salute and my left behind my back clutching the chicken by the neck.

The captain's horse side-stepped with a little whinny (probably a horse laugh) and the captain gave me a careful once-over before shouting: "Haven't you learned to salute in a soldierly manner? What's your left hand doing?"

Like a little George Washington I answered, "Sir, my left hand is saluting a chicken."

We'll Bite! What?

One morning on the Meuse-Argonne front near Mount Faucon, several of our men were badly wounded and I was detailed to help carry them back on stretchers to the first-aid station.

The Germans had recently been driven back about 2 miles and I thought I was fairly safe when returning through the woods by myself until a machine gun started sputtering and the bullets hitting near me. "No use being killed when you can avoid it," I thought, and so crawled behind a big tree. While laying there a big, tall lad came strolling along and, when he noticed me, hollered, "What the h——'s the matter with you?" At that instant a bullet pierced his legging and without waiting for my answer he dived behind the tree with me.

From this vantage point we both peered around until we noticed something white waving among the branches of a tree near by. Although we could not clearly see what it was, we both emptied our guns into the tree and from it plunged a German soldier head first. (He had evidently been left behind as a sniper.)

I'll leave it to you which of us actually got him, but the big fellow said: "I've sure got some gun here, and, believe me, I'm some shot. Back home I used to shoot the eyes out of the rattlesnakes in Texas."

He was so big that all I could say was, "What have rattlesnakes got to do with the war?"

self as an orderly, moving, constructive force. Failing to do so, the Republicans now intend to again train their guns with intensified fire upon its disorderly, unstable qualities.

The great question will be: "Do you want the condition that has existed in the Senate to exist also in the House?"

It was a very successful argument used in 1924, when the Democrats had such an estimable man as John W. Davis as their standard bearer. The Republicans made the argument that Mr. Davis could not win, but there was a very great danger of the election being thrown nto the House with Charles W. Bryan, "Brother Charles," as the late George Harvey called him, emerging as the President.

Danger to Be Pointed Out.

The country would have a perfect right to elect a Democratic House if it wants to, it is planned to argue now, but the result of its effort will be only such an increased House Democratic membership as will permit of a coalition, and one that is not responsible for the carrying out of a successful legislative program.

Admittedly the argument is a good one. The Democrats must gain some 70 seats to get control of the House in their own right, and they insist that this is what they will do. Of course, 70 seats are a lot of seats, even in an off-year election.

Of course, the Republicans plan to defend their tariff, too. This would follow as a matter of course. But that is strictly a defensive proposition, the purpose of it being to hold their losses to a minimum.

"Chaos" to Be Fight Center.

The offensive, militant fight is to be built around the chaos issue.

Mr. Hoover's name has not yet lent itself to such a slogan as "Coolidge or Chaos" or rather his name and the present situation have not yet been susceptible of such a ringing and alliterative phrase. But the sloganists are at work. There have been suggestions of "Hoover or Havoc," "Insurgency and Idleness," "Coalition or Chaos," "Will Wood and Work," "Coalition and Calamity," "Hoover or Hurricane," and so on.

Grundy Mate Out Of Political Race

Harrisburg, Pa., March 26 (A.P.).—Samuel S. Lewis, running mate of Senator Joseph R. Grundy, today announced his withdrawal as a candidate for Republican nomination for governor.

He said that he was making the sacrifice in the interest of harmony and to assure the election of the Republican nominee at the general election.

Lewis had been teamed with Senator Grundy in the latter's candidacy for the Republican nomination for United States senator.

22 CHARGES IGNORED AS JURY INDICTS 33

Old Charge of Manslaughter Remaining Against Woman Is Dropped.

OTHER CASES CLEARED

Although 33 indictments were returned, charges in 22 cases were ignored yesterday when the District grand jury made its report. In some instances in the ignored cases the grand jury went back several years to resurrect and dispose of old charges.

A charge of manslaughter against Dolores Monroe, alias Dottie King, alias Margaret Roberts in connection with the death several years ago of Eleanor M. Lehman, featured the grand jury's ignorances. She is said to have been connected with "Dr." Louis W. Hoffman, physic-therapist, who is now serving a 30-year sentence in connection with the Lehman woman's death.

Since September 18, 1928, a charge of attempted jail-break has been hanging over Angelo LaBouna. Yesterday the grand jury ignored the charge. LaBouna was alleged to have unlawfully aided and assisted Frank Durso to escape from the House of Detention.

Mae West's Trial Suspends Matinee

Business Engagement of Juror Halts Session in Afternoon.

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—The drama in which are presented the State of New York and Miss Mae West and every one else who had anything to do with the production of her play, "Pleasure Man" played no matinee today.

After a melodramatic morning, in the course of which the judge pounded his gavel so hard that he broke it, the trial adjourned shortly after noon until tomorrow morning because one of the jurors had an important business engagement.

Sergt. James T. Powers, police stenographer who took notes on the opening night whenever he was nudged in the ribs by his superior, Capt. James J. Coy, was on the stand this forenoon.

On the Rules of Traffic

By WILLIAM ULLMAN

Motorists who try to "get by" with an argument that the Washington traffic regulations are hazy on the definition of parking make a mistake. A policeman's ears are deaf to such an argument because he knows better.

The regulations say explicitly that to park "means to leave any motor vehicle standing on a public highway, whether or not attended."

Example: A driver stops at the curb in a street on which all parking is prohibited. He remains in the driver's seat and keeps the engine running. In such a case, he may maintain definitely that he is not parked, merely stopped for a moment or so. However, his car is standing on a public highway and, under the regulations, is parked illegally.

Bad Check Prisoner Loans Deputies Fare

Peoria, Ill., March 26 (A.P.).—Illinois was in the grip of a bad snowstorm today, so bad, in fact, that a prisoner had to furnish the money to pay railroad transportation to the State prison farm at Vandalia not only for himself, but for four other prisoners and two deputy sheriffs.

It may or may not have anything to do with the matter, but it is a fact that the prisoner who loaned the deputies the money after their automobile was abandoned in a snow drift, was sentenced on a bad check charge.

Gov. Kohler Asked To Pay Texas Visit

Moody Seeks Investigation of Real Estate Situation; Michigan Ban On.

Austin, Tex., March 26 (A.P.).—An invitation to Gov. Kohler of Wisconsin to come to Texas to investigate conditions which led the Wisconsin Real Estate Board to prohibit a number of Texas land company representatives from doing business in that State was sent by Gov. Dan Moody today.

The invitation was extended after a conference between Gov. Moody and George F. Kull, secretary of the Wisconsin Manufacturers Association, who came to Texas after the State Senate passed resolutions suggesting that Texans refrain from purchasing Wisconsin-made products in retaliation for the real estate board's action.

Gov. Moody announced he will accompany the Wisconsin executive on the tour should he accept. He also requested Gov. Kohler to have several business men come with him.

Farmer Who Gave Blood To Youth Dies as Result

Tulsa, Okla., March 26 (A.P.).—Harry Hemme, 34, Broken Bow farmer, paid for his life today for having helped save that of a 16-year-old Indian boy, Yahola Burgess.

A month ago Hemme gave a quart of his blood to the boy, a neighbor, who was near death from lack of blood following an operation. The youth improved and will recover. Infection developed in the transfusion wound in Hemme's arm and was followed by pneumonia, resulting in his death in a Tulsa hospital.

Warship Brings Admiral's Body.

Kingston, Jamaica, March 26 (A.P.).—The U. S. S. Dolphin sailed from here today with the body of Rear Admiral W. W. Mead, who died at Mandeville a fortnight ago. The coffin was exhumed from its temporary grave and carried on the warship with due ceremony.

98 out of 100 Women Report Benefit.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has the written endorsement of half a million women.

By accurate record, 98 out of every 100 women who report after taking it say, "It helped me."

What other medicine has such a record of success?

ETHEL FLEETWOOD
3023 Bandin St., New Orleans, Louisiana

"I am a saleslady in a store. My nerves got the best of me and I never had good finger nails because I couldn't stop biting them off. My appetite was poor and I was always tired. One of my friends told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound would help me. I know that it controls the nerves because I have no desire to bite my nails now and they are long and well kept. My appetite is enormous and I feel like a new person. I have recommended your good medicine to many girls and I assure you that they have found the same good results. I will gladly answer letters from women or girls."—Miss Ethel Fleetwood.

MRS. ANGELINE MAJKOWSKI
517-153rd Place, Harvey, Illinois

"This is to thank you for helping me get my health. After I was married I had to be operated on and it didn't do me any good. I was so worried and cried all the time for I had spent over $800 for sickness and yet I didn't get better. I saw a sign about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a drug store and I took four bottles. Now there is happiness in our home, for we have two little boys with nice red cheeks. I am healthy myself and the more Vegetable Compound I take the better I feel. I have told my friends about it for I believe it will help anybody if they take it regularly."—Mrs. Angeline Majkowski.

MRS. W. OVERMANN
918 Regina Ave., St. Louis, Missouri

"Nine years ago when my little girl was born dead, I seemed to lose every bit of strength and vitality. I had an awful pulling down feeling in my back and my legs were so stiff I could hardly walk. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for about four months. The next year I became the mother of a fine 11-pound baby boy. After he was born, I kept on with the medicine to build me up. About four months ago I became very nervous and rundown and suffered from other troubles which I knew Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable would relieve so I started taking it and now I feel fine again. Many of my friends could write a book on the good the Vegetable Compound has done them."—Mrs. W. Overmann.

DOLORES WINTERS

AMERICAN U. LETS BUILDING CONTRACT

First Unit of Residence for Men to Be Erected in Near Future.

WILL BE READY IN FALL

Contract for the first unit of the residence for men, or domitory, on the American University campus has been awarded to Samuel J. Prescott, of this city, and construction is expected to start within a few days.

This fact was announced last night by Dr. Lucius C. Clark, chancellor of the university, who said the trustees committee on buildings, grounds and real estate had let the contract and expects the building to be finished this summer. It will thus be ready for occupancy when school opens next fall.

The building which is now to go up will be only one unit of the larger structure, which probably will have eight units eventually. Ground will be broken soon. The structure will be of local stone, will be two stories in height, and have a slate roof. It will accommodate 40 men and will be fireproof throughout.

As it is to be only part of the eventual large structure, the architecture of this first unit will be exceedingly simple, but it will be of a nature fitting to the campus. The location is on the south side of the campus, facing north, not far from what will be Newark street, when it is cut through.

Action Is Started To Widen Streets

Commission Files Petitions Proposing Improvements of Five Thoroughfares.

The District Commissioners yesterday began proceedings for the widening of three streets and for the extension of two others. Two petitions embodying the proposal were filed through Corporation Counsel W. W. Bride and Assistant Corporation Counsel W. L. Fowler.

In one petition the Commissioners would condemn land for the extension of Fourteenth street, between Randolph and Michigan avenue northwest; for the extension of Taylor street west of Fourteenth street northeast, and for the widening of Michigan avenue between Thirteenth street and Thirteenth place northeast.

Nine parcels of land are enumerated in this group, the Friars of the Province of Most Holy Name, Inc., owning five of the parcels and the Franciscan Monastery owning one.

In the other petition the Commissioners seek to condemn land for the widening of Utah avenue, between Nebraska avenue and Rittenhouse street northwest and for the extension of Nebraska avenue at its intersection with Utah avenue. Six parcels of land are described in the petition.

Bell Resigns Post As Aid to Counsel

To Take Position on Legal Staff of Department of Justice.

Alexander Hamilton Bell, jr., yesterday tendered his resignation as assistant corporation counsel to William W. Bride, corporation counsel. The resignation is to take effect April 1.

Mr. Bell has been appointed to the legal staff of the Department of Justice at an increased salary. He will handle land condemnation cases for the department. He was, until recently, in charge of condemnation proceedings instituted by the District government. Since the resignation of Richmond B. Keech, a few weeks ago, to become people's counsel, Mr. Bell has been on trial cases for the District.

Mr. Bell was born December 22, 1901. He was appointed assistant corporation counsel on September 3, 1924. His successor has not been chosen and may not be for several days.

Dismissal of Bus Suit Is Indicated by Judge

Judge Nathan Cayton in Municipal Court yesterday indicated that he will dismiss a suit brought by the District of Columbia against the Nevin Bus Lines, in which the municipality seeks to collect $1,000 on charges that the buses of the company on five occasions failed to follow the routes mapped out by the Public Utilities Commission. The District asks $200 for each alleged violation.

After hearing considerable testimony and arguments by assistant corporation counsel for the District and Attorney Sefton Darr for the bus company, Judge Cayton stated he is satisfied with the evidence. While indicating that he will dismiss the suit, the judge stated he will consider the matter for a few days.

Two Men Are Arrested On Possession Charges

George Kapsaly, 47 years old, barber shop proprietor, and his assistant, Godfrey Rosebrandt, 60 years old, were arrested yesterday afternoon following a raid on their shop on Tenth street, near C, by First Precinct Detectives H. G. Wanamaker and A. D. Manfield. Kapsaly was charged with sale and possession, while Rosebrandt was booked for possessioff.

The detectives found four quarts of liquor under floor boards, they said. Bonds of $1,000 and $500 were set for Kapsaly and Rosebrandt, respectively.

BISHOP PERRY IS ELECTED HEAD OF EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Pennsylvania, from which he was graduated with the degree of A. B. in 1891.

Entering the Episcopal Theological Seminary at Cambridge, Mass., immediately afterward, he was graduated from that institution in 1895 with the degree of B. D. The same year he was ordained deacon by Bishop Lawrence, and one year later priest by the same authority.

Bishop Perry's first charge was as assistant at Christ Church, Springfield, Mass., where he served from 1895 until 1897. Following this he was successively rector of Christ Church, Fitchburg, Mass., 1897 to 1904, and of St. Paul's Church, New Haven, Conn., from 1904 until 1911. He was consecrated Bishop of Rhode Island on January 6, 1911.

Bishop Perry is just now conspicuous as chairman of the committee which at a February meeting of Episcopal Church's national council presented a plan for reorganization of the council and its various departments. This plan was unanimously adopted. It provides in part for the relieving of the presiding bishop of some of the strain attached to that office.

Bishop Perry has on several occasions taken an earnest stand for the laboring man in strikes and other labor difficulties in the New England mills.

He is said by his fellow churchmen to be a zealous advocate of Christian unity and was vice president and chairman of the executive committee of the Commission of the World Conference on Faith and Order which sponsored the world-wide meeting on church unity at Lausanna, Switzerland, in August, 1927.

Active in Educational Work.

He also is an active member of the department of religious education and social service of the national council of his church, as well as of the Commission on Church Music and the commission which has charge of the Army and Navy Chaplain Corps.

During the World War Bishop Perry was chief of Red Cross chaplains overseas.

Bishop Perry is a Phi Kappa Sigma and a member of the Society of Cincinnati. He was married on January 2, 1908, to Miss Edith Dean Weir, of New Haven.

Shortly after his election, Bishop Perry announced that he had appointed the Right Rev. Hugh Latimer Burleson, Bishop of South Dakota, as his assistant bishop, formally known as assessor.

The bishops later elected Bishop Reese as vice chairman of the House of Bishops. Then they passed a resolution introduced by the Right Rev. William T. Manning, D. D., Bishop of New York, asking that the house "utter its solemn protest against religious persecution in Russia, which shocks the moral sense of the civilized world, and call upon the clergy and people to lift up their prayers" for the victims.

Significance of Office.

The office of presiding bishop of the church in America, some of the delegates explained, is equal in the Anglican communion to the post of Archbishop of Canterbury in England. Previous to 925 the house did not elect its presiding bishop, but the office fell to the senior prelate.

Providence, R. I., March 26 (A.P.).—Bishop James DeWolf Perry, elected today presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in America, is a great-great nephew of Commodore Oliver H. Perry, hero of the battle of Lake Erie in 1812, and was himself chaplain of a volunteer infantry regiment during the Spanish-American War.

When in 1911 he became Episcopal Bishop of the Rhode Island Diocese, he took charge of a post for which his father once was proposed.

Cathedral Chapter Member.

The election of the Right Rev. James DeWolf Perry, D. D., Bishop of Rhode Island, as presiding bishop of the Episcopal Church in the United States is of special interest to the Diocese of Washington because Bishop Perry is a member of the Chapter of Washington Cathedral and has always displayed a keen interest in the welfare of that project.

At the election of presiding bishop held in Bethlehem Chapel on November 13, 1929, when the late Bishop Anderson was selected, Bishop Perry's name appeared on a number of ballots and he was regarded as a likely candidate for the post at that time until the compromise on Bishop Anderson was made.

Atlanta, Ga., March 26 (A.P.).—The upper South shivered today from chilling winds and saw prospects of freezing weather in portions of a number of States tonight. The cold wave struck Dixie last night and sent temperature sharply lower to rout a period of pleasant, springlike weather.

Frost Is Predicted.

Frost was predicted tonight in parts of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina. Fruit growers in several States expressed fear that budding fruit trees will suffer from the cold. Peach, plum and pear trees are in full bloom in many sections of the South as a result of recent mild temperatures.

C. F. von Herrmann, of the U. S. Weather Bureau here, said that high winds last night saved many sections from frost, but that the velocity of the winds was expected to diminish tonight. He predicted frost to the Georgia coast and expresed some apprehension over possible damage to fruit trees.

Snow fell in portions of Tennessee and Georgia last night and gale winds prevailed along the coast as far south as Hatteras in North Carolina.

Mercury Shows Slump.

The temperature dropped to 26 at Asheville, N. C., this morning. Louisville, Ky., reported 24; Memphis, Tenn., 34; Nashville, Tenn., 28; Birmingham, Ala., 34; New Orleans, 44; Vicksburg, Miss., 38; Atlanta, 34; Charleston, S. C., 44; Little Rock, Ark., 32; Miami, Fla., 58; Jacksonville, 44, and Raleigh, N. C., 38.

Von Herrman said the cold probably will last one more day, with the possibility of rain in the upper part of the South and fair weather in the lower portion.

Snow fell at Louisville this morning.

Two Added to Death List.

Gary, Ind., March 28 (A.P.).—The midwest snow storm added two names to its death roll today.

John Florentine, 55, collapsed and died in his wife's arms as they fought their way through the storm to their home. Henry Baldenow, 54, was killed by a train while cleaning off a grade crossing.

These tragedies topped a long list of misfortunes in the Calumet district. Twenty inches of snow fell the last 48 hours. The whole area is snowbound. All roads are impassable and most of the schools are closed.

It was still snowing tonight.

Snow Flurries Swirl About Capital Streets

Old Man Winter staged a strong comeback with snow flurries here yesterday by way of a reminder that he hasn't yet been vanquished by Stripling Spring. The flurries did not damage to the city's budding cherry trees.

The Weather Bureau expected freezing temperatures last night from the Middle West to Georgia and South Carolina, with little relief in sight before Friday or Saturday.

The highest temperature reached yesterday was 43 degrees, shortly after midnight Tuesday, and the lowest was 36 degrees, at 8 o'clock last night, though a slightly lower recording was expected before daylight.

A fresh wind of about 18 miles an hour was blowing last night. Fair and continued cold was the prediction for today.

Camp Lawton to Mark Its 30th Anniversary

Celebration of the thirtieth anniversary of its founding is scheduled tomorrow night for the Gen. Henry W. Lawton Camp of Spanish War Veterans at the auditorium of the Interior Department. Commander George J. McDermott is chairman of the general committee; Past Commander James E. Smith of the arrangements committee and Past Department Commander James G. Yaden will be master of ceremonies.

Brig. Gen. Edward L. King, Assistant Chief of Staff of the Army will deliver the principal address, "Personal Recollections of General Lawton." The United States Army Band orchestra will furnish music.

Saturday Half-Holidays For U.S. Workers Urged

A letter to President Hoover urging the adoption of the year-round half-holiday, written several months ago by Mrs. Margaret Hopkins Worrell, president of the League of the American Civil Service, was just made public yesterday.

"We believe the Government service will in no way be impaired, but will, in fact, gain by granting employes the Saturday half-holiday," the letter reads.

proved the Highway Bridge site with the understanding that Gravelly Point would be developed ultimately.

Elwood P. Morey, attorney for owners of the Chillum, Md., site, which was rejected by the airport commission, spoke against the Hoover-Washington site because of the fog and because of other alleged disadvantages.

James B. Horning, representing George D. Horning, told the subcommittee that the latter would have to move his loan esablishment near the bridge if the airport is established there.

George Topham's Will Is Filed for Probate

George Topham, former trunk manufacturer, who died March 20, directed, under the terms of his will filed yesterday for probate, that if his estate exceeds $25,000, a bequest of $500 is to be paid to the Masonic and Eastern Star Home.

The will devises the household effects to the widow and sets up a trust fund of the residuary estate after three daughters have been given legacies of $1,000 each. At Mrs. Topham's death the estate is to be divided among the daughters.

FOUR THEATERS GET ORDERS ON CURTAINS

POLI'S IS PASSED OVER

Four theaters were given notice yesterday that they must install fireproof proscenium curtains, required by existing regulations, before April 10. The notice was given by William W. Bride, corporation counsel, in letters sent the theaters at the direction of the District Commissioners. The theaters involved are the Strand, the Gayety, the Howard and the Lincoln.

Placing of the fireproof curtains at the edge of the stage to separate the body of the house occupied by the audience from any fire which might start on the stage is required in all theaters where stage shows are given. Moving picture theaters, which do not give stage shows, are not required to place the curtains. One large downtown movie house recently installed the required curtain, which had not been installed when the theater was built because stage shows were not then contemplated as a part of the program.

Poli's Theater is without the required safety curtain, but inasmuch as this theater is to be demolished in a few weeks and the necessary curtain would cost several thousands of dollars no action is to be taken immediately against that theater. The Belasco Theater also is without the curtain, but this has been closed up. The curtain will be required if the theater is reopened.

Fireproof moving picture screens have recently been installed in the moving picture theaters as a result of the insistence of Fire Chief George S. Watson. There was some question whether the theaters could find suitable fireproof screens which would work with the new talkie apparatus, but this difficulty was surmounted.

Grand Jury Indicts Two On Manslaughter Count

As the result of a collision between two automobiles last December 26, two men, said to have been occupants of one of the machines, were jointly indicted on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of the occupant of the other automobile.

The two men indicted are James A. McGowan and Robert E. Martz. The dead man was James E. Ward. According to the records in the case McGowan was driving an automobile belonging to Martz and in which the latter was a passenger at the time of the accident. The collision occurred at Sixth and K streets northwest.

$200,000 Paid by Shell For Northeast Station

The gasoline filling station at the southeast croner of Fourteenth street and Maryland avenue northeast, the largest in the Northeast section of the city and one of the three largest in Washington, has been purchased by Shell Eastern Petroleum Products Inc., from Rier Bros., for a consideration of $200,000.

The deal was negotiated by Theodore M. Judd with offices in the Colorado Building, and W. R. Pearce, with offices in the Chandler Building. These brokers have sold the same corporation a number of other large stations.

Fat Folks now not urged to Starve

Countless people now reduce without starving. You see them everywhere—slender, vigorous and youthful. They combated the cause of excess fat, which usually lies in an underactive gland.

Modern physicians, in treating obesity, feed the lacking substance. The chief factors they use are embodied in Marmola prescription tablets, prepared by a famous laboratory. So all may use this modern method at small cost.

For 22 years Marmola has held its high place as a remedy for fat. Users have told others about it, until millions of boxes have been taken. That is one great reason why excess fat is far less common now.

Try the method which has helped so many. In each box of Marmola you will find the formula, also the scientific reasons for all good results. Go now and learn how much new beauty, youth and vigor it can bring to you.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 a box. Any druggist who is out will gladly order for you.

Boy, 6, Goes to Hospital To Get Cigarette Cure

Memphis, Tenn., March 26 (A. P.).—Six-year-old Kenneth Azdell, of Hickman, Ky., came to a hospital here today to be cured of the cigarette habit. He has been rolling his own for three years.

When Kenneth was 3 he wanted to "smoke like daddy." Kenneth's father gave him a cigarette "to make him sick so he will never want another one."

But Kenneth didn't get sick. He got the habit. His father and mother tried to break it many times, but the lad would become ill when they took his "makings" away.

Doctors have not decided how they will treat the case.

Packing ExecutiveFound Killed by Side of Auto

Topeka, March 26 (A.P.).—Roy Kramer, 43, vice president of the Kaw Packing Co., was found dead early today near his automobile on a highway 6 miles east of here. There were two deep gashes on the man's head, apparently made by an ax or some other instrument.

First reports were that the packing company executive had been struck by a passing motor car, as the left front tire was flat and the axle had been raised on a jack. The coroner said the lights on the car were out, indicating the man was not working on the tire when he was struck. Approximately $4 was found in his pockets, and apparently no effort had been made to rob him.

Friendliness—Service—Prestige —are important banking assets

There are certain intangible assets of a bank that are not computable in dollars and cents. Consequently they do not appear in the figures of its balance sheet.

They are factors which characterize and control the dealings of a bank and make it something more than a mere depository or a place for the exchange of money.

When all the assets are combined—intangible with tangible—to perform a greater service, then a bank can truly function as a financial institution.

Underlying and determining the policies of the American Security and Trust Company is the culmination of its forty years of experience united with every modern and sound banking idea.

TARIFF SCHEMES IN THE HOUSE.

Threats of another tiresome rehearsal of tariff arguments are being heard from members of the House. Representative Garner, minority leader, has ambitions to form a House coalition to emulate the ignominious example of the Democratic-insurgent combination in the Senate. He feels that the jackasses in the popular chamber were not given sufficient opportunity to kick over the traces when the tariff bill was before the House. Now that the Senate has demonstrated what mischief this combination can do, Mr. Garner is anxious to hold up his end of the opposition.

There is an indication that certain Republicans from the agricultural States are joining in this movement. The disaffection which has so sorely afflicted the Senate throughout its consideration of the tariff may break out in isolated spots, but it is unlikely that the firm Republican majority in the House will be disturbed. Turncoats in the House do not have the opportunity to knife their party as the insurgents in the Senate have done.

The Democrats are demanding a separate vote on every schedule of the bill as amended by the Senate. They hope to compromise by securing a vote on some of the outstanding controversial items, particularly sugar, lumber, cement and brick. The House has previously voted on all these items, and there is nothing to indicate that a vote at the present time would change its previous position. The scheme to reopen debate is purely a political maneuver. The disgruntled element wants a chance to let off steam. Why should tariff revision be held up to please them?

Congress has been engaged in revising the tariff for a year. Every excuse for delay has been used up. Both the House and the Senate have expressed their will on every item. The different rates should be compromised as soon as possible, and that can be done only in conference. Let the bill go to conference immediately. The conferees can be depended upon to iron out the differences between the two houses and to strip the bill of its obnoxious provisions. The sooner this bill has President Hoover's signature the better it will be for the country.

WHAT DOES CANADA GAIN?

Premier Mackenzie King's bill, designed to prevent the issuance of clearance papers to liquor-laden vessels bound to the United States, passed through the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday afternoon. The measure now goes to the Senate, where the real battle is anticipated. Although the vote in the House was overwhelmingly in favor of the bill, there exists considerable opposition to it in the Dominion. This opposition is based largely on the fact that to make the measure effective Canada would have to assume an enforcement regime rivaling that of the United States. Not only would large appropriations be necessary for the enforcement service, but Canada would lose the revenues from the tax on the manufacture of liquor exported.

Earlier in the week, the smoldering opposition broke forth for a brief moment. Henri Bourassa, Nationalist, contended that the only justification for the bill was that a nation of 10,000,000 people could not with impunity resist the demands of a nation of 120,000,000 people. S. C. Robinson, Conservative, asserted that the United States was making only a half-hearted attempt to enforce prohibition, and objected to Canada "being sworn in as an auxiliary police force." "Canada," said Dr. R. J. Mannion, Conservative, "has entered into a one-sided bargain with the United States." C. H. Cahan declared that the bill was introduced to keep the United States from carrying out a threat to station 10,000 prohibition agents on the border. Its enactment, he continued, would force inspectors at Canadian ports to search ships from stem to stern and would subject Canadian ships suspected of having liquor aboard to the danger of "being treated by the United States Coast Guard with a ruthlessness not yet attained." It is Canada, he said, that will be forced to place between 5,000 and 10,000 men along the border. "This," he added, "would be a burden, responsibility and expense that this country has not the right to assume."

In answer to the opposition, Premier King did not attempt to deny the justice of the criticism, but was content to announce that the United States, at Canada's invitation, had agreed to negotiate a treaty to suppress the smuggling of general merchandise across the border. The full import of this announcement did not seem to be realized by the House, but in the Senate it bids fair to precipitate an outburst that may seriously jeopardize the bill's chances of enactment.

Comparatively, there is little smuggling of general merchandise from the United States to Canada and a great deal of smuggling from Canada to the United States. The general antismuggling treaty was suggested by the United States, and the consummation of such a treaty would be of far greater benefit to the United States than to Canada. In addition, inasmuch as the United States is interested almost exclusively in stemming the flow of Canadian liquor across the border, there is bound to be a feeling in the Canadian Senate that if Washington is given what she wants, namely, the regulation of liquor export, Canada will be left in a poor position to bargain for a satisfactory general antismuggling treaty.

As friendly acts of cooperation between two neighbor nations, the rum clearance bill and the general antismuggling treaty are noteworthy. The United States would be greatly indebted to Canada by the enactment of the bill and the negotiation of the treaty. But because the debt would be so great it is only natural to suppose that Canada has been promised or expects to be in a position to demand an adequate return. What could it be?

SHIPPING RIVALRY.

The Europa and the Bremen are mistresses of the North Atlantic. The dramatic record-breaking race of the Bremen was a matter of world-wide interest several months ago, and the dash of the Europa, in which she eclipsed the Bremen's best showing, has similarly stirred the imagination of all seafaring people. The achievement of these sister ships is the more remarkable in that they represent a merchant marine that has been built up since the war. The Bremen and the Europa are Germany's challenge of Great Britain on the peaceful seas.

Timed almost to coincide with the arrival of the Europa in the United States, the North German Lloyd Line announced the consummation of an agreement to merge with its ancient rival, the Hamburg-American Line. The new combine places the German group third in the world from the viewpoint of tonnage operated. With respect to the merger, the London Times remarks editorially: "The arrangement whereby the two companies have agreed to end their pre-war rivalry and enter upon a cooperative alliance instead of engaging in cut-throat competition must undoubtedly make them a very formidable combination. But some day the turn of the English lines will come again."

The White Star Line is at present revamping the plans for the Oceanic with which she is expected to challenge the supremacy of the new German ships. The Cunard Line is formulating building plans for a flagship to replace the Mauretania. The French, with the Ile de France, and the Italians with new motorships, are making their bids for North Atlantic trade.

Meanwhile, a new American merchant marine is being created. The United States Lines has prepared models and specifications for new vessels and other companies, in order to obtain mail contracts under the terms of the Jones-White act, are making plans for modern, high-speed vessels. Germany challenges with marvelous new vessels and a huge, competition-killing combine, and other nations, not excluding the United States, are preparing to meet the challenge.

MARYLAND'S TERCENTENARY.

Four years hence, on March 25, the 300th anniversary of the establishment of the principle of religious liberty in this country, and of the founding of Maryland, will be observed by that State. Some indication of the nation-wide interest likely to be shown at that time by Americans of all religious faiths was given at the meeting, in New York this week, designed to crystallize public opinion against attacks on religious and personal liberties, and to call attention to Maryland's forthcoming tercentenary.

On March 25, 1634, George Calvert's men landed from the Ark and the Dove and knelt in mass at a place they called St. Marys. Maryland Colony, established and owned by Catholics, was by no means an all-Catholic colony. Many Jews and exiled Puritans from Virginia were freely given asylum in Maryland. Even the colonists who sailed in the Ark and the Dove were predominantly Church of England folk. Lord Baltimore saw that his order to "treat the Protestants with as much mildness and favor as justice will require" was obeyed to the letter. In 1649, Catholics and Protestants stood side by side in the colonial assembly hall and unanimously passed the famous toleration act.

At St. Marys, Md., was laid the foundation of religious liberty in America. The idea of bringing out the significance of this event is eminently practical at this time; and when the bells of St. Marys toll four years hence they will ring out anew that for which not only Maryland, but the United States, is committed.

GRECIAN INDEPENDENCE.

Greece is celebrating the 100th anniversary of its independence. It was under the heel of the Turk from 1456 until 1830, and even at that date only a part of the Hellenic homeland was redeemed. Americans have little conception of the rigors of Asiatic rule as practiced by the Ottoman Empire upon Europeans under their sway. The Greeks were so ground down that there seemed to be no possibility of their resurgence as a nation. Only the ancient undying spirit of liberty was left to them; but with that they won.

The sympathies of liberty-loving peoples were with the Greeks. Americans ardently hoped for a restoration of Grecian independence. The sight of a great republic in the west, which had won its liberty against the strongest power in the world, doubtless encouraged the Greeks. But mainly they remembered their glorious past, and resolved to break their chains or die.

After trying a monarchy until 1925, Greece has finally become a republic, with the prospect of increasing stability. Turkey itself is now a republic, and the countries neighboring upon Greece are become more stable politically as the fitfulness following the war disappears. Italy's regime favors peaceful relations throughout the Balkans. The explosive elements that brought about the World War no longer exist.

America has welcomed many sons of Greece, and thousands of them are prosperous citizens. They are hardworking, ambitious, and law-abiding. They contribute a share of artistic genius to the American make-up. Their help and counsel, sent back to their relatives in the old country, establish sympathetic ties between the two republics. Now that the Hellenic nation is self-governing, the world hopes that its light will never be quenched, that under liberty of body and mind the Grecian people will again delight the world with beauty and eloquence.

WOMEN IN POLITICS.

Celebration of the tenth anniversary of the nineteenth amendment to the Constitution began this week, although the actual date falls in August. Women throughout the country will turn attention to the achievements of their sex since they were granted suffrage. They will find that the amendment has had no phenomenal results, but that women have been making steady progress in politics, business and the professions.

The revolution which was expected by so many feminist leaders during the campaign for suffrage has failed to materialize. The dire predictions of those zealots who opposed the movement now seem ridiculous. Many women have taken up the task of learning how things are done in politics. They are gradually assuming greater responsibilities in the conduct of the Government, but in general they are following the lead of the more experienced sex.

Thirteen women have served in the House of Representatives, and Rebecca Latimer Felton sat for a brief period in the Senate. Since the amendment was passed 149 women have been elected to State Legislatures. Wyoming and Texas have had women governors. Many women have served as mayors. Virtually every branch of public service is open to them. A number of the States have chosen feminine sheriffs and judges in the municipal courts. One woman is an associate justice in the United States Customs Court and another was recently appointed to the Board of Tax Appeals.

Most of these appointments and elections have turned on the basis of merit, as they should do. The most competent feminine leaders urge that women be elevated to high public places only when their qualifications warrant it. If this sensible policy is pursued women will no doubt make steady progress in political life. But only the fanatical feminists now expect them to constitute a party by themselves, bent upon establishing feminine rule.

IN THE HOUSE OF LORDS

London Times' Report of Debate in House of Lords, March 12.

Lord Redesdale asked whether his majesty's government was aware that very large sums of money were owing to British bondholders by certain States of the Federal Union of the United States of America; and whether, having regard to the heavy annual payments now being made by his majesty's government to the United States Government, his majesty's government would consider the advisability of representing this matter to the United States Government with a view to its early adjustment. He moved for papers. The total sum owing by the eight defaulting Southern States of the Union was, he said, £78,000,000. That was about one-twelfth of the sum which we owed in respect of war debt to the United States, and which we were at present paying with regularity, principal and interest, at the rate of £33,000,000 a year. Our payment would increase in 1933 to £38,000,000 a year. * * *

There was a great deal of feeling about these defaulting Southern States in the United States of America, and it might well be that the Federal Government would welcome an invitation from his majesty's government to reopen the whole question. A settlement of this question would raise the defaulting States from the level of Russia, which was the only other state at the present time which was a defaulter by repudiation and which was regarded by the United States as a sort of financial leper. It would also give the United States an opportunity of erasing from its history a painful and shameful page. Those were strong words, but they were not his own; they were the words of the late President Roosevelt and expressed a view shared at various times by many eminent statesmen of both parties in the United States.

The Earl of Limerick pointed out that, with compound interest, these repudiated debts must now amount to $1,000,000,000, not all of which was owing to British subjects. The wealth of Mississippi had been estimated at $2,500,000,000, and the wealth of all the eight defaulting States combined had been estimated at $27,500,000,000, or roughly six times the war debt which we owed to the United States. The ratio of taxation to national wealth in this country was more than double that in the United States. There was an inherent difference between default and repudiation. Default might be temporary; but repudiation was a denial of the sanctity of contract and was not creditable to any State which had the legal means of restitution and the financial means to redeem its debts. * * *

When the dove of peace was finding a somewhat precarious footing over the chamber where men of different nations were discussing naval disarmament the government might think it inopportune to raise this question, but he (Lord Limerick) thought that patience had its limits, and our patience was running out. He urged the government to take the first opportunity of making proper representations to the United States so that justice might at last be done.

Lord Banbury supported Lord Redesdale's motion. He said that there was no doubt that at the time this repudiation took place it was not occasioned by inability to pay, but the debtors, having got some one's else money, thought it a smart thing to refuse repayment.

Lord Somerleyton said it ought to be made known that there were many people inside and outside of that house who desired adjustment of the claims against the defaulting States.

Lord Bertie of Thame said that if his majesty's government could not come to terms with the Government of the United States, they ought to propose that the question be brought before the world court.

STRENGTH.

Be grateful in the morning for the day that lies before,
Be grateful in the evening that you still have strength in store.
What if you come a failure home, there's rest when you get in,
And those who keep their faith in you believe you're going to win.

The coward wears his failure long and lets them weigh him down,
And so with sullen eyes he goes forever through the town,
He thinks the gods have picked him out as one to trample low,
And he's a beaten man before his rival strikes a blow.

Be grateful for the dawning day and all that it may bring,
Don't carry yesterdays about like buttons on a string.
Press forward to the field once more, one victory's all you need.
You'll laugh at failures you have had the minute you succeed.

The fighting heart may some day win, the quitter never can,
There's many a battle turns upon the spirit of a man.

All Things Come to Him Who Waits —Including an Appetite.

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

His children seldom tasted candy, except at Christmas, and their natural appetite for sweets prompted occasional clandestine raids on the sugar barrel, despite parental threats and strappings.

Violence having failed, Ben stooped to trickery.

When a new barrel was brought to the kitchen, he called the youngsters from their work or play and pretended a vast generosity.

"I know you like sugar," said he, "and I want you to have all you can eat. Just help yourself until you are fed up, and then let it alone hereafter."

This last admonition was unnecessary, for a young appetite is innocent of discretion, and when the children were thoroughly satisfied and surfeited, their taste for sweets had been spoiled at very little expense.

It is the want of wisdom equal to Ben's that causes the "social unrest" of America.

Life has tricked us, as he tricked his children, and we sigh dismally in a land of abundance because the sugar barrel no longer has appeal.

There is only one first time to see the circus—only one first time to do anything—only one little store of thrills.

As the youth who dissipates in his teens burns out quickly and shortens the period of dissipation, so adults unrestrained by poverty or discretion quickly surfeit themselves with pleasure and lose the capacity to enjoy anything at all.

Their palates are dulled and life has the taste of ashes.

Perhaps such a condition is inevitable in a land where a generation of abundance so quickly follows a generation of want, but the bored and the listless can rescue themselves if they will.

The veteran smoker, unconsciously lighting and impatiently discarding uncounted cigarettes throughout the day, is making vain experiment to find one that will delight him as the first one did in the morning.

But that rare flavor isn't to be found by an unjaded taste—and in that truth is revealed the secret of enjoyable living.

Thoreau dieted his senses—deliberately denied himself to store up an appetite and collect interest on deferred pleasures.

That isn't a wholesome scheme, for it makes sensual enjoyment the end and aim of existence and degrades legitimate pleasure by making it a tool to intensify self-indulgence.

But the decent moderation and temperance that keep the edge of natural desire undulled afford the only protection from satiety and boredom.

It was too much exposure of feminine charms that gave modern swains the impudence to stop in front of the house and honk.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

DIARY OF AN UNDERGRADUATE.

Monday—Aroused early by pounding on door. Found delegation on hand to poll the dormitory on prohibition question. Voted for repeal. Took bath. Called from tub to answer telephone. Found editor of college paper taking telephone straw vote of students on Volstead act. Dressed and started for English class, which was delayed a half hour by professor polling students on dry law. Went to baseball field to try out for team in afternoon. Practice called off because of a poll to get views of all college athletes on prohibition.

Tuesday—Breakfasted at college dining hall an hour late. The head waiter took a straw vote to see how students felt on prohibition amendment. Tried to hurry to Greek, French and political economy classes, but was very much delayed by campus policemen, old clothes men, tabloid newspapermen and window cleaners who were getting the student opinion on prohibition. Still voting dry, but am beginning to weaken.

The dean suspended all afternoon classes in order to take official faculty poll of undergraduates on dry issue.

Wednesday—Awakened before daylight by crash of glass. Found intruder in room. He denied he was burglar and insisted he was polling university on prohibition. No classes today. Professors all helping to tabulate returns from yesterday's straw vote. Called on girl friend tonight. Rather annoying evening. Her old man insisted upon arguing with me over the question of student drinking.

Thursday—All classes suspended today in order to let the Evening Beagle take a poll of the entire undergraduate body on the question, "Do students drink as much as they used to, or does it only feel that way?" Campus congested with strange people who stop me to inquire about my personal habits, whether I drink much and, if so, whether rye, Scotch, gin or brandy. Went to Glee Club concert tonight. Delayed at door by a poll to determine how undergraduate music enthusiasts stand on prohibition. Voted for modification.

Friday—All college activities have now been abandoned pending completion of polls on prohibition by Literary Gazette, North American Review, Peoples World, American Pulse, Universal Thought, Straight Talk, Readers Guide, 3 college magazines and 46 newspapers and trade journals.

Am now voting definitely for repeal of dry law.

Saturday—Student body polled all day on dry issue by Mothers Club, Daughters of the American Revolution, Y. W. C. A. and Antisaloon League.

Sunday—Took books into deep woods to do a little studying without interruption. Inside of fifteen minutes was accosted by a woodchopper who, finding me a college student, said he was investigating question whether opium smoking was increasing or declining among college sophomores. I slew him with his own axe.

LINES FOR A DELAYED SPRING.

There's nothing like the gentle spring
When all the birds are mating;
When all the geese are on the wing—
And signs read "Public Skating."

These are the gentle days that mark
The near approach of summer—
And those not sliding in the park
Are phoning for the plumber.

The robin's piping in the dell;
He may be early, but he
Proclaims the end of winter's shell,
Which proves the poor bird's nutty.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

"Favorable Results" in Cancer Treatment, But Premature to Assume That a Cure Has Been Found.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Dr. Walter B. Coffey and Dr. John B. Humber, of San Francisco, recently made an interesting exposition of their cancer treatment before the senior class of St. Louis Medical School. The doctors brought out several important points, one of which is that they are very sorry for the publicity which has attended their work. What they wanted was at least another year devoted to experimental work before the result of their research was made known.

They do not claim to have discovered a cancer cure, as some of the publicity seems to indicate. They have treated approximately 1,300 patients, with "favorable results." The doctors do not wish to be the cause of an anticlimax. They will continue their research work; and if they discover a cure, they will gladly make their discovery known. It is premature to assume that a cure for cancer has been found. A. R. K.

Is a Straw Vote Fair? Yes, If It Goes Your Way.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: When the Literary Digest's straw vote on the presidential election indicated victory for the Republican party, which was also a dry victory, the members of the W. C. T. U. did not voice any claim of unfairness. Yet when the most recent Literary Digest straw vote on prohibition showed a majority in favor of repealing the eighteenth amendment or of modification of this amendment, the W. C. T. U. becomes uneasy and questions the fairness of the vote. The vote seems to me to be fair enough, and it indicates that the people of this country are beginning to realize that the eighteenth amendment can not be enforced, hence they are in favor of modification or repealment.

It certainly seems to make quite a difference whose dog is being kicked around. C. P. ROGERS.

Something Wrong With Educational System—"Cash Register Philosophy."

To the Editor of the Post—Sir: Why shouldn't our children grow up to be bigoted, intolerant men and women, when all progressive thought is absolutely taboo in our public schools?

Our children are given only a narrow, one-sided education because their instructors are obliged to shut their eyes to actual facts and conditions. Teachers must side-step all vital social, civic and economic problems.

If our boys and girls are simply encouraged to espouse a reactionary point of view and are taught to laud and revere the cash register philosophy of life, what can we expect of them as men and women?

Is it possible to gather figs from thistles?

Do roses grow in wheat patches?

Too Much Centralization of Industry.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: We have been centralizing too much into large industrial plants, causing unemployment. Mr. Ford has the correct idea. He buys his auto parts from 2,300 outside factories. This distributes labor and money and increases buying power. It is economically bad for the country to concentrate into one large plant all it needs. We have been overdoing this centralization that has closed thousands of small plants and caused our economic slump. Monopolies must recognize human needs or they will be regulated by laws.

WORKING MAN.

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 25.

Pick Out Your Choice of a Name for the Newly Discovered Star.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The little verse anent Massachusetts, home of the cod, gives eternal glory enough to the Lowells. Let the so-called baby planet be named for another more in need of glorification, but let the name be appropriate. Since the planet is so hard to see, why not call it Son-of-Wild-Jackass? Since it defied discovery through the centuries, why not call it Farm Relief? Its course has not been definitely charted; call it Smoot-Hawley. Or, since its discovery was generally reported on the front pages of newspapers, front pages today being what they are, why not call it Scandal? STAR GAZER.

Would Name New Planet After Percival Lowell, Its True Discoverer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: If any man ever deserved the honor of having a planet named after him it was Percival Lowell.

Mr. Lowell devoted the full length of his life and the gains of that life to his work. In demonstrating his theory by calculations of the finest kind he led others to verify his belief. In truth it is his discovery.

TRACKLESS TROLLEYS.

From St. Louis comes the report that the street car company there is going to install "trackless trolleys" on Vandeventer avenue. The item in the St. Louis paper, says the Cleveland Press, didn't give many details, but it did interest us very much.

It merely said that the trolleys would run on rubber tires like a bus, and have two trolley poles and two trolley wires, and that they operated cheaply and with great freedom of movement, being able either to hog the whole road or run along at the side.

Of course, we have no idea how they're going to work. They may be as no-account as the snow-loading machines the railway company and the city bought. Anyway, the very idead of a "trackless trolley" attracts us, and we'd pay at least7 cents (eight admissions for four bits) any time just to see one.

SENATE ASPIRANTS FAVOR DRY REPEAL

Bay State Pair, One G. O. P and Other a Democrat, Have Wet Planks.

MINISTER'S HAT IN RING

Boston, March 26 (A.P.).—Massachusetts tonight had two senatorial candidates seeking election on platforms calling for repeal of Federal prohibition, one a Democrat, State Representative Roland D. Sawyer, of Ware, a Congregationalist minister, and the other Eben S. Draper, of Hopedale, a former State senator and a Republican.

Draper announced his candidacy some time ago, but until today his stand on prohibition was undefined.

Last night, in announcing his candidacy, Mr. Sawyer placed himself on record unqualifiedly for repeal of prohibition and taxed Draper with being "evasive" on that issue.

Today Draper issued a statement that he would stand for election on an antiprohibition platform, "not unmindful of the fact that I shall probably lose the support of the fanatical drys and the backing of the political machine, but I will not seek office under false pretenses."

"I am a firm believer in the personal liberties and the individual rights of every American citizen," the statement said. True temperance has not been and can not be achieved through Federal prohibition. A law which does not command obedience or even respect is surely subject to improvement.

"Therefore, I am in favor of the repeal of the eighteenth amendment to make way for a more sane and satisfactory solution of this problem. Moreover, in order to register my opposition, I will vote to repeal the baby Volstead act (State enforcement act) if the question is on the ballot in November."

The only other candidate for the Republican nomination is former U. S. Senator William M. Butler, who has announced himself in favor of the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Sawyer remains the only Democrat in the field of announced candidates, although Marcus Coolidge of Fitchburg has been reported a potential Democratic entry.

LONE VICE CRUSADER IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

ing to Myers, proceeded to hack him with a hatchet.

He neglected to explain what violation of which code Myers might have violated, however, and apparently soon realized that he had made a mistake, whereupon Myers called the police. Detective J. F. Boxwell, of the Sixth Precinct, responded, and after hearing Myers' story called at Sizemore's furnished room on Sixth street near H street northwest.

He failed to find the crusader, but did find, he says, three gallon liquor jugs. The jugs were empty.

At any rate, Sizemore has not been heard from since, and no one at the Sixth street address could shed any light upon his whereabouts. The police are still watching for him.

For one thing, it is impossible to prosecute Fannie May Miller, 33 years old, colored, of Bells court northwest, whose arrest Sizemore caused on a liquor charge, until he appears in court as a witness. The attaches of the United States attorney's office who prosecute liquor cases wish he would realize that his charges against the woman are rather inconsequential unless he substantiates them in court.

The two men he had arrested for begging already have been released and the charges against them dropped because Sizemore failed to appear against them in court yesterday.

12 WEST VIRGINIANS DIE IN MINE BLAST

mines, representatives of the West Virginia department of mines and the United States Bureau of Mines at Pittsburgh. The blast occurred at 2 a. m., with only the small night crew of loaders in the mine. Two hundred workers are employed in the underground plant during the daytime.

The dead include J. H. Livingston, night foreman. Among the other casualties are four Negroes. Only four of the men who were killed leave families, the rest having been unmarried. Sisco Franco, trackman, is survived by the largest family, his widow and four children.

Officials of the West Virginia mining department said an investigation will be started, probably tomorrow. The belief was expressed that the workers in No. 9 heading struck a gas pocket and that it might have been ignited by a spark from a motor.

There were few persons gathered about the mine entrance to await word of the rescue efforts. Bitter cold weather kept the mining community inhabitants indoors, and those who did appear at the mine sought shelter in company buildings.

Two Czech Fliers Die in Crash.

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

Ah, ha, so here comes organized labor with a grievance against Judge Parker, recently nominated to the Supreme Court. The federation is against him because of a decision he wrote upholding the so-called "Yellow Dog" contract in the fight between the miners and the coal operators of West Virginia.

With that we are not concerned. The question arises, though, as to just which senator the federation expects to take up its fight. Does it expect Senator Borah, Senator La Follette, Senator Walsh, of Montana, or Senator Wheeler to do so?

Naturally, these would have been the men it would turn to in the past. They are recognized as the champions of labor in the Senate.

BUT surely now with this grievance the federation will not have the face to call upon any one of these men. Instead, it should wait until he comes back from London and call upon Senator David A. Reed, or maybe in the senator's absence, his colleague, Senator Grundy, might respond.

It is unbelievable that the federation should not call upon these new friends, these men whom it adopted during the tariff fight.

As to just what motivated labor in doing this we are not prepared to say, but the fact remains that during this fight it threw Senators Borah, La Follette, Walsh and Wheeler overboard, or to put in more aptly, it torpedoed them.

IT GAVE Senator Reed frequent statements to read on the Senate floor against these coalition senators with telling effect. One can imagine, of course, how embarrassing it was for a coalition senator to be interrupted in the middle of an argument that he was writing a tariff for labor and agriculture with a letter in the hands of Senator Reed from Mr. Matthew Woll, saying, in effect, that "Oh, no, Senator Reed has the labor idea."

And in the general picture of things, one has the impression that every time the coalition seems to be making a dent upon the public mind about unemployment, Mr. Woll issues a statement about communists, which gives the suggestion that the coalitionists are communists or something, of course.

* * * *

IT MAY be that it is just a coincidence when Mr. Woll appears in opposition to the coalition in the political arena, he seems wittingly or unwittingly to be assisting Mr. Reed and the administration forces. But it is a fact that he has not, in recent months, endeared himself to the coalition, to those members who have championed labor's cause in the past, who have given it coal investigations when it wanted them, who have taken up all of its grievances, in fact.

And it may well be now, that should Mr. Woll or any of his associates go up to the coalition senators with the complaint against Judge Parker, these senators would look surprised and say:

"Why Senator Reed is the man you want to see."

At least, that is the way it should be.

CANADA'S RUM CONTROL HELD FAILURE AT DRY HEARING

United States to give an account of the Canadian liquor situation, former Premier Drury related the various changes in liquor administration that have occurred in his country.

He pointed out that at no time had there been complete prohibition in the Dominion. The manufacture of spirits was not prohibited at the time when the laws were most strict.

It was important to an understanding of the situation, he said, to realize that each province of Canada had different laws for the regulation of retail sale and that the Dominion government limited its legislation to control of manufacturing and interprovince and foreign shipment.

Mr. Drury said he did not think the liquor question will continue as at present because of what he termed popular dissatisfaction and an increase of drinking in homes, hotel bedrooms and elsewhere, and the enormous growth of the annual liquor bill which, he said, last year totaled $192,000,000.

No Longer Man's Vice.

Liquor drinking, he added, is no longer a man's vice, but women and children are exposed to it, due, he said, to the system of Government control. The Canadian said that while the government liquor store system is supposed to control liquor, most Canadian provinces have "not really even a pretense at government control."

"It is government sale, pure and simple," he added.

Mr. Drury expressed the hope that the next time the Dominion government adopts prohibition it will abolish the manufacture of liquors as well as prohibiting transportation and retail sale.

Mr. Drury said the bill before the Canadian Parliament to prevent the legal exportation of liquor to the United States will be enacted. He said the measre is not only a favor to a friendly Nation to aid it in enforcing its own laws, but that it will rid the Canadian borders of an undesirable criminal element.

Today the judiciary committee is to meet in executive session to give consideration to several of the bills recommended by the Wickersham commission for further strengthening of law enforcement.

While the session was in progress yesterday a measure by Chairman Graham was introduced to authorize the printing of 10,000 extra copies of the present hearings.

Direct Vote on Rum Favored.

Mr. Drury placed himself on record as favoring a direct vote of the people on liquor policy, entirely separate from other political considerations. He said this had been the traditional method in Canada, largely because it was feared that if the issue were thrown in campaigns the liquor interests would gain a dangerous foothold in the political machinery.

During cross-examination the Canadian was asked by Representative La Guardia (Republican), New York, if government sale of liquor had not brought prosperity. The New Yorker read statistics showing a steady gain in Canadian postal savings during the period of government control.

"It is also a fact that roosters crow just before sunrise, but that is not why the sun rises," Mr. Drury replied, and Mr. La Guardia told him the remark "fits well in this record."

College Women Urged To Try for Federal Jobs

Miss Jessie Dell, United States Civil Service Commissioner, called upon college women to go into the Government service in a coast-to-coast radio speech last night over the National Broadcasting Co.'s system. Miss Dell said that there are branches of the Government which give an unusually wide field for research and the opportunity for original thinking.

"There are about 15,000 positions in the Federal service which ordinarily are filled by men and women of college training and which are subject to the civil service laws," Miss Dell said. "By reason of the changes which are constantly occurring, more than 1,000 vacancies in these positions occur each year. We need more applicants from among women who have the requisite qualifications for these positions."

INSURGENT MINERS DEFY LEWIS ORDER

Howat Faction Refuses to Obey Ruling to Hand Over Funds and Books.

CHARTER IS WITHDRAWN

Pittsburg, Kans., March 26 (A.P.).—Followers of Alexander Howat, chief of the insurgent faction of the United Mine Workers of America, will combat the effort launched in Indianapolis today by John L. Lewis, international president, to wrest the Kansas District from the insurgent ranks.

August Dorchy, district president, announced that the present executive board would refuse to hand over records and funds of the district provisional officers named by Mr. Lewis. He said any necessary legal steps would be taken to prevent the Lewis executives from seizing control.

"The present officers will continue to run the affairs of the district," said Dorchy. "The miners are the ones to say whether or not we vacate the office, because they are the ones who have to pay the bills."

Indianapolis, March 26 (A.P.).—John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America, today revoked the charter of District 14 of Kansas, effective immediately, and appointed provisional officers to take immediate charge.

The international union, in authorizing Mr. Lewis to revoke the Kansas charter and depose the officers, charged that Howat and the board members "acted in collusion" with other insurgents in inaugurating a dual movement in calling the convention at Springfield.

The action followed the expulsion yesterday of twenty members for their activities in connection with the Springfield convention. Most of these were from Illinois.

Mellon Frowns On Cochran Bill

25 Per Cent Bonus Payment Would Disrupt Program, He Says.

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Mellon advised the House ways and means committee yesterday that the Treasury Department disapproves the Cochran bill to provide for the immediate payment of 25 per cent of the face value of the World War veterans' bonus certificates, amounting to $635,000,000.

Representative Cochran (Democrat), Missouri, said in a statement that any hope the veterans might obtain the proposed 25 per cent payment was shattered by the Treasury Secretary's report on the measure.

In his letter Secretary Mellon said the Government either will have to borrow the money or increase taxes to make the payment, and that this would result in a "disruption of the orderly program upon which the United States Government is now proceeding."

Glove Duty Change Is Urged by France

Specific Levy Would Aid U. S. Industry, Edge Is Told at Luncheon.

Grenoble, France, March 26 (A.P.).—Walter E. Edge, American Ambassador, today came into direct contact with some of the problems he will have to solve in order to get a commercial treaty framed between the United States and France. Sixty-five per cent of the industrial activities of this city are concerned with American trade.

Lunching with men who make kid gloves for the women of America, he was told it would be agreeable to the glove trade if the duty were made specific instead of ad valorem. It was argued that the present system favors cheaper production and poor workmanship.

This latter factor, it was said, results in harming instead of protecting the American glove factories because the latter specialize in quantity rather than quality.

Warsaw, Poland, March 26 (A.P.).—Jean Pilsudski, brother of Marshal Pilsudski and a member of the government bloc in the coalition, today was asked to form a cabinet.

He accepted.

Student Dies of Hurts Received in Night Brawl

Raleigh, N. C., March 26 (A.P.).—James Miller, 18, of Freedom, Pa., who was to have entered North Carolina State College here last week at the beginning of the spring semester, was dead today as a result of injuries received in a midnight brawl, March 14.

The youth was struck on the head with a smoking stand after he and two State College students attempted to enter the home of a woman known as Miss Alice Stone. She was later identified as Mrs. Robert Lewis, who also occupied an apartment in the exclusive section near the governor's mansion. Seven persons, three of them women, are held for the coroner's inquest. Police are seeking Robert Lewis, husband of one of the women held.

Nutt Denies Candidacy As Treasury Secretary

Cleveland, March 26 (A.P.).—Joseph R. Nutt, treasurer of the Republican national committee, denied flatly today that he is under consideration for selection as Secretary of the United States Treasury or for chairman of the Republican national committee.

Ford Motor Official Is Accused in Fraud

San Antonio, Tex., March 26 (A.P.).—B. B. Roland, 47, former official of the Ford Motor Co. assembly plant at Houston, was under arrest here today and will be returned to Houston to face charges of receiving and concealing stolen property.

Officers said that between $30,000 and $100,000 worth of automobile parts had been stolen from the Houston plan during the last year. Eleven other men, they said, had been implicated in the thefts.

[COOKING SCHOOL ECHOES]

4 hurry-up hot breads

These four breakfast hot breads are all easy to prepare—for they are all variations of one simple recipe.

But, before you make them, remember for muffins and other hot breads to taste really good, all the ingredients must taste good, too. If, for example, one is not particular about the shortening, whatever strong flavor there may be in the fat itself will quite spoil the real, delicate muffin taste.

How, then, to be sure? Simple: taste your shortening.

You taste milk. You test eggs. Now, taste Crisco—then any other shortening. Then you'll understand why Crisco's own sweet, fresh flavor so improves the taste of your muffins, biscuits, cakes, pies, cookies and fried foods.

Virginia Sally Lunn

¾ cup Crisco
⅔ cup sugar
2 eggs (beaten)
1 teaspoon salt
⅔ cup milk
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten eggs, and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with milk to the first mixture. Bake in a Criscoed shallow pan in hot oven (400° F.) 20 to 25 minutes.

French Coffee Cake

Crisco's sweetness lets the full delicate flavor of this recipe assert itself. Make up Sally Lunn recipe. Divide batter into two round layer cake pans. Brush top lightly with melted Crisco, or dot with little pieces of Crisco. Mix together two tablespoons of sugar and one teaspoon of cinnamon, sprinkle over entire top, then scatter over this chopped nuts. Bake 15 to 20 minutes in hot oven (400° F.). Serves 6 to 8 persons.

Waffles

Follow the Sally Lunn recipe but separate the eggs, adding beaten yolks to batter and adding ¼ cup more milk. Just before baking add egg whites beaten stiff. (For crisper waffles simply cook longer.) This makes enough to serve 6 to 8 persons.

Golden Muffins

Follow recipe for Sally Lunn. Fill muffin tins two-thirds full of batter. Bake about 15 minutes in a hot oven (400° F.). This makes 15 to 18 muffins.

These recipes have been tested and approved by cooking authorities. You will get best results by using level measurements and the ingredients specified.

CRISCO was used in the Cooking School recently conducted by this paper

Mrs. Frances Northcross, in The Post Cooking School, made a point of modern methods in cooking. Naturally, then, she used Crisco, the modern shortening. Not only is Crisco easy to use; in addition, it helps you secure better, surer results.

Plans Shaping For Unveiling Of Monument

Mrs. John A. Hull Will Officiate at Rites in Ponca City.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WHEN the heroic monument to "The Pioneer Woman of America" is dedicated at Ponca City, Okla., on April 22, it will be unveiled by Mrs. John A. Hull, who, although she hails originally from Oklahoma, is now very definitely "of Washington."

It was presumably because of her early affiliations that this honor was conferred upon Mrs. Hull. She was Miss Norma Bowler and comes of a family which has had a prominent part in the development of Oklahoma. One of the handsomest and most charming women in Washington society, Mrs. Hull will inevitably contribute much to the pictorial aspect of the colorful ceremonies which have been arranged to mark the unveiling of the monument.

A double invitation to take part came to her by wire from Mr. W. J. Holloway, Governor of Oklahoma, and in a letter from Mr. E. W. Marland, of Ponca City, donor of the monument. Gov. Holloway is to speak at the unveiling ceremonies at which people from all over Oklahoma will gather, and the principal address will be made by another distinguished son of Oklahoma, Mr. Patrick J. Hurley, Secretary of War, who expects to make the trip to Ponca City by airplane.

The monument to "The Pioneer Woman of America," is the work of Mr. Bryant Baker, an Englishman by birth, but an American by adoption, who has won fame as a sculptor. Although he has many imaginative works to his credit, he is best known in Washington, perhaps, for his busts of Woodrow Wilson, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, President Hoover, Henry Cabot Lodge and other distinguished public men.

Mrs. Hull is the wife of Brig. Gen. John A. Hull, U. S. A., retired, former Judge Advocate General of the Army and now legal adviser to the Governor General of the Philippines, Mr. Dwight F. Davis. Gen. Hull started last week on his long journey to Manila. Mrs. Hull expects to join him in the Philippines in August.

Gen. Hull has had several tours of duty in Washington, which the Hulls regard as their permanent home, and, of course, they lived here all through Gen. Hull's service as Judge Advocate General.

Because of official mouring for former President Taft, plans for a reception at the Egyptian Legation to mark the anniversary of King Fuad of Egypt yesterday were given up and the anniversary was celebrated informally with a luncheon for members of the legation staff, at which the Charge d'Affaires, Mr. Ahmed Mamdouh Moursi, was host.

The dramatic committee of the Arts Club, Mr. J. Milnor Dorey, chairman; Mrs. Maud Howell Smith, vice chairman, has yielded to the demand of members, and consented to give a third performance on Friday evening of the three-act comedy, "Don," by Rudolf Besier. It was presented for the first time with great success in the club's new auditorium last night, and is to be repeated tonight.

Representative and Mrs. O. B. Burtness will entertain informally at dinner this evening at the Hotel Roosevelt.

Chilean Secretary Gets Word of Uncle's Death.

The First Secretary of the Chilean Embassy, Senor Don Oscar Blanco Viel, who was to have sailed today for Havana for a short pleasure trip, has canceled his trip because of the death of his uncle, Senor Ventura Blanco Viel, in Santiago. Senor Blanco Viel was an uncle of Senor Oscar Blanco Viel, and since the death of the latter's father has been his gardian. One of the most distinguished Conservative politicians in Chile, Senor Blanco Viel was known as an orattor and newspaper man. He served in the Chilean Congress and was successively minister of finance, of foreign relations and of war.

Milk and Sugar

YOU WOULDN'T try a rice pudding recipe that didn't call for these ingredients. You know by experience that the milk—whether fresh, evaporated or condensed—makes a combination with the rice and sugar that is palatable, satisfying and nourishing.

There are so many healthful desserts—puddings, custards and ice cream—that can be made of milk. Have them often and remember that you may use either canned milk or fresh with equally good results.

Desserts belong in the normal diet—even in reducing diets. A famous food scientist recommends a generous green salad and a sweet dessert for the person who wants to reduce without leaving the table hungry.

Aside from the sweetness sugar brings to a dessert, it is also an ideal flavor for essential foods. A dash of sugar to a pinch of salt makes vegetables much more palatable. Try this combination in cooking carrots, cabbage, turnips, spinach and peas. Most foods are more delicious and nourishing with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

When Food Sours

Sweeten the stomach—instantly

About two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

It is the quick method. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor, Charles H. Phillips, since 1875.

BILLY SUNDAY'S SON IS HELD IN CHICAGO

California Authorities Are to Seek Extradition on Two Charges.

DENIES NAME AT FIRST

Chicago, March 26 (A.P.).—George M. Sunday, 36, son of Billy Sunday, the evangelist, was held by police today for Los Angeles, Calif., authorities who telegraphed he was wanted there for bond forfeiture and a statutory charge.

Sunday was arrested on a downtown corner during the storm last night. In his pocket was found a telegram bearing his name. Police inquired whether he was a son of the evangelist, but Sunday then said he was Smith Leonard Johnson. An officer recognized him as Sunday, however, and today he admitted his identity.

No charges were placed against him here after the detective bureau received the request from Los Angeles that he be held for extradition papers, which were to be forwarded. Details of the charges were not known here.

Los Angeles, Calif., March 26 (A.P.).—Capt. J. B. Fox, of the sheriff's fugitive detail, said today efforts will be made to extradite George M. Sunday from Chicago for trial on a statutory charge here.

The complaint against Sunday was sworn to by his wife, Mrs. Harriett Sunday, on November 21, 1929. It names Mauryne La Salle, Hollywood, Calif., mannequin, with whom Sunday is said to have fled Los Angeles.

The charge was brought after Mrs. Sunday filed suit for divorce. Shortly after Sunday left here, Santa Cruz County (Calif.) authorities issued a complaint against him, charging automobile theft. Sunday was released under $500 bail there, but failed to return.

Coast-Bound Airplanes Land for El Paso Stop

El Paso, Tex., March 26 (A.P.).—Nineteen planes of the second bombardment group of the Army Air Corps arrived here today from Midland, Tex., for an overnight stop on the way to California from Langley Field, Va.

BEHIND THE SCENES

With NELSON B. BELL

THIS item probably will have to rattle around here at the top of the column until it catches the eye of some one whose memory harks back to an earlier generation in the picture houses to elicit any very great interest.

Anyhow, King Baggott, unseen in celluloid for nearly ten years, is coming back, but not as the two-fisted hero he was until 1919.

Mr. Baggott became a director then, and until 1927 he held the megaphone.

With the exception of one excursion into vaudeville, Mr. Baggott has been inactive for three years.

His "comeback" picture, a talkie, is "The Czar of Broadway." He plays the role of an elderly and portly broker. Through it he hopes to reestablish contacts that will lead him back into the directorial field.

Mr. Baggott has a son, King, jr., 17, for whom he holds movie aspirations. His father hopes to see him started on a movie career this summer.

When Mr. Baggott, jr., makes his bow he will join a growing list of "famous sons" that includes such names as Douglas Fairbanks, jr., William Collier, jr., Francis X. Bushman, jr., Phillips Holmes, son of Taylor; Junior Laemmle, son of Carl; Joseph Schildkraut, son of Rudolph, and Russell Gleason, son of James.

I should have known better than to run occasional reports here as to the progress being made along the fighting front in the battle being waged between William Fox and the army of creditors who have laid a box barrage around him these many weeks past. I might have known that something would happen. Yesterday morning it did.

In the form of an open letter to the stockholders of the Fox Film Corporation and the Fox Theaters Corporation, from Halsey, Stuart & Co., and a statement and affidavit from Winfield R. Sheehan, vice president and general manager of the Fox Film Corporation, there has come to my desk a 45-page, closely printed brochure which a cursory examination leads me to believe was not designed with any specific intention of cheering Mr. Fox on to victory!

Probably I should sit right down and read the thing through—leaping merrily over the tables of figures that no one but a high jumper could negotiate—but just now I am busy on a bootleg copy of "Lady Chatterly's Lover!"

The most important news, and the pleasantest to report, coming out of a brief telephone conversation with John J. Payette, general manager of the Warner Bros. interests in Washington and vicinity, is that Mr. and Mrs. Payette's baby daughter has just passed the crisis of a violent attack of pneumonia and is now on the high road to what it is hoped will be a speedy and complete recovery to perfect health.

It may be incidentally mentioned, also, that Jules Bledsoe, the celebrated Negro basso of "Show Boat" fame, will not appear in person at the Earle Theater next week, as originally announced, the engagement having been canceled. The next stage notable to appear in person on Thirteenth street, according to present plans, will be Eddie Dowling who will occupy the stage in the flesh the week of April 4, while the screen is being occupied by his shadow in "Blaze o' Glory."

The Annual Golf Tournament of the Capital's resident representatives of the motion picture industry will be held on Friday, April 25, at the Beaver Dam Country Club. The total cost per capita for those participating in the play, and the club house supplementaries that precede and follow it, will be seven bucks—the sum no doubt having been derived from the most popular number in the boys' favorite game! Nate Sauber, the well-known bridegroom, is chairman of the general committee on arrangements, in addition to being local manager for Universal.—(Adv.)

Next week's attractions in the cinemagogues, at time of writing, are announced as follows: Metropolitan, George Arliss and Alice Joyce, in "The Green Goddess;" Fox, Lenore Ulric, Charles Bickford and Kenneth MacKenna, in "South Sea Rose;" Palace, Ruth Chatterton and Frederic March, in "Sarah and Son;" RKO-Keith's, Richard Dix, in "Lovin' the Ladies;" Earle, Evelyn Brent and Clive Brook, in "Slightly Scarlet;" Columbia, Lawrence Tibbett, in "The Rogue Song," second week.

It should be borne in mind that the Metropolitan and Earle inaugurate their new bills tomorrow, Friday.

So this is Spring!

English Visitor Loses Wallet.

Clarence O. Becker, of London, England, who arrived here recently to make an economic survey of the steel industry in the United States, reported to police that his wallet containing $200 disappeared while he was sightseeing in the Capitol.

All your motor can do is to take the gasoline you give it and make the best of it . . .

That's why we'd rather leave the whole question of buying SHELL gasoline up to your motor . . . All we hope to do with this advertising is to give your motor a chance to try SHELL gasoline . . . If your motor likes SHELL gasoline, that settles it. If it doesn't—our advertising won't make the slightest difference . . . We could fill this page with resounding reasons why so many know that SHELL gasoline is better. But arguments won't pull a car up a hill in high . . . So we'd like to put it up to your motor—and we'll stand or fall on the outcome of the test . . . WASHINGTONIANS are coming in for their share of attention from "Amos 'n' Andy." Following the appearance of Robert H. Lucas, collector of internal revenue, who came into the sketch as "Brother Lucas, expert re-countant," Frank M. Russell, vice president of the NBC in charge of the Washington office, made his debut as "Brother Russell, a big calendar salesman from Denver."

Little Jean Russell, who recently underwent an operation in New York, while there received "Amos 'n' Andy" (in person) as her first visitors.

"My attention has been called to an item in The Post regarding the failure of certain stations to shut down during an SOS recently," writes A. H. McConegal, jr., engineer of Station WJSV. "Please be advised that WJSV, WOL, WBAL and WRVA are exempt from shutting down during distress calls, under a ruling of the Federal Radio Commission requiring only coastal stations operating below 1,000 kilocycles to shut down."

Alumni will be interested in the WRVA broadcast of the William and Mary College Glee Club tomorrow night at 10 o'clock in an hour's program.

THE presentation of the gold medal to Dr. Hugo Eckener by Dr. Gilbert H. Grosvenor, president of the National Geographic Society, tonight will not be broadcast.

"You got my goat about WGY not coming in good," writes William Brown, of 2140 Pennsylvania avenue northwest. "Why, I only had to touch volume a trifle and it was better than any local. I was on from 4 a. m. to around 6 a. m. Also at 4:10 I pulled in KFON, California, 1,250 kilocycles, with only 1,000 watts, playing dance music."

Our comment on WGY was that while some mornings, using 200,000 watts, it almost blew the roof off the place, there were others when, because of atmospheric conditions and despite the great power, notably the morning before the Taft burial, it could hardly be heard.

Graham McNamee is in the hospital with an infected eye.

SO freely is the claim made that a radio artist is, or has been, with the Metropolitan Opera Company that it doesn't mean much. However, it is different with Lucrezia Bori, Metropolitan soprano, who will be heard over WRC at 10 o'clock tonight.

"It looks," observes the Woodstock, Va., Times, "as though 'Hello World' Henderson, of Shreveport, La., is in danger of being Dill pickled."

How to Keep Well

By DR. W. A. EVANS

Indians and Cancer

AN investigation of cancer among North American Indians, made by Dr. B. J. Lee, throws some light on methods of cancer prevention among other peoples. It agrees with Dr. Hoffman and several others that cancer is found occasionally, but not often among full-blood Indians. When an Indian is found to have cancer—and this happens at long intervals—the probability is that the sick person will be found to be of mixed blood.

For the rareness of the disease among pure Indians some explanations are offered, though much remains unknown. First, Indians are secretive, they are not disposed to seek medical or surgical advice, and they move about and are not under continuous observation.

Second, they die young. The majority of them do not live long enough to reach the cancer age.

And then follow a group of suggested explanations, some of which other people may take notice of.

Cancer of the lips and tongue is rare among Indians. Three of the five causes of mouth cancer are not in great evidence among them. As compared with other peoples they are not heavy smokers. Venereal disease is rare among them. They have but little dental work done and few of them wear plates or have crowns or bridges. As a rule, their teeth are better than those of white people.

The women have few cancers of the breast. They nurse their babies for a long time and this helps to protect them against breast cancer. They are less liable to constipation and this helps to protect them against hemorrhoids. In turn, this serves to protect them from developing rectal troubles. Dr. Lee thinks the presence of pigment in the skin helps to protect them against skin cancer, which is often the result of wind and sun tanning. Possibly they are not subject to cancer of the stomach because of their foods and food habits.

The Indian is a light eater. His food is not eaten hot nor does he drink or eat iced foods. His meat is sun cured and requires a good deal of chewing. He puts but little salt on his food. He rarely gets any whisky to drink.

Jane Interprets the Mode

The smartest of smart street dresses this season will be navy blue and white (when not black and white) combinations. (Courtesy of Suzanne Talbot, Paris.)

Paris, March 26.

SHE loves a man, oh, a foot and a half shorter than she is, oh me, oh my! What shall she do, woe, woe, wail, wail, wail???

It would be funny, if it weren't so sad. What shall she do, she asked me, and I in my unoraclelike way, pondered the question and racked my brains for a suitable response, the while I kept one fringe of eyelash curved in the direction of my little Swiss wrist watch, which I dropped in the bathtub last night—because, droll though it may sound, this afternoon I have to meet boat train bringing as a passenger a man, oh, at least two heads shorter than I!

So, not being an oraclesm (or whatever a female oracle is), how can I advise the disconsolate lady who asked me what she should do-o-o-o-o about being in love with a nice boy who is so much shorter than she? For my only advice could be what I am at this moment myself practicing . . . forget it.

Simply don't treat him as though he were a child or just a midget of sorts straight from the circus or vaudeville. Don't bend down to him when you speak, or curve over him in the attitude of a eucalyptus tree over a mushroom—don't even bend your head when you speak to him, as this is not at all necessary and infuriating to a short man. Tell him that if he wants to bask in your tall and regal company he must have an extra inch of leather put on his heels—and don't laugh when you say it, because some of our most popular and heart-throbbing moving picture heroes do this very thing, and no one is the wiser because who, after all, is going to measure a man's heel?

You don't however, have to put yourself in a mirth-producing position by dancing with him, for instance. Don't just refuse to dance with him and fidget about it, but say "No, I will never dance with you because I am too tall a partner for you." That won't hurt half so much as repeated and uncomfortable refusals, which don't fool anybody anyway.

Well, now, in my unoraclelike way, I must chercez-me a taxi and go to the Gare Saint Lazare to meet that boat train. And he has the most beautiful brown eyes—'n . . . !

Of all the couturiers who feature navy blue and white, Suzanne Talbot seems to superfeature it, as it were. She shows navy blue and white in combination, that is to say, in little mixtures, prints and things, and mostly white polka dots on a ground of navy blue. Also, she likes navy blue just touched with white, as well as collars and cuffs, blouses, &c.

Her suit that I sketched for you today had a little bit of both—it was navy blue and white mixture, and then it had a collar effect of white pique attached at the back, white pique cuffs, and a very attractive blouse of the pique with incrustation showing the design of the weave going in opposite directions. Nice?

First you buy a felt hat shape, 'n then you cut off the brim, 'n then you put the brim on your gloves, 'n then you make an awfully smart bag out of the crown of that hat shape—no fooling, you will adore the jeaflet! Better get busy with your stamped, self-addressed envelope right now, 'n send it to the Dare Department of The Washington Post.

Then, you know, only in the Sunday Post, in Washington, can you find the weekly Dare fashion letter. It is mighty interesting, always.

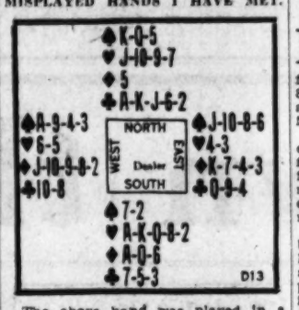
WORK'S BRIDGE

MISPLAYED HANDS I HAVE MET.



The above hand was played in a game of contract. South bid two Hearts. West passed and North jumped to six Hearts.

If it had been Auction, South would have bid one Heart and would have obtained the contract without being overcalled.

West led the Jack of Diamonds, which was most satisfactory to Declarer, as it was up to his Ace-Queen. Winning the trick, South exhausted the adverse trumps in two rounds and next tried the Club finesse. East won and, it being his only chance to defeat the slam contract, led a Spade, which was won with West's Ace, and South was set one trick.

The Correct Play.

Declarer was right in exhausting the adverse trumps after winning the first trick. He then could see two chances for his contract; one, that the Queen of Clubs was held by West and the other that the Ace of Spades was held by West. With proper play and either of these high cards in the West hand, Declarer would make his contract; but if the Club finesse be tried first and fail, the result will be fatal, as the adversaries obviously would win the slam-saving trick with their Spade Ace.

If, however, South should lead a Spade to trick 4, he will make his slam if West have the Ace, whether he play it on that trick or duck. With the Ace played second hand, it is obvious that South would get a Club discard; if West play small, North would win and put South in with a trump for a second Spade lead. If East have the Spade Ace, the Club discard can not be obtained, but the chance afforded by the Club finesse would remain open.

What Today Means to You

"ARIES."

IF March 27 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8 a. m. to 9:45 a. m., from 12:30 p. m. to 2 p. m. and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 10 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. and from 10:30 p. m. to midnight.

A spirit of dissatisfaction will be engendered by the astrological influences on this date, and too many faulty words will be spoken and too many dark thoughts will remain hidden for much happiness. Hostility surrounds you—be careful and tactful!

Children born on this March 27 will be thoroughly trustworthy and reliable, and will possess much latent ability. They will never make any pretense of liking people who do not interest them. They will be secretive and self-contained, and will never violate a confidence.

You possess one fault which often works to your detriment—you take things and people too much for granted. You are inclined to think that the world owes you a living and happiness without full payment on your part and it is a truism that what we fail to appreciate grows out of our lives and goes where it will be better appreciated. Your appreciation is too often unexpressed by either word or action, although down deep in your heart you are grateful, although you do not realize it until too late.

As a creature of moods, you are happy one day and miserable the next, so changeable that others never know in what frame of mind they will find you at any time. You can not be approached with any degree of confidence because one can not depend upon your mental barometer which, like the weather, is subject to violent variations. It is up to you to conquer your bad "spells."

You like change of scene and environment. New faces and new places stimulate you, cheer you and temporarily bring out the best that is in you. Work of a too confining and restricting nature bores and irritates you. Your temperament to a large degree must be "babied." You have a fair degree of originality and you have creative ability. It is not probable that you will take proper care of your health until you hear nature's warning.

Successful people born March 27:
1—Louis XVIII.
2—M. Brainard Lyman—Noted preacher.
3—Genevieve Ward—Actress.
4—Adolphus W. Greely—Arctic explorer.
5—Henry S. Carhart—Electrician.

PRISONERS QUIETED AFTER MENU MUTINY

DEMAND "FRIED MEAT"

Jefferson City, Mo., March 26 (A.P.).—Rebelling against "Irish stew" and demanding "fried meat" for their lunch, approximately 750 of the 4,000 convicts in the Missouri Penitentiary mutinied for two hours this afternoon in the prison dining hall. They finally were quieted without violence after Warden Leslie Rudolph promised to improve the menu if there was anything wrong.

Subsequent investigation by Warden Rudolph brought an announcement that the meal "probably was not what it should have been" and that the "potatoes in the stew were slightly raw."

Two hours after the flare-up the same 750 prisoners returned in orderly manner to the dining room and without further objection quietly ate the scheduled evening meal consisting only of stewed prunes, bread, syrup and coffee.

The prison was quiet tonight with guards vigilant to meet any emergency, although no further trouble was anticipated by prison officials.

The spontaneous outbreak, which began at the noon hour and continued until 2:30 p. m. was not an organized revolt, according to the warden, who said there apparently were no ring leaders.

Addressing the convicts, the warden said the prison board would consider any complaints about food. He said that the officials had received no complaints in months and that "if the meals are not right, they will be made right."

Warden Rudolph and four members of the prison board were conferring with architects on a proposed new $750,000 intermediate reformatory when the trouble started. The new institution is to house young and unhardened convicts and relieve congestion in the badly overcrowded penitentiary which was designed to accommodate about 2,600.

None of the other more than 3,000 prisoners in the prison participated in the demonstration. Most of them were at work in the shops at the time.

Walter Brownley Will Leaves All to Widow

Walter Brownley, candy manufacturer who died March 20, left his entire estate to his wife, Mrs. Emma Brownley, according to his will, which was filed for probate yesterday in District Supreme Court. No schedule of the value of the estate was filed.

NEW SMITH CHARGES TO BE INVESTIGATED have resigned since the indictment or had resigned prior thereto.

Those under indictment are Representative Frederick N. Zihlman (Republican), of Maryland, chairman of the House District committee; Daniel R. Crissinger, former comptroller of the currrency; G. Bryan Pitts, C. Elbert Anadale and Samuel J. Henry, Jr. All have filed pleas in abatement to the indictment, challenging the validity of the indictment on the ground that the grand jury was illegally constituted.

Mr. Dodds said the new investigation was in no ways designed to offset the pleas in abatement by returning a new indictment by a new grand jury.

Individuals who have been summoned to appear April 7 are:

J. R. Matthews, a porter at the Annapolis Hotel; Mrs. Vernon Rouse, an employe of the Chase Securities Co.; H. G. Giovanetti, the Boulevard Apartments; Charles E. Arthur Clifton Hall, colored, was sentenced by Judge Isaac R. Hitt in Police Court yesterday to serve 540 days in jail on seven petit larceny charges growing out of thefts of pocketbooks from office buildings. Hall pleaded guilty to all the charges.

Inventor Paroled After Prison Term

Willard Twombly's Wife Paid to Extradite Him for Bigamy.

Jackson, Mich., March 26 (A.P.).—Willard Irving Osgood Twombly, one time wealthy New York inventor and engineer, whose wife had him arrested in Los Angeles and financed his extradition to Michigan to face a bigamy charge, was paroled from the State prison here today to go into business manufacturing numerous inventions perfected in prison. Twombly denied the bigamy charge but pleaded guilty to misconduct with a young woman and served eighteen months of a six months to three years sentence.

He was reputed to have made a fortune from a submarine device sold to the British government during the World War and was credited with some 200 other inventions giving him an income of $100,000 a year.

At one time when he was eligible for parole Mrs. Twombly came from her White Plains home, and took up her residence on Twombly's $85,000 estate near Niles, Mich. Later she obtained a divorce but continued to oppose his release until a bond of $21,000 had been posted to insure payments of $75 a month for the support of a minor daughter.

Down the Last Lap

IN THE GREAT POST

$20,000

Opportunity Campaign

Only ten more days remain in which to secure the votes that will entitle twenty-eight fortunate candidates to a brand-new automobile or radio. The last club and special gold offer is ended, no more candidates can be accepted—from now until the close of the campaign every candidate is on an equal vote-getting footing—the prizes will go to the most energetic men and women who use these last few days for an intensive drive for new subscriptions and second payments.

12 Automobiles or 16 Radios

Below appears the final vote schedule effective at 9 A. M. this morning and until the end of the contest. All subscriptions turned in within these next ten days will receive votes according to this scale, which has been compiled in accordance with the original announcement of the campaign on January 12. It is positive and conclusive and will not change. Study this scale carefully. Note the tremendous vote value of new subscriptions now. It's the last chance and the one sure way to victory and a new automobile. This final period is the decisive one in determining the winners. There is no time to hesitate—what you intend to do must be done NOW.

Final List of Vote Standing Will Be Published Sunday, March 30.

Rules and Regulations
Governing Final Period of Campaign

As a matter of caution, and to guard against the possibility of loss to candidates through misunderstanding during these last days of the campaign, final instructions are herewith appended, which should be observed. All candidates, especially those who live in the outside districts, should read and weigh every line carefully.

(1) All remittances mailed from now on should be mailed special delivery to insure their reaching us in time. If you live outside of Washington and intend to mail subscriptions take the precaution to find out what time your postoffice closes, also obtain all possible information as to train service on the railroad which will carry your mail to the campaign office the last day of the campaign, April 5.

(2) You are allowed the privilege of mailing your subscriptions up to Saturday, April 5, 9 p. m. These subscriptions must reach the campaign office by Tuesday noon, April 8, and show a postmark of having been mailed on or before 9 p. m., April 5. The Washington Post will not be responsible for any mail, even though properly postmarked, which fails to arrive within the specified time.

(3) All remittances should be carefully addressed to the Campaign Manager, Washington Post, Washington, D. C. This will assure absolute accuracy and will prevent any of them from going astray.

(4) Examine your official voting ballots carefully and see that the correct number of votes have been issued on same. Pay particular attention to "second payments" and be sure that the proper votes have been issued. If there are any corrections notify the Campaign Manager in person or in writing and proper corrections will be made. The Campaign Department will not be responsible for clerical errors unless notification is given, after which correction will be made.

(5) UNDER NO CONDITION WILL VOTES BE TRANSFERRED FROM ONE CANDIDATE TO ANOTHER. THIS IS AN ABSOLUTE RULE, AND WILL BE STRICTLY ENFORCED.

(6) Be sure and mark your subscriptions properly, Old or New. Be sure they are marked correctly. Every subscription is verified and switching will only result in regret and disappointment.

(7) "Second payments" must be marked as such on the remittance sheet which is sent to the Campaign Department. Also give the amount of the first payment and the name of the candidate obtaining the first payment, if other than yourself.

(8) All remittances sent in after Monday, March 31, must be either postal money order, express money order, certified checks or drafts, excepting the individual checks of subscribers.

(9) Absolutely no subscription money will be refunded. If you don't receive prompt acknowledgment of remittances you send in during the last few days of the campaign notify the Campaign Department immediately.

(10) Only bona fide subscriptions will be accepted. No sums of money will be accepted, the names of subscribers to be supplied later. All remittances should be accompanied by the usual remittance sheets, properly filled out with the amounts.

(11) On the last day of the campaign the campaign staff will be unable to serve any contestant in any way other than by answering questions pertaining to subscriptions, second payments, &c. Contestants must have their subscriptions properly listed on remittance sheets, taking care that these sheets are properly balanced in relation to the amount of money necessary to cover subscriptions listed. Contestants will then seal their final remittances in envelopes provided for that purpose, personally dropping them in sealed and locked ballot box. Thus no one but the candidate in person will know the amount of final remittances until the auditors break the seal and start the final count.

The Sealed Ballot Box

The ballot box will be locked and sealed and the key placed in the vaults of The Washington Post, where it will remain until called for by the official judges at 9 P. M. on April 5. The auditors will be later named and after securing the key they will open the box and make the final count. Remittance sheets must be correctly balanced by 9 P. M., on April 5, or at least be within the campaign office at that time. There is positively no advantage in holding back subscriptions; send them in at once and receive your ballots.

FINAL VOTE SCALE

The final vote scale tabulated in accordance with the original announcement of the campaign, is in effect until the close; remittance sheets should be marked accordingly.

RIGHT TO FIGHT WILL OF MAGNATE UPHELD

Woman Claiming to Be Wife of Erlanger Lived With Him, Court Is Told.

OWNED WEDDING RING

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—Charlotte L. Fiscal, who as an actress some years ago appeared on the stage as Charlotte Leslie, and who is claiming a widow's share of the estate of the late A. L. Erlanger, theater magnate, has the right to contest Erlanger's will, Surrogate James A. Foley ruled today.

Although Erlanger stated specifically in his will that he was unmarried and did not mention at all the woman who says she is his widow, she retained a lawyer immediately after his death a few weeks ago, and after the filing of the will started action to contest it.

Mitchell L. Erlanger, former Supreme Court justice, brother of the theater man, and the other heirs objected to the petition by which she sought to stop probae of the will. Surrogate Foley overruled them today.

Existence of a Widow Denied.

At the time of Erlanger's death, on March 8, Max D. Steuer, one of New York's best-known lawyers, announced he had been retained by "Mrs. Erlanger" and that "not a jury in this land would fail to sustain her claim."

In reply, Judge Erlanger said, simply: "There is no Mrs. Erlanger."

Since then, until today, the woman who claims a widow's share in the $75,000,000 Erlanger estate has maintained an inscrutable silence.

Today Mr. Steuer told the surrogate that since 1920 Charlotte Fiscal, who had been known on the stage as Charlotte Leslie, and Erlanger had lived together as man and wife and that since 1924 she had worn a $2,000 wedding ring purchased from one of Fifth avenue's most exclusive jewelers.

Divorce Balked Marriage.

They had never married, Mr. Steuer said, because Erlanger had been told by his attorneys that the terms of a divorce obtained by his wife some years before prohibited his remarrying.

In 1920, Mr. Steuer said, his client and Erlanger established a home on West End avenue. They entertained there as man and wife and were known in the neighborhood as "Mr. and Mrs. Erlanger," he said.

"In the last months of his life, after he was first confined to a wheel chair and then to his bed, my client was the only person Mr. Erlanger would allow to come near him," said Mr. Steuer, "and she was the only one allowed to bring him food. He finally died in her arms."

In 1929, Mr. Steuer said, his client and Erlanger went to Europe on the liner Augustus and returned on the Berengaria, appearing on both passenger lists as "Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Erlanger."

Miami Convicts Three In Gaming Aftermath

Miami, Fla., March 26 (A.P.) — Echoes of Miami's winter upheaval over gambling were heard here today with the conviction of three men in Municipal Court on charges of operating gambling houses and with the arrest of another under accusation of maintaining a horse racing booking agency.

Charlie Freed, one of those held for operating a house, was fined $2,500. J. C. Perkins and Frank Cooper, arrested Monday in a raid, pleaded guilty to operating a house and possession of gambling devices, and were fined $50 each. Henry Palazzalo was arrested last night when police raided what they said was a booking agency. His trial was pending today.

Snow Halts 22 Planes On Hop to California

Selfridge Field, Mount Clemens, Mich., March 26 (A.P.).—Twenty-two pursuit planes that took off here this morning for Rantoul, Ill., en route to Sacramento, Calif., were forced back by heavy snow and a strong head wind. The group, in command of Maj. Ralph Royce, got as far as Far Ypsilanti before deciding to turn back.

One of two big transport planes that left earlier for Rantoul landed at Fort Wayne, Ind., Maj. Royce said. The other one has not yet reported. "The snow was so heavy we could not see the ground," Maj. Royce explained, he said another attempt will be made tomorrow.

French Aviation Head Starts U. S. Air Tour

Mexico City, March 26 (A.P.).—Count Henri de la Vaulx, veteran French aeronaut and now head of the International Aeronautical Association, left Mexico City this morning for El Paso, beginning an air tour of the United States. A crowd of admirers, air officials and Government members was present to bid him farewell.

The count intends to leave El Paso tomorrow for Los Angeles, remaining until Friday. He will go to San Francisco the next day and to Salt Lake City on Monday. He expects to arrive in New York about April 10, after which he will fly to Boston and then to Canada.

My, how you have CHANGED!

Yes, Gibson Girl, we've changed quite a bit! But that's because Fashion herself has changed so remarkably since your day. Just look, at The Hecht Co. now, through the Fashion-minded eyes of Miss 1930.

You'll be shocked . . . but don't faint, it's not modern. That little all-in-one shop you used to visit in our store in 1897 has grown into eight individual, full fledged fashion shops. And what's more, we'll have you know, today's price doesn't measure fashion, because you're just as likely to find a cap sleeve in a house dress as in a Parisian copy. But come, see how Fashion has made The Hecht Co. known as the Fashion Store of Washington.

Any COLD

That cold may lead to something serious, if neglected. The time to do something for it is now. Don't wait until it develops into bronchitis. Take two or three tablets of Bayer Aspirin as soon as you feel a cold coming on. Or as soon as possible after it starts. Bayer Aspirin will head off or relieve the aching and feverish feeling—will stop the headache. And if your throat is affected, dissolve two or three tablets in a quarter-glassful of warm water, and gargle. This quickly soothes a sore throat and reduces inflammation and infection. Read proven directions for neuralgia, for rheumatism and other aches and pains. Genuine Bayer Aspirin is harmless to the heart.

WHIRLWINDS BEAT STEWART FIVE IN TOURNEY UPSET

Griffith Tells Of Offers to Goslin

Proffered Bonus But Did Not Name a Specific Sum.

Reiterates Club Will Not Yield to Holdout in Salary Row.

By FRANK H. YOUNG
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 26. President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, who for some time has refused to discuss his salary controversy with Outfielder Goose Goslin or to allow himself to be quoted in any manner, today broke his silence.

Following the issuance this morning of a formal statement denying that the player ever failed to get any bonus he ever earned and detailing his efforts, all of which Goslin has ignored, to sign the outfielder under salary conditions fair to both sides, the Nats' owner tonight gave out for publication a copy of a letter he sent Goslin under date of March 11.

This letter shows that the player's alleged statement that he has not received any bonus proposition along with the $10,000 straight salary offer is not in accordance with facts. While it is true that the bonus offer was not actually included in the contract sent the player for signature, it is just as binding in its supplementary form, and there is no question but what Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw Mountain Landis would so rule if the matter were submitted to him.

Always Intended to Give Bonus.

Griffith's letter in question follows:

"For the reason that some of the newspapermen thought I had sent you a contract with a bonus clause attached I desire to clarify the situation both to them and yourself. It has been my intention all along to give you a straight contract for $10,000 and for you to leave it up to me to give you a bonus for whatever amount above your contract that your work for the season warrants. This could go on up to your previous season's salary in the event you played ball up to your standard previous to 1928.

"I am giving you this information because I don't want you to have any doubt in your mind as to the amount you have an opportunity to earn. I also want you to know that I harbor no ill feelings toward you for anything that might have been said and hope that you will decide to accept terms and report to the club."

Goslin's Next Move, Club Asserts.

Following the delivery of copies of this letter to the scribes, Griffith again drew back in his shell with the statement that he would have nothing more to say regarding the Goslin matter and that whether or not the fly chaser plays ball this season is up to the player, as the club will not yield an inch in the matter of salary.

However, if Goslin merely desires that the bonus proposition be included in the actual contract, the chances are that this request would be complied with, while it is more than likely that President Griffith would be willing to be more specific in outlining how this bonus could be earned.

In this morning's formal statement, Griffith states: "In answer to this communication (one in which the 1930 contract was sent the player), I received a short letter from him (Goslin), the contents of which indicated that he had something else in his mind preventing him from discussing terms besides his objection to my offer."

Goslin-Johnson Feud Again Inferred.

This, according to rumors which traveled around the Biloxi camp, was by inference at least, confirmation of the statement credited Goslin and which he has since denied, to the effect that he would not play ball another season under Manager Walter Johnson. Because of the distance separating Griffith and Goslin, alleged statements coming from each camp are apt to have been garbled.

CENTRAL SHOOTERS CHOSEN.

The team which will attempt to secure for Central the national shooting trophy for the public high schools has been chosen. They are Capt. William Green, John Ludlum, Oscar Siegel, Alonzo Thomas, Leon Commerford, Noel Castle, Harry Watson and Charles Potter.

STATEMENT BY GRIFFITH IN GOSLIN SALARY DISPUTE

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 26. A statement which he said would clarify misleading reports concerning his salary controversy with Goose Goslin, Washington holdout, was issued by President Clark Griffith, of the Nationals, today. It follows:

"First, 'Goose' Goslin never earned any bonus with the Washington Club that he did not get. It is hard for me to believe that Goslin made such a statement as reported.

"Second, Goslin's salary has never exceeded the sum of $16,000, although on occasion it has been printed as more.

"In regard to salary for this season, the Washington Club has only asked Goslin for service and that he earn the money he gets and live up to the rules and regulations of his contract and his club. In fact, the Washington Club has left it open to Goslin to earn the same amount that he received last year in the event he plays ball up to the standard which entitled him to his big salary.

No Question of Economy.

"There is no question of economy in this matter. All we want is value received for our money, and we would rather pay Goslin $16,000 than $10,000, but he has got to show that he can earn it before he gets it.

"To show that the Washington Club has made every effort to arrange terms with Goslin, I wish to direct attention to the fact that before sending Goslin any contract at all I wrote him a letter telling him that I had certain ideas in my mind regarding his contract for this season and would like to talk matters over personally with him and asked him to come to Washington at my expense to do so. After waiting two or three weeks without hearing from him I wrote him again, telling him I was sorry he could not see his way clear to come to Washington to see me and that it would now be necessary for me to outline to him in this letter the ideas I had in mind regarding his contract, which I did, and inclosed him a contract in accordance with same.

Goslin Not Prepared To Discuss Terms.

"In answer to this communication I received a short letter from him, the contents of which indicated that he had something else in his mind preventing him from discussing terms besides his objection to my offer.

"I wrote Goslin again, telling him that I would leave for the South on a certain date and asked him if it were not possible for him to come to Washington to talk matters over with me before I left. I received no reply to this letter.

"My departure from the city was postponed for a week, and I again wrote Goslin that I would be in town a week longer and would like him to come to Washington to see me. I received no answer to this letter.

"I wrote Goslin twice after arriving at Biloxi, without any reply.

"The Washington Club, as you can easily perceive, has made every effort to get Goslin to talk business, and while we would like to have him on the team we will not endeavor to open negotiations unless first hearing from him.

"If Goslin is desirous of playing ball, it is up to him."

Bob Shawkey Is Satisfied With Club

Pleased by Condition of Hoyt, Pennock as Camp Is Broken.

Determined to Start Cooke and Chapman on Opening Day.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 26. (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Conndent that he has a ball club which possesses enough batting and pitching strength to beat the Philadelphia Athletics in the coming American League race, Bob Shawkey and his New York Yankees broke camp here tonight and started the homeward journey which will land them at Yankee Stadium, New York, with the Brooklyn Robins, Saturday, April 10.

Every player, veteran and rookie, with the exception of Allen "Dusty" Cooke, is in good physical condition and quite sure that the Yankees will stage a "come back" this year and get into another world's series. Cooke's ailment is an infection in the muscle in the back of his left leg. It is nothing serious and the Southern speed boy may be able to perform against the Jacksonville Club tomorrow.

Is Satisfied With Club.

"I'm satisfied with my ball club," he declared. "What pleases me most, is the good condition of Waite Hoyt and Herb Pennock. Both should win a lot of ball games this season."

"I have not weakened on either Cooke or Chapman," added the new manager, "and they'll be in the opening day's line up in Philadelphia against the Athletics. They are only youngsters and have a thing or two to learn about big league baseball. Both are going to improve and I believe they will hit the pitching in the American League.

"I plan to start the same team against the Athletics as the one I used against the Braves and the Cardinals. If you glance over it you'll find plenty of hitting strength and adjusted so that we will not have all of our left handed hitters crowded together.

"I put Lazzeri ahead of Cooke in the batting order because Tony is a right handed batter while Ruth and Gehrig swing from the other side of the plate.

Says Ruth Is in Better Condition.

"And speaking about the Babe, I'd like to say that I'm sure he will be going at his best from the start until the end of the season. Physically he is in better condition than last season. He should give the fans as many thrills with his home-run hitting this season as he did last year or the year before.

"Furthermore, I think Gehrig will come out of his slump. Lou just had an off year last season like every good ball player will. Now that he has had his bad season, I expect him to have his best year since coming to the Yankees."

Whirlwinds Lead from Start

By a one-sided score, which came as a distinct shock to followers of the tournament, the Pratt Whirlwinds earned the right to meet the De Luxe Five for the title in the 145-pound class, by eliminating the Stewart Bros. Photographers, 41 to 27. Taking the lead on a foul shot in the first few minutes of play, the Whirlwinds were never headed. At half time the score was 22-7, the Photographers being held to a lone field goal in the first twenty minutes of play.

With a line-up of present and former Business High School stars, the Whirlwinds were led by Spencer Chase, center. Chase's superior height gave him the jump throughout the game. He was finally relieved in the last five minutes of play after he had turned in seven field goals and three foul tosses for 17 points, while holding his opponent to one double-decker.

The feature of the game was the individual battle between Bobby Lucas, cagey Whirlwind guard, and Dave Keppel, the diminutive Nat Holman of Washington amateur basketers, which kept the fans in an uproar throughout the game. Lucas held Keppel without a field goal until there were but six minutes left to play when Keppel contributed his only 2-pointer with a pot shotf rom the side of the floor. Doc Hessler took scor-

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 26 (A. P.).—The Yankees broke camp here today to start the long exhibition tour that winds up their spring training period, but not before the axe had fallen on one more of their young pitchers.

Ivy Paul Andrews, young right hander from Alabama, who pitched for the Mobile (Ala.) and Albany (N. Y.) teams last year, was sent to Oakland in the Pacific Coast League on option. His release brought the Yankee squad down to 31 members, of whom 15 are pitchers.

Gullic Holds Edge in Browns' Camp

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Browns were idle again today when the scheduled game between the Browns and Milwaukee of the American Association was called off because of wet grounds.

Ted Gullic, who played in the Western and Texas leagues last year, continues to hold the advantage over Bennett and Badgro for the right field position, the one disputed place in the Browns' line-up. Although Gullic is the least experienced of the candidates, Manager Killefer is convinced that he is the heaviest hitter.

Tigers Pound Vance To Beat Robins, 7 to 3

Tampa, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—Dazzy Vance failed to dazzle the Detroit Tigers here today and the American Leaguers defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 7 to 3.

The Tigers fell on Vance for four runs in the first two innings—a lead which the Dodgers were not able to overcome. Alexander and McManus aided the Tigers' cause with home runs.

Browns Sign to Train In Florida for 5 Years

Tom Heeney Returns To U. S.; Has No Plans

Boston, Mass., March 26 (A.P.).—Tom Heeney, the "hard rock" from New Zealand, whose pugilistic progress was halted by Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, arrived here today with his wife on the steamer Eastern Glen from Cape Town, Africa. He said he returned to the United States at the request of his manager, Charles Harvey, but did not know what plans the latter had for him.

Stribling Offered Four Fights on Europe Tour

Atlanta, Ga., March 26 (A.P.).—"Pa" Stribling, father and manager of W. L. (Young) Stribling, heavyweight fighter, announced today that four matches had been offered his son for a second European tour and he expects to accept all of them.

Phil Scott, the British heavyweight, is among the four prospective opponents, but the father-manager said definite arrangements for the Scott bout have not been completed.

He listed the following tentative schedule: Roberto Roberti in Paris about May 1; Pierre Charles in Brussels, Belgium, about May 15, and Scott in London about June 1. A fight with Don Shortland in London April 25 has been set definitely as the opening engagement on the trip.

Majors Plan to Throw Parks Open Free To "Kids" Who Have Time But No Money

Movement to Admit Youths Gratis on Week Days Grows.

NEW YORK, March 26 (A.P.).—Boys, who always have the time and inclination, but frequently lack the price of admission, will see major league baseball games in increasing numbers this season. For years half a dozen clubs have admitted small boys without tickets to the ball parks, but as a result of an effort initiated by the two Chicago clubs the practice may be made unanimous.

When Jimmy Walker cheered Babe Ruth on to bigger and better home runs as the Bambino's big league trail seemed near its end five years ago, the New York mayor appealed to the big slugger in the name of the "dirty-faced kids in the street" to whom Ruth was a hero. Since then Ruth has amply justified the faith of the "kids."

It was a small boy who appealed to Joe Jackson with the "Say it ain't so, Joe," which went round the world when the White Sox star admitted that everything was not all that it should have been in 1919.

Chicago Alderman Sponsoring Plan

Thomas H. Bowler, Chicago alderman, is leading the latest drive for free admission of boys to major league games. Mr. Bowler, who is commissioner of semipro baseball for Cook County, attended the last joint meeting of the major leagues to present the case of the boys, and the two Chicago clubs have announced four "boys' days" each week. With a possibility that the number may be increased.

The Chicago plan is to distribute a maximum of 4,000 free tickets through principals of schools. All semipro games will be witnessed by the boys without charge.

"Kids haven't any money and can not peep through knot holes any more as the fences now are concrete," said Bowler. "They are the supply of major league talent and because they don't see so many games they are losing interest. I used to peep through a knot hole myself and I was heartbroken when I couldn't see the games, and I almost forgot baseball."

New York Games Free to Youths

The New York clubs for years have shown a friendly feeling for boys and every playing date, except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays, when capacity crowds fill the seats, the gates of the Polo Grounds and Yankee Stadium are thrown open to juvenile fans, who have an abiding faith and interest in baseball, but no money. The average number of boys admitted free in the New York parks ranges from 3,000 to 4,000 daily, but as many as 10,000 have crowded in when "open season" was sounded.

Detroit has numerous boys' days during the season, when youngsters sponsored by public schools, the recreation commission, sandlot baseball organizations and fraternal and charitable organizations are admitted free, the Tigers have restricted the movement to properly sponsored groups as the club believes an every-boy-free policy would be impossible.

The St. Louis Cardinals have a "knothole club" organized six years, composed of boys under 16 years of age, who are admitted to Sportsman's Park without charge on all National League playing days except Saturdays, Sundays and holidays. The ranks of the knotholers will grow beyond the normal increase this year when girls will be admitted to membership.

The Boston clubs for five years have opened their gates to various boys' organizations of Boston and New England for several days each week. Club officials say that the plan has helped to promote baseball interest among the youth of the community and it will be continued.

The St. Louis Browns, not yet formally advised of the big drive for boys, will give the suggestion serious consideration when it is presented, as will the Cincinnati Reds, Washington Nationals and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Other major league clubs may adopt the Chicago plan or schemes of their own to make the game available for baseball hungry "kids" without money.

Cold at Chattanooga Forces Nats to Cancel

Special to The Washington Post.

Chattanooga, Tenn., March 26.—Because of the chilly breeze which blew over Engel Stadium this afternoon, the schedule exhibition game between the Nats and the Lookouts, was declared off. In order to give the players a workout, however, a makeshift 5-inning contest was played with players of both teams divided among the teams.

Pitcher Garland Braxton, who has been at home having some infected teeth attended to, rejoined the Nats here this morning and as soon as weather conditions are more favorable, will start seriously trying to get himself in pitching form for the coming season.

Time Extension Plea By Kaye Don Likely

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 26 (A.P.).—With beach conditions showing little improvement, Kaye Don, British contender for the world's automobile speed record, announced today that unless he was able to make his trials by Sunday he would request the American Automobile Association to extend his sanction.

The original sanction was made from March 15 to 30.

Meantime, a suggestion by a local promoter to stage barrel races on the beach Sunday, with drivers of several small cars participating, met with disapproval from officials of the American Automobile Association. When plans for the barrel races were announced, the officials said that if they were held they would withdraw Don's sanction. The barrel races then were called off. Drivers entered in the proposed barrel races are not members of the American Automobile Association.

3 Americans Lead In Oxford Golf Victory

Hoylake, England, March 26 (A.P.). Led by three youthful Americans, whose long hitting and accurate putting caused the galleryites to wonder why at least one of them was not on the Walker Cup Team, the Oxford golfers defeated Cambridge today for the first time since 1926.

Oxford, captained by Robert H. Haugh, jr., Rhodes scholar from Birmingham, Ala., won by a score of 12 matches to 3, taking 4 of yesterday's 5 foursomes and 8 of the 10 singles today.

Capt. Baugh took the measure of Eric Prain, Cambridge leader, by a margin of 4 and 3. Another hard driver from the United States, Charles Sweeney, of New York and London, overwhelmed W. C. Carr, of Cambridge, 6 and 5, while the third member of the Yankee trio, Harry Scheftel, of New York and Paris, emerged victorious over J. D. Kerr, of Cambridge, 1 up, after an uphill battle.

Male Attire Is Cause for Barring Woman Athlete, Paris Court Holds

PARIS, March 26 (A.P.).—The Paris Tribunal held today that the French feminine sporting federation has a perfect right to bar from membership women who habitually wear male attire.

The case was based on the federation's expulsion of Violette Morris, former champion weight thrower, racing car driver and all-around athlete, because she had definitely abandoned skirts for trousers.

The court also threw out Mlle. Morris' suit for reestablishment in the federation and for damages of 100,000 francs.

Attorneys for the federation stressed the fact that a century-old law prohibits women masqueradipg as men.

HORTON SMITH DEFENDS NORTH-SOUTH TITLE TODAY

Fred McLeod Among Army of Pros Seeking $1,500 Prize.

Tommy Armour Also Enters in 72-Hole Tournament.

PINEHURST, N. C., March 26 (A. P.).—With Horton Smith, of Cragston, N. Y., defending champion, determined to win his second crown, a record shattering entry of 115 players, 32 more than last year, will tee off in the twenty-eighth annual North and South open golf tournament here tomorrow.

Smith, who arrived here suffering sun burn acquired in the more southerly links regions, was undergoing medical attention today, but he assured his followers that blisters were not going to interfere with his repeating in the North and South.

With the prize money doubled from last year to amount to $5,600, $1,500 going to the winner, some heated competition is expected in the tournament, especially among the pros.

The junior army of professionals on hand far outnumbers the veteran brigade. Along with the youthful defending champion, Densmore Shute, the Columbus, Ohio, boy; Harry Cooper, of Buffalo; Ed. Dudley, of Wilmington, Del., and Billy Burke, of Westport, N. Y., threaten to make it hard for the veterans.

Dawson Chief Hope of Amateurs

Pitted against the youthfuls, however, will be Freddy McLeod, of Washington, who showed the way in the national open way back in 1908; Cyril Walker, of Par Amus, N. J., and Tommy Armour, of Detroit, who are expected to add lustic amateurs are picking Johnny Dawson, of Chicago, to show best against the pros. But Eugene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., Bobby Jones' rival for medal honors in last year's national amateur, also is picked to do some wonders.

The tournament is a 72-hole event. Thirty-six holes will be played tomorrow, with the finals coming off Friday.

Georgetown Nine Adds Mount St. Mary's Game

Georgetown has added one game and is negotiating to list another for its baseball schedule. A game here with Mount St. Mary's for April 29 has already been arranged and efforts are being made to bring West Virginia University here on April 23.

The Hilltop nine will meet Franklin and Marshall College, of Lancaster, Pa., tomorrow at Washington Barracks field in its fourth game of the season. In three previous contests, Coach Smith's charges have won twice and lost once.

Ed Leary, Packy White and Johnny Bozek, members of the squad who were declared ineligible prior to the opening of the season, may be restored to good standnig in time to play tomorrow.

Business High Five Had Successful Year

Although Business High School finished in the cellar of the Interhigh Basket Ball League, statistics compiled by Manager Sammy Cohen show that the Stenogs were not nearly as bad as their standing in the championship series would seem to indicate. Out of 26 games, the Business Five won 15, for an average of .576, or almost 100 points better than any Business team has done in the past few years.

Notable among its triumphs were victories over the Bridgewater and St. John's Junior varsities, which it defeated in its last two games of the season. The Stenogs also contrived to give local college freshmen fives a run for their money, holding the George Washington and Maryland Cubs to 3-point wins in each instance. Former Capt. Natie Newman led the team in scoring throughout the season with 102 points, while Captain-elect Bobby Lucas was but 4 points behind in his totals. The team scored 774 points, as against opponents' 655.

RACE COLONY AT BOWIE GROWS

Benning Contingent Arrives, Pimlico Stables Due.

PRESTON M. BURCH, who has been training the Dixiana Stud, Admiral T. Grayson's and Archibald Barclay's horses at Benning, moved in at Bowie yesterday for the eleven-day spring meeting of the Southern Maryland Agricultural Association, which opens Tuesday.

Max Smart, who also wintered at Benning, brought thirteen horses over today. Soon after Burch and Smart had put away their strings, J. W. Skinker vanned over a trio of horses from the historic old race course near Washington.

Yesterday's arrivals from Benning virtually completes the colony which wintered there and which have moved in here within the past week.

The Edward B. McLean, H. Teller Archibald and E. P. Summerfield horses, which have been going through their paces at Pimlico, are also due here today to await next Tuesday's opening.

Six Carloads Due From Florida.

Word was received that six carloads of horses are on their way from St. John's Park, Fla. Just what to do with them is causing Track Superintendent Pending no little worry, as he has allotted every one of the 1,000 available stalls here.

Pending had granted over 1,300 stalls, figuring on some lastminute cancellations to help out. However, it seems that next month's meeting here is the most popular in the country, and every horseman told to ship on is carrying out those instructions.

If it is necessary, the host organization will place some of the overflow at Marlboro, Laurel and Pimlico, and van them down here on the days their owners desire to race them.

Joe McLennan, race secretary here, wired from New Orleans that he leaves that city tonight bound for here. His son, Charles, who arrived several days ago, has opened his father's office and is accepting entries for the $5,000 Inaugural Handicap to be run Tuesday over the 7-furlong route.

Departmental Circuit Adds Commerce Nine

Department of Commerce was granted membership in the Departmental Baseball League last night at a meeting of league officers, thus giving the circuit a roster of six clubs. The other fives are Treasury, Bureau of Engraving, Government Printing Office, Department of Agriculture and D. C. Repair Shop, which has replaced Naval Hospital of the 1929 organization.

All officers of last year were reelected. They are: Vic Gauzza, president; Ed Conover, secretary-treasurer and official scorer, and James Green, umprei. The league's season will open on April 28 on the North Ellipse Diamond.

CITY CLUB AND J. C. C. ACES MEET IN RING SEMIFINAL

Miller Meets Winters in Feature

Semifinals Scheduled in Five Weight Divisions Tonight.

City Boxing Tourney Scenes Shifts to K. of C. Hall

SEMIFINALS in five weight classes of the District A. A. U. boxing tournament are scheduled tonight at Knights of Columbus Hall, starting at 8 o'clock. Pairings were made yesterday and the luck of the draw sent two City Club representatives, Douglas Swetman, bantamweight, and William Miller, welterweight, to the finals on byes.

Judging from performances in the preliminaries fought Tuesday night at the City Club, the probable feature of tonight's program will be the lightweight bout between Harry Winters, City Club, and "Jocko" Miller, Jewish Community Center. The latter won the South Atlantic A. A. U. lightweight title last spring.

Winters registered the biggest upset of the tournamen in the preliminary round when he eliminated Leo Covaleski, veteran Knights of Columbus and George Washington fighter. The City Club boy is a slugger of no mean ability and is matched with a clever opponent. Miller, however, can stand toe to toe in a battering duel if the occasion demands.

G. U. Trio Likely To Forfeit.

Mike Tardugno, featherweight, and Charley Fish, welterweight, both of Georgetown University, are technically still in the tournament in spite of their ban by Georgetown authorities who ruled that no Hilltop athlete could represent an other organization. They were entered as members of the Jewish Community Center Team, but no doubt will obey orders from the university and fail to appear in bouts scheduled, respectively, with John Ryon, City Club, and Eric Sonnichsen, K. of C.

Leroy Bordeau, also of Georgetown, is technically the only remaining entrant in the light heavyweight division. It is expected, however, that the tournament officials will not declare him champion out of respect for the university ruling, thus leaving the tournament without a 175-pound titleholder.

Allen, of J. C. C., Has Injured Hand.

In addition to the Winters-Miller bout, others due tonight are Leon Shub, J. C. C., vs. Angie Tardugno, J. C. C. (bantamweight); Harry Allen, J. C. C., vs. Nevin Barber, K. of C. (featherweight); Jack DeLacey, C. C., vs. Max Kosof, J. C. C. (lightweight); Gus Mirman, J. C. C., vs. Ernest Grissett, C. C., and John Peruzzi, C. C., vs. Henry Irving, C. C. (middleweight).

It was reported yesterday that Allen, who scored a technical knockout in his preliminary bout, is suffering a badly sprained right hand and that unless emergency treatment is successful, he may forfeit to Barber. This would place Barber against Ryon in the featherweight final.

Finals in all divisions will be contested Monday night at the Jewish Community Center.

118-POUND CLASS.

Leon Shub (J. C. C.) vs. Angie Tardugno (J. C. C.), drew bye.

126-POUND CLASS.

Mike Tardugno (unattached) vs. John Ryon (C. C.).

Harry Allen (J. C. C.) vs. Nevin Barber (K. of C.).

135-POUND CLASS.

Jack DeLacey (C. C.) vs. Max Kosof (J. C. C.).

147-POUND CLASS.

Charles Fish (unattached), vs. Eric Sonnichsen (K. of C.).

William Miller (C. C.), drew bye.

160-POUND CLASS.

Gus Mirman (J. C. C.) vs. Ernest Grissett (C. C.).

Church League Meets Tonight to Organize

E., Calvary Baptist (Drakes), West Washington Baptist, Grace Memorial, St. Alban's Episcopal and Vermont Avenue.

MISS ORCUTT HOLDS LEAD IN GOLF

SOUTHERN PINES, N. C., March 26 (A.P.).—Lounging comfortably around the clubhouse today, Miss Maureen Orcutt, of Haworth, N. J., saw her brilliant 154 for the first 36 holes of the women's Mid-South golf tournament here withstand the assaults of a half dozen entries, including the American champion, Miss Glenna Collett, and retain for her the leadership at the end of the second round play.

Miss Collett faced weather conditions today almost as bad as yesterday. A cold, driving windstorm swept the links as she made her round in 84, three strokes less than she took yesterday in the rainstorm which caused officials to permit a replay. The 84 with her 80 Monday placed her in fifth position with 164, ten strokes behind the leader.

Champion Has Only Six Par Holes

The American champion had only six par holes today. Her driving was erratic, her approaches short and she needed three putts on one green. Her round today practically eliminated her from championship consideration. Scores of leaders:

Miss Maureen Orcutt, Hawarth, N. J., 78—76—154.

Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, 82—78—160.

Miss Marian Bennett, New Britain, Conn., 881—80—161.

Mrs. John Arends, Chicago, 86—77—163.

Miss Louise Fordyce, Youngstown, Ohio, 85—81—166.

Miss Helen Hicks, Hewlett, Long Island, 86—84—170.

Prince Georges Card In Tourney Tonight

Prince Georges County bowlers will take the drives tonight in the current father and son tournament at the Mount Rainier alleys. The competition is open to bowlers of the District, Maryland and Virginia.

A tournament for brother and sister teams of the same territory will be conducted by the Mount Rainier establishment the week of April 7. Entries are being received by telephone at Hyattsville 1548.

Giants to Send Trio To Cumberland Club

Cumberland, Md., March 26.—The New York Giants are to send three players to the Cumberland team in the Middle Atlantic League for seasoning, according to President Nelson W. Russler of the local club. They are Robert Boehmel, second baseman; Frank Novesel, shortstop, and Jack Godfrey, outfielder, all of New York City. They are highly recommended by Arthur Devlin, scout of the New York club. Devlin in a letter to Russler says they are promising players and if they make good, the Giants will buy them at the end of the 1930 season.

Joe Conti, regular third sacker of the team for the past two seasons, has forwarded his signed contract and will report April 28. The signing of Conti marks the seventh holdover to come into the fold. The others are Johnny Byrnes, Dave Black, Pat Corrigan, 'Stub" Rase, John Smittle and George Durning.

The list of players under contract reached 38 with the signing of Miles Davidson, catcher, Madison, Ohio; Pat Mooney, pitcher, Parkersburg, W. Va., and Noah Dize, Chrisfield, Md.

Hampden-Sidney Nine Faces Drexel in Opener

Hampden-Sidney, Va., March 26 (A.P.).—Rounded into shape after daily workouts for about two weeks, the Hampton-Sidney Baseball Nine moves into action here tomorrow afternoon against the Drexel Institute Team.

The Tigers have scrapped for places at every practice session, but not until tomorrow afternoon will it be certain who will be on the line-up. Aspirants for third base have waged an especially close fight for the berth, and Adams, the most experienced third sacker on the squad, may have difficulty in holding back Toon. Smith and Root, who have been pushing hard for the position.

Last year the Dragons bowed to Hampden-Sidney on the local field, but came out ahead in the fracas at Philadelphia later in the season. The Tigers are seeking to repeat last year's win over the Pennsylvania squad.

W. J. Brown Rolls 185 To Set Season Record

W. J. Brown, bowling with the James Baird Co. in a roll-off against the Fuller Stone Co. for the championship of the Building Contractor's League, set a season record for league games in the District when he shot 185 in his first game.

Brown's record game included eight marks—three strikes and five spares. Although starting off with a six in his first box, Brown had a 34 in this third frame, and then registered three spares in succession followed by a triple-header strike and ending with a spare. His game follows:

G. U. ELECTS CAPITAL BOY CAPTAIN

Walter Morris Named Basket Ball Leader for 1930-1931.

THE honor of captaining a Georgetown University varsity athletic team yesterday was bestowed on a Washington youth for the first time in 14 years when Walter Morris, former St. John's College star, was elected to captain the 1930-1931 Hilltop Basket Ball Team.

Morris, who is 20 years of age and a junior in the arts and sciences department of the university, recently completed his second year on the varsity basket ball squad. During the past season he was one of the regular forwards and was considered the deadliest "shot" among the Hilltoppers. He played in 22 games and scored a total of 96 points in addition to taking a prominent role in the passing and general floor work.

Griffith Last Captain from D. C.

Dorsey Griffith, present track coach of Catholic University, was the last Capital native to captain a G. U team. He led the Hilltop trackmen in 1916.

Local baseball fans will remember Morris as the plucky little youngster who used to catch fly balls batted by Walter Johnson in pre-game practices of the Nationals several years ago. That training prepared Morris for his athletic career at St. John's College, where he performed on the varsity nine for three years. He played basket ball there for two years and graduated in 1927.

Morris now is the varsity third baseman on the Georgetown Baseball Team. He won that position last spring after a late start due to illness.

UTILITY STOCKS RISE IN LARGE TURNOVER

GOODYEAR RUBBER OFF

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—A roaring bull movement in the utility shares developed in today's stock market, reminiscent of that of the closing months of the so-called Coolidge-Hoover market.

Powerful speculators for the rise turned to the utility shares late in the session, after strenuous efforts in other sections of the list began to encounter considerable resistance. The tape reeled off dozens of transactions of 5,000 to 35,000 shares. These wholesale operations boosted the days sales across the 5,000,000 mark for the first time since December 20.

The day's bull movement was primarily a movement of selected stocks. Oils were for the most part allowed to lag, although Standard of New Jersey was sent up a couple of points further into new high ground. Rails were largely neglected, and activity in the industrial shares was discriminating. The price index of 50 industrials gained only about 1½ points, that of 20 rails showed little change.

20 Utilities Up 10 Points.

The Index of 20 utilities was carried up nearly 10 points to 261.2, the highest level since October 23, the date of one of the crashes preliminary to the complete collapse of the market in November. At that time, however, the index had been reduced approximately 90 points from the peak level reached in late September. Today's sharp rise carried it to the level of late last June.

The day's business news was definitely more cheerful, and feeling that with the first signs of the spring upturn appearing, the time was ripe for a demonstration that would attract wide attention, the bull party let loose its choicest fireworks.

The weekly freight car loadings figures were decidedly more cheerful than those of recent weeks. The total showed but a small gain over the previous week, and was still far below the like level of a year ago.

Loadings of miscellaneous freight, however, which is regarded as one of the best indices of the movement of merchandise, was approximately 19,000 cars above the previous week. This was largely offset in the total by a drop of some 15,000 cars in the movement of coal.

Steel Output Up Slightly.

The weekly steel trade review while rather conservative in tone, pointed to a slight increase in steel production this week as a cheering development, after the succession of declines since mid-February.

Such shares as American Power & Light, American Water Works, Columbia Gas, Consolidated Gas, Electric Power & Light, North American, Public Service of N. J., United Corporation and United Gas and Improvement rose 3 to 9 points to new high for the recovery. Western Union regained all but a fraction of yesterday's 12 point drop. General Electric was an active feature of the industrials, rising more than 2 points to a new 1930 high at 80¼, a block of 35,000 shares changing hands on the way up.

Commercial Solvents was also turned over in huge volume, rising about 2 points to a new peak. A. M. Byers rose about 5 points to a new high, but lost half its gain later. The American Tobacco shares, Corn Products, Raybestos Manhattan, Bullard Co., Checker Cab, and Westinghouse Electric sold up 3 to 7 points. U. S. Steel closed only about a point higher. A wide sprinkling of stocks closed lower, including Goodyear and United Carbon, off 2 and 3 points. Losses of a point or so were numerous.

Credit Conditions Unchanged.

Credit condition showed little change. Call money eased a little, renewing at 3½ per cent, and holding at that level through the day. Time money and bankers' acceptances were firm at the high rate inaugurated this week. It was regarded as a foregone conclusion that brokers' loans tomorrow would show a sharp gain. Wall street understands that Federal Reserve officials do not favor a further reduction in the rediscount rate.

Commodities were mostly steady. Wheat closed ¼ to ¾ of a cent higher, influenced by bullish weather and crop reports. Corn closed practically unchanged. Cotton futures were $1 higher to 30 cents a bale lower.

Foreign exchanges were irregular. Both sterling and francs reacted a little from their recent high levels, sterling cables ruling at $4.86¾, off ¼. The Canadian dollar, which went to a slight premium on Monday, was at a discount of 1-16 of a cent.

BOND PRICES FIRM WHILE SALES DROP

NEW ISSUES ABSORBED

New York, March 26 (A.P.).—Turnover in bonds listed on the New York Stock Exchange was the smallest in about three weeks today.

Prices held firm. Considerable interest was shown in new issues, but most of this buying appeared to be with new funds and consequently seasoned obligations suffered only slightly, if at all, from switching operations.

The strongest group was the foreign section, where several new highs were recorded, among them Belgium 7s and German Republic 7s. The last named bond was very active, rising to 109⅞ against its previous high of 109. The close of 109¾ represented a net gain of ⅝.

Money at 3½ Per Cent.

Money was steady. Call loans remained at the renewal figure of 3½ on the first anniversary of the 20 per cent rate, while time loans were virtually unchanged. The increase in bankers acceptances, which became effective today, was regarded as a logical adjustment from the hasty reductions of a week ago. Wall Street expects no change in the New York Federal Reserve Bank's rediscount rate at tomorrow's meeting of the board.

Convertibles traded quietly until the last half hour when the bullish enthusiasm for stocks carried a few of the bonds higher. American Telephone 4½s were conspicuous in this advance, soaring 2¾ points to the new 1930 peak of 169½ for a net gain of 2¾. Commercial Investment Trust 5½s rose nearly 2 points. Texas Corporation 5s advanced fractionally.

Baltimore & Ohio Loses.

The market for the rails was rather thin. Union Pacific 4½s, Virginian 5s, Pennsylvania 4s and Rock Island 4½s each improved a point on small buying, while Baltimore & Ohio 5s, Missouri Pacific "A" 5s and Missouri Kansas, Texas prior lien 5s lost the same amount. Numerous inactive carriers appeared on the tape, among them Erie & Jersey 6s, which rose a point. Nickel Plate 4½s sagged to 97½, which is the offering price on the $12,000,000 additional issue sold today.

A few of the utilities were active. American Telephone 5s of 1965, International Telephone 5s and North American Edison 5s, all new comers, turned over freely at small advances. Utilities Power Light 5½s rallied one point.

The averages showed that the best move of the day had been in the industrials, although inquiry for these bonds was not particularly aggressive. Chile Copper 5s, Indiana Limestone 6s, Liggett & Myers 5s, United States Rubber 5s and most of the oils figured in the rally. United States Government securities sagged, Treasury 4¼s losing 11-32. Turnovers, however, were small.

G.A. GARRETT NAMED TICKER CLUB'S HEAD

15 OF CITY'S FIRMS JOIN

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

The Ticker Club of Washington, mutual cooperative and protective association of local financial houses having membership in the New York Stock Exchange, was organized yesterday at the Metropolitan Club, representatives of fifteen of the seventeen local houses with New York Stock Exchange affiliations being represented in the club membership. The remaining two houses will join the club, it was explained, as soon as they obtain permission from their home offices.

Officers were unanimously elected as follows: George A. Garrett, resident partner of F. B. Keech & Co., president; A. Chester Flather, comanager of G. M.-P. Murphy & Co., vice president; Arthur Foraker, local manager, Eastman, Dillon & Co., secretary-treasurer. The foregoing with Chester Lockwood, of Harriman & Co., and Frank J. F. Thiel, Washington partner of M. J. Meehan & Co., will serve as a board of governors and will call the first regular meeting in the near future. W. W. Spaid, partner in W. B. Hibbs & Co., was chairman of the meeting of organization and Mr. Foraker secretary.

At the bimonthly meeting of directors of the Anacostia Bank yesterday they declared the usual 5 per cent quarterly dividend payable to stockholders of record March 31.

Telephone Revenues $696,073.

Telephone operating revenues for the month of February were $696,073, with operating expenses of $530,934, the report of operations of the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to the Public Utilities Commission of the District of Columbia shows. Net revenues after deducting taxes and uncollectible were $119,121.

For the two months ending February 28, the company's operating revenues amounted to $1,415,051. Operating expenses during this period were $1,058,170, making net revenues after deducting taxes and uncollectible, $259,877.

Gross additions to plant and equipment in the District of Columbia during February were $664,193. Retirements during the month were $266,226, making net additions $397,967. Net addition to plant for the twelve months ended February 28 were $3,852,746.

A net gain of 308 telephones was made during February, making 160,013 in service at the end of the month. Washington telephone users made 16,597,300 local and 460,232 out-of-town calls in February.

A. & P. Store Sales Up.

The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. has noted no slowing up in its business as a result of the current business recession. On the contrary, sales have shown a marked upward trend since the stock market break of last fall. Its figures are especially significant in that Great Atlantic & Pacific, with its 15,000-and-odd grocery and meat stores, covers practically the entire country and its business, thereore, is not unduly influenced by local conditions in any one section.

The sharp advance in sales since the beginning of last October reflected the growing business of established stores rather than an increase in units, as the change in the number of locations in operation as compared with the similar period of last year was less than 1 per cent.

Sales during the five-week period included in January of the current year reached the new high of $104,270,933 as compared with $91,982,770 in the similar period of last year, a gain of $12,288,163, or 13.36 per cent. The gain in December, 1929, was $12,348,847, or 16.48 per cent; in November, $9,870,182, or 13.36 per cent, and in October, $12,565,683, or 13.44 per cent.

ARLINGTON WOMEN VOTERS IN SESSION

BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

It was revealed at the meeting of the Organized Women Voters of Arlington County, held last night at the Lyon Park community house, that the passage of the Capper-Crampton bill, now in the Senate, that Gov. John Garland Pollard has said that he probably would call a special session of the General Assembly with the view of giving Virginia's support to the provisions of the bill.

The business meeting was preceded by a dinner served by the Woman's Club of Lyon Park and the organization entertained as their honor guest Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross, former governor of Wyoming.

Addressing the meeting Mrs. Ross congratulated the organization on the service this and like organizations were giving the women of this country.

"Woman suffrage is still young, only ten years old, and while it has not accomplished as much as might have been accomplished during that time I am confident that in the next ten years far greater accomplishments will be most noticeable," said Mrs. Ross.

"There is in this country today a large army of women actively at work and taking advantage of those rights given by the ballot, but there is still a great army of women for which such organizations as yours have a service to perform in bringing to them their responsibilities," she said.

A complete report of the two recent hearings on the Capper-Cramton bill was presented by Mrs. J. N. Roberts, who went into detail in explaining the many provisions in the bill and stated that there will be still further hearings for the purpose of hearing from those groups who are opposed to its passage in its present form.

The organization went on record as approving the proposed erection in Arlington County of a Federal post-office building.

Voicing its opposition to the changes which have been made by the county board of supervisors in the draft of the zoning ordinance, yet to be finally adopted, the president announced that a delegation from the organization would appear before the next meeting of the board and further express its opposition to the changes.

The resolution from the Arlington County Civic Federation, endorsing the report of the United States Bureau of Education with recommendations for enlargement of a number of the county public school buildings and carrying with it a proposed bond issue of $580,000 was adopted by the organization.

Action of awarding the contract for the extension of the Spout Run sewer trunk line a distance of 800 feet was deferred until a later date by the Arlington County School Board at its meeting held at the courthouse yesterday.

County Superintendent Fletcher Kemp stated that having been in Richmond attending the annual conference of county school superintendents for the past two days he had not had the opportunity to review the bids opened a few nights ago. He stated that the board will hold a special meeting within the next few days' at which time the contract will be awarded.

The extension will be from the Washington Lee High School sewer line and will relieve a condition existing in the vicinity of Pierce station in the Spout Rum Valley for many months.

The Ballston Citizens Association, meeting last night in the firemen's hall, appointed a special committee, composed of Thomas J. Crack, chairman; Grover E. Payne and Emmett C. Scott, to further study the question of the proposal to establish in Arlington County a central Federal post-office building as has been suggested by Representative R. Walton Moore.

The association went on record as favoring the proposed $580,000 bond issue for the enlargement of the county schools as outlined in the recent report filed with the county school board by the United States Bureau of Education.

The secretary was instructed to write Sheriff Howard B. Fields protesting against the parking of automobiles where "no parking" signs are located in front of the Ballston postoffice and ask that the law governing parking be enforced.

The association joins with all other civic bodies in indorsing the movement to invite Admiral Richard Evelyn Byrd to land first on Virginia soil on his return to the United States from the Antarctic.

The president appointed a special committee, consisting of Emmett C. Scott, chairman; Thomas J. Crack and Mrs. Herbert Wiley Smith, to obtain prices on adequate street markers and make its recommendations at the April meeting as to those streets to be included in the first group to be marked.

Meeting at Clarendon Tuesday night, the Boy Scouts leaders of the county perfected its organization to carry on the activities of the movement with the election of L. P. Ports, of Clarendon, as its chairman. Other officers elected were: Maj. S. G. Green, of Cherrydale, vice chairman, and William A. Van Doren, of Vanderwerken, Arlington County, as secretary.

The group voted to meet the third Monday in each month to discuss scouting in the county and to plan to take part in a special scouting training course which will be conducted by William L. Leitch, assistant scout executive.

The third annual inspection of the Arlington County Boy Scouts was held last night in the Cherrydale School auditorium. There was a total of 91 scouts and 16 officials attending.

Troop No. 125, Cherrydale Baptist Church, with H. Krider as scoutmaster, carried off the first honors, with Troop 149, of the Cherrydale Methodist Church, a close second, with F. S. Van Doren as scoutmaster, and Troop No. 104, of the Clarendon Methodist Church, was third, P. L. Ports as scoutmaster.

Other troops taking part were: Ballston Troop No. 101, Frank Sherwood, scoutmaster; Troop No. 106 Vanderwerken Congregational Church N. C. Bynes, scoutmaster, and Troop No. 151, of Arlington, with W. I. Cavanaugh, scoutmaster.

The judges were: William L. Leitch assistant scout executive; William A Van Doren, jr., field executive, and A E. Falconer and David Lockling, assistant deputy commissioners.

Electing Arthur Orr, of Lyon Park, chairman, the group of citizens representing fourteen Parent-Teacher Associations of Arlington County, meeting last night at Clarendon, perfected its organization to study the needs of the public schools. H. G. Luther was elected secretary-treasurer.

Explaining the full purposes of the meeting, Chairman Orr stated the need for more rooms in county schools is a recognized fact, and it is the plan of this organization to make a full study of those needs and to formulate plans to cooperate with the county school board in bringing before the voters the proposed bond issue of $580,000.

It was decided to choose an executive committee to be composed of the officers and one representative from each of the three districts.

Chairman Orr announced the appointment of the executive committee to consist of the Rev. J. W. Townsend, from Jefferson District; W. B. Gilmore, from Arlington District, and Harold W. Brown, from Washington District, with the chairman, Arthur Orr, and the secretary-treasurer, H. G. Luther.

General's Highway May Be Improved

Special to The Washington Post.

Annapolis, Md., March 26.—That the Ann Arundel County Commissioners will withdraw their original recommendations for the construction of a new highway leading to Herald Harbor on the Severn River in preference to improving the road known as General's highway was indicated today upon receipt of a letter from the State roads commission setting forth that General's highway would best serve all interests concerned.

General's highway takes its name from the fact that it was traversed by General Washington on his visits to Annapolis.

The Herald Harbor road, used by many Washingtonians who own summer homes at the river resort, is known as the "River Route." The county commissioners took the stand that the latter road should receive additional improvements because of property developments at Herald Harbor in recent years. This brought a storm of protests from year-round residents on the General's highway. Delegations were given hearings both by the county commissioners and the State roads commission.

Potomac River Dragged By Searchers for Pair

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., March 26.—Maryland and West Virginia authorities have been dredging the Potomac River in the Great Cacapon, W. Va., section all this week in the hope of locating the bodies of William Mort, 25 years old, and Clarence Unger, 26, but have met with no success.

A boat in which the pair were last seen Saturday evening last was recovered near Dam No. 6 Sunday morning. Several charges of dynamite have been used in attempts to locate the bodies. Unger is a resident of Berkeley Springs, this State, while his companion lived opposite Great Cacapon on the Maryland side of the Potomac.

Revenue Man Locked In Office by Mistake

F. P. Nelson, of the Internal Revenue Office, Alexandria, Va., was inadvertently locked in the Arlington ounty clerk's office for about an hour late yesterday afternoon. It was only by accident that he was released before this morning.

Seen by chance behind the barred windows by J. F. Hallock, the prisoner revealed his plight. As the deputy sheriff, Harry Woodyard, at the courthouse had no key to the office, two deputy clerks, Miss Lenora Heisman and Mrs. Edith Corder, were compelled to return to the office and unlock the iron doors.

Nelson had been doing special work in the clerk's office when the doors were closed at 4:30 o'clock.

MAY WILL UPHOLD TRACTION RATE RISE

Owner of Alexandria Electric and Bus Lines Will Speak Tonight.

PUPIL ORATORS CHOSEN

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
312 S. Washington St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Robert L. May, owner of the Alexandria, Barcroft & Washington Bus Line and the new owner of the Mount Vernon, Alexandria & Washington Electric Railway, will speak tonight at a mass meeting of citizens in the auditorium of the Elks Home on the controversy which has been precipitated by his announcement that he will petition the State Corporation Commission for an increase in passenger fare rates between Alexandria and Washington and intermediate points.

Mr. May appeared yesterday at a meeting held in the chamber of commerce for the purpose of discussing the rate situation. He told the committee that he has an investment of $382,000 in his bus line and $260,000 in the electric line; that while the bus line has been profitable, an audit of the railroad company's books indicates that in the last 29 months the company has lost $4,895.

The result of the meeting yesterday was that a committee composed of Frank W. Noxon, Benedict Weil, John Barton Phillips, Harry Kennedy and L. H. Dudley was appointed to meet with the auditors of the railway and bus line, go over the figures, and determine what, in the opinion of the committee, would be an equitable basis of rates, reporting back to the general committee at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon.

Mr. May stated yesterday that he is willing to operate the bus and railway lines on a four-month trial at rates of fare of 5 cents from Alexandria proper to Washington avenue, 10 cents to the south end of the Highway Bridge, and 15 cents to Washington, and to offer eight tokens for $1. His proposition is to do away with the use of tickets entirely, thereby saving the salaries of ticket agents, sorters and others.

Gardner L. Boothe, at the meeting yesterday, stated that Mr. May has done a great deal for the transportation of Alexandria and has, as a matter of fact, saved the railway to the city. He, Mr. Boothe, was instructed sometime ago to dispose of the railroad for the bondholders in some manner, either to some transportation company which would operate it, or to junk it. He approached Mr. May on the subject, but the latter could not see that it would be a profitable investment. Mr. May, however, later decided that if the railway was junked and he was required to take care of the entire transportation situation, it would require an additional investment of a large amount for new buses, which would be used only at the peak of traffic in the morning and afternoon, and lie idle the remainder of the day, and that he could, with slightly increased fares, operate the railroad and bus line at a reasonable profit on his investment.

The announcement of Mr. May, published last week, was that he would apply to the State corporation commission for an increase in passenger rates which would, in effect, be a minimum fare of 10 cents, instead of 5 cents as at present, and 15 cents from Alexandria to Washington, instead of 25 cents round trip on the railroad, as at present. The purpose of the mass meeting called for tonight is to decide upon a course of action to combat the increased fares, possibly to the extent of sending a representative to the hearing on April 8 before the State corporation commission.

Robert Woolf and James Garvey were selected to represent the Alexandria High School in the all-city oratorical contest, to be held in the auditorium of the George Mason High School April 1, to select a city representative in the international oratorical contest.

The speakers in the contest, which was held Tuesday night in the high school auditorium, were Harold Siegel, whose subject was "Liberty and the Constitution;" Miss Dorothy Bowman, who spoke on "The Immigrant and the Constitution;" Robert Woolf on "The Effect of the Civil War Upon the Constitution," and James Garvey, on "The Significance of the Constitution."

The judges were Mrs. Rathbone Smith, Judge William F. Woolls and Judge William S. Snow. Superintendent of Schools R. C. Bowton presided.

Clyde C. Lamond will have charge of the program at the luncheon today of the Kiwanis Club, and will present "living examples of the work being done by the baby clinic." The Rev. Percy Foster Hall, it is announced, will have a soloist on hand, and there will be a feature by Bob Carter, club president.

Next Thursday will be Army Day with the Kiwanis, and Charles W. King will have charge of the program.

A majority of the attorneys of Alexandria have indorsed Judge D. Lawrence Groner, of the United States Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, for the vacancy on the bench of the United States Court of Appeals made by the elevation of Judge Parker to the Supreme Court of the United States.

A chimney fire at 212 LaVerne avenue, Potomac, yesterday morning, caused an alarm which was answered by Engine Company No. 2, which extinguished the fire with chemicals. No damage resulted.

Another chimney fire at 20 South Royal street in the afternoon brought out No. 1 Company. This was also extinguished without damage.

Mrs. Mollie V. Shuman, wife of the late Louis E. Shuman, died Tuesday at her home, 403 Russell road, following a short illness due to a stroke of paralysis with which she was stricken a few days ago. She is survived by a son, Marshall M. Shuman, and two daughters, Miss Margaret V. Shuman and Miss Frances J. Shuman.

Funeral services will be conducted at St. Mary's Catholic Church at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning by the Rev. Father Cannon. Interment will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

Mrs. Ruth Thelma Bennett, 28 years old, wife of A. J. Bennett, died Tuesday night at her home, 314 North Royal street. Besides her husband she is survived by a sister, Mrs. Blanche Alexander, of California; a brother, Robert Merchant, of Alexandria, and a half-sister, Miss Junita Merchant, also of Alexandria.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 o'clock this afternoon from Wheatley's Mortuary Chapel, by the Rev. Pierce S. Ellis, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Burial will be in Bethel Cemetery.

Daily O'Currences

By JOHN DALY

"OH, dear," sighed Luella, "if some one would only die and leave me a fortune!"

She leaned back on the divan, dreaming.

"Die? Leave you a fortune? Who, do you think, would do that?"

"Oh, I don't know," she said, "but I wish somebody would——"

"Luella! You wish somebody would die, just to leave you a forune?"

"Well, not exactly that—but I do wish somebody who is going to die anyway would leave me a fortune."

Luella and her wishes. Nobody she knows has a fortune. Everybody we know enjoys what the English call rude health. Even if they had money they wouldn't leave it to Luella.

"So, Luella, you're out-a-luck!"

"Well," she said, resignedly, "I suppose I can worry along on what you've got—but I do wish somebody would leave me a fortune."

* * * *

THE thought began to worry me.

"What would you do if you had a fortune?" I asked.

Luella pondered. "If I had a fortune," she stammered. "I'd, I'd——"

"You mean to tell me you don't know what to do if you had a fortune?"

Luella hesitated. "Goodness, gracious," she said, "it's all so new to me."

"There's something to that,' I told her. "You've got to work up with a fortune, not wake up with it. Cut out the dreaming now, and tell me what you'd do if you had, say, a million or two dollars thrown in your lap——".

"A million or two dollars," she repeated, "why the two?"

"Oh, make it fifty-million! What's the difference? What would you do if all this money suddenly showered down on you?"

* * * *

"LET'S see," said Luella. "First of all, I think I'd buy you a new suit of clothes——"

"Fifty million dollars and you'd buy me a suit of clothes. What'd you do if you have a hundred million, buy me a hat?"

"If you're going to get peeved," snapped Luella, "I won't even buy you the suit.—"

"All right, don't! What do I care?"

"It's like everything else," said Luella, "Just when I'm having a good time, hoping somebody'd die and leave me a fortune, you come in here and disturb me, make me think ——"

"Thinking, then, is your greatest effort?"

"I think so!"

"In that case, what you ought to do is hire somebody to do your thinking for you, a ghost thinker!"

* * * *

"I WOULD, if I had a fortune."

"All right. Now you've told me what you'd do if you had money. "You'd hire somebody to think for you——"

* * * *

"And now I'll tell you what I'm gon-a do since I haven't got money," she informed me.

"What?"

"Borrow some from you!"

"Borrow it?"

"Certainly," she said, taking my last two dollars.

"Oh, dear," I sighed, "I wish somebody would die and leave me a fortune, too."

It strikes me she's an optimist. What we need is a pension.

L. F. SMITH NAMED TO FISHBURNE POST

INDORSED BY BAR GROUP

Special to The Washington Post.

Charlottesville, Va., March 26.—Appointment of Lemuel F. Smith, Commonwealth's attorney for Albemarle County, to succeed John W. Fishburne, as judge of the Eighth Judicial Circuit, was announced last night by Gov. Pollard.

Judge Fishburne resigned from the bench when he announced his candidacy for Congress in the Seventh Congressional District some weeks ago.

Mr. Smith, who retires as senior member of the law firm of Smith & Walker in order to assume his judicial duties, was born at Shadwell, this county, April 21, 1890, the son of Downing and Willie (Marshall) Smith, both natives of Albemarle.

He was educated in public schools and graduated with the A. B. degree from Randolph-Macon College in 1910 and from University of Virginia, in 1916. He served as a member of the Charlottesville City Council and for four terms represented Albemarle and Greene Counties in the House of Delegates In 1926 he was appointed Commonwealth's attorney of Albemarle, succeeding the late R. T. W. Duke, and in the following year was elected for the regular term of four years.

Mr. Smith married, in 1916, Miss Grace Stulting, who was born in Pocahontas County, W. Va. They have three children.

Mr. Smith is a member of the Methodist Church, a Royal Arch Mason, member of the Kappa Sigma law fraternity and the honorary University of Virginia Club—the Raven Society.

One of the first duties of Mr. Smith as judge of the circuit will be the appointment of a Commonwealth's attorney to succeed himself in the county office. Already speculation as to the filling of this office is creating considerable interest. Two men are mentioned thus far as avowed candidates for the office—George E. Walker and William O. Fife, of the local bar.

COMBINED SCHOOLS URGED BY EDUCATOR

Maryland Conference Hears Plan to Consolidate Teaching Power.

STATE HEAD IS SPEAKER

Special to The Washington Post.

Chestertown, Md., March 26.—Small and poorly equipped high schools in outlying towns of the upper tier of Eastern Shore Counties must be eliminated and the secondary school population absorbed by the strong and centrally located schools in the county seats, Dr. Albert S. Cook, State superintendent of education, told the semi-annual meeting of country superintendents and high school principals at the opening of the session in Chestertown High School this morning.

Small high schools of Maryland, the State head asserted, constitute the major problem confronting educators today not only because of objections being raised by the rural population to their elimination but because it is economically impossible to maintain them on a level with proper high school standards.

Therefore, Dr. Cook declared, he is not recommending the creation of any more high schools but the fullest use of existing large and well equipped institutions.

Among other speakers were: E. Clarke Fontaine, State supervisor of high schools for the Eastern Shore; President Paul E. Titsworth, of Washington College; Dr. Fred G. Livingood, professor of education in the college, and County Superintendent H. T. Ruhl, Cecil; L. C. Robinson, Kent; T. G. Bennett, Queen Anne; E. W. Pruitt, Talbot, and E. M. Noble, Caroline.

Of the 30 principals in attendance the following led discussions: Miss Lelia N. Ware, Galena; M. Bivens, Northeast; J. F. Stevens, Stevensville; B. C. Willis, Denton; A. C. Norstedt, Easton, and M. W. Zimmerman, Rising Sun.

Danville 'Soldiers' Win Drill Contest

Military Institute Defeats Hargrave Academy in Final Meeting.

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., March 26.—Pacing a "doggy" step and carrying rifles in serried ranks almost perfect in alignment, Danville Military Institute's drill team today downed Hargrave Military Academy for the second and final military meet of the season. In a brisk cool wind, the competitive platoons had well nigh perfect conditions and field for the performance.

Dress uniforms on both platoons and officers' scarlet sashes added to the color of the scene which was brightened even more by numbers of girls from Randolph-Macon Institute and Averett College, who were present as guests of the occasion.

As shown by the judges' score, D. M. I. was winner by a 96.7 to 90 score, but Hargrave's platoon had to be reckoned with at all turns. Robert Kreiter, Washington boy, carried a rifle for the Danville team and had a prominent part in the meet.

SALARY SUIT FILED IN COUNTY WRANGLE

JURY HEARS WITNESSES

Almost at the same time that Dr. Benjamin C. Perry, president of the Montgomery County Commissioners, was explaining to the Montgomery County grand jury that he in effect is devoting his full time to the administration of county affairs, a suit was filed in circuit court seeking to compel him to pay back salary drawn by him and to restrain the county treasurer from making further payments of his salary.

The suit was filed by William Van Ness, of Chevy Chase, Md., through Attorneys Edward Peter, John E. Oxley and Miss Vivian Simpson, all of whom are prominent in the anti-organization faction of the county, which, through its newspaper, has charged the county commissioners and other county officials with malfeasance and misfeasance in office and resulted in an investigation of county affairs by the grand jury.

The petition declares that Dr. Perry is entitled to a salary of $2,400 a year under the provisions of the act creating the suburban district of the county passed by the 1927 State Legislature, and $600 addition if he devotes full time to the duties of a county commissioner. Mr. Van Ness alleges that the doctor has been drawing the additional compensation but has not been devoting his full time to his duties as a commissioner.

Injuncion Also Sough.

The suit seeks to have the commissioner ordered to repay the money he has received from the additional remuneration and asks the court to determine Dr. Perry's alleged indebtedness to the county and to return a judgment in favor of the county treasurer. It also seeks to enjoin J. Forest Walker, county treasurer, from making any more payments of salary to Dr. Perry until the court has acted upon the suit.

Dr. Perry was one of seven witnesses called before the grand jury yesterday. One of the questions asked him was pertaining to his continuing of his duties as a physician as well as county commissioner. The doctor told the grand jury that he is in his office at 10 o'clock every morning and at any hour in the day by appointment and that he holds open office at night from 8 o'clock, when the majority of the persons living in the District are free to confer with him. Most of his constituents are employed in the city and are unable to appear during regular office hours, he said.

Dr. Perry also explained that he had always accepted fees for the examination of insane persons and that he was entitled to his fee because of his professional status, his position as county commissioner not requiring that he give his professional services gratis.

Use of Fund Explained.

Dr. Perry explained that charges that $30,000 had been expended on the extension of Leland street were not true, as the money also had been used to widen Wisconsin avenue.

County Commissioner Lacy Shaw, vice president of the board, also appeared before the grand jury yesterday.

Armed with a load of statistics and maps, he remained in the inquisitorial chamber for approximately 40 minutes. Commissioner Shaw told the grand jury that charges that special privileged persons in Silver Spring were ridiculously low were not true, inasmuch as the whole story had not been divulged. He cited the J. H. Cissel house, which was assessed at $1,000. Charges had been made that the property had been sold for $90,000, he said, with an assessment of $1,000. It is true that the house was assessed at that figure, he asserted, but the charges did not state that the land on which the house stands has been assessed at $23,000 and the classification changed from residential to commercial, and in this classification the assessment is made on the land.

Other Assessments Cited.

The Cissel house and property are assessed on the same basis as other properties on the same block. Two other properties have houses which are assessed at $1,500, the additional sum being added because they can be moved and do not have to be torn down, as the Cissel house will be, he said.

Commissioner Shaw then launched into the subject of county policemen expending more than the $300 allowed by the police act for expenses. The policemen mentioned in charges printed by the Independent, he said, had an expense account of $2,196.62 in a period of three years, and at the same time fines and funds accrued from the sale of liquor autos captured by him amounted to $7,180. The policeman is detailed to liquor patrol and can not operate on a motorcycle.

The commissioner then informed the grand jurors that the $50,000 transferred to the Maryland State Roads Commission by the county commissioners did not come from the courthouse building fund, but das realized from the sale of a portion of the $200,000 emergency fund created for just such emergencies. It was necessary that the continuation of Sixteenth street from the District line to the Colesville pike, and so to Baltimore, be started at once so that the Disrict Commissioners would extend Sixteenth street from Kalmia road to the Maryland line.

Definite Data Needed, Claim.

The roads commission would not begin negotiations with the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad in regard to the construction of an underpass necessary to the road unless the sum was deposited to its credit, he said, and it was necessary to furnish the District authorities with definite information before they would agree to complete their end of the work.

He showed on a map that the subway serves for both the Sixteenth tareet extension and the Bethesda-Silver Spring highway and that the Bethesda-Silver Spring highway is located on what was considered the mots logical site.

By the may the commissioner pointed out that all of the major roads of the Bethesda and Silver Spring areas connect with the highway as it is now situation and that the route which had been suggested by the Independent would necessitate a trip of 1 mile north from Bethesda and anotehr mile south to Silver Spring, and that it would traverse a much less developed area. The logical development of high-class homes is in the area traversed by the route which was chosen by the county commissioners, he said.

Nearly All of Route Dedicated.

The entire route of the highway was dedicated except the property of the Ray and Dunlap heirs, who had minor heirs and required condemnation proceedings. He pointed out on the map that the road at no point touches on the properties of Maj. E. Brooks Lee, county leader, also under fire by the Independent.

Othr witnesses produced evidence to show that old age pensions which it was charged had ben paid after the death of the pensioner had not been paid. One was returned by the trustee and the other was not even sent out but was paid to two other families deserving pensions, the grand jury was told.

Robert G. Hilton, president of the Farmers Banking & Trust Co., which property was sold to the county for use in connection with the construction of the new courthouse, also was questioned. It is believed that he was questioned as to the mthods of making the sale and the purchase of the jail site, which was abandoned when it was decided to place the jail on top of the courthouse.

Others before the inquistorial body were Berry E. Clark, clerk to the county commissioners; John Culver, clerk of the county police court; former County Commissioner O. W. Robey and Chief of Police Alvie A. Moxley. Chief Moxley is believed to have been questioned on the subject of police expenditures.

(Associated Press.)

Representative Howard (Democrat), Nebraska, has declined an invitation to attend the founders day exercises of the Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation with the assertion that one of the principal speakers "would not recognize a Jeffersonian principle if he should meet it in the middle of the road."

The exercises will be held at the University of Virginia April 13.

The Nebraskan wrote:

"In view of the fact that your organization has listed as its chief speaker a United States senator who would not recognize a Jeffersonian principle if he should meet it in the road, I feel that I would be playing the part of one loyal to Jeffersonian principles by lending my presence ot such an occasion."

Two senators, Fess (Republican), Ohio, and Dill (Democrat), Washington, are scheduled to speak on the founders day program.

Virginia Peaches Are Hit by Freeze

Special to The Washington Post.

Harrisonburg, Va., March 26.—Freezing weather over the past four nights, together with the damage done last winter when the thermometer dropped to 15 degrees below zero, will reduce this year's peach crop in the Timberville fruit belt of Rockingham County from 300 to 100 carloads, it was estimated today by George H. Crist, the veteran orchardist of Timberville.

"If the present freezing weather continues, I am afraid further damage will be done tonight," he said. "Apples so far have not been hurt, and the prospects are bright for a good crop."

Timberville, under normal conditions, puts on the market approximately 300 carloads of peaches, which under normal price conditions bring from between $700 and $800 a car. The loss of 200 carloads from freezing means a loss of between $140,000 and $150,000 this year to the orchardists.

Warm weather during February and part of March advanced the peach buds on the high ground, and these have been badly damaged by the freeze. The thermometer dropped to 26 degrees last night, with prospects of a lower drop tonight.
